Rioting Poles Defy Armed Gov't Forces

RUSS FLATLY REJECT WEST ARMS PROPOSALS

LONDON (UP)—The Soviet delegate flatly rejected a Western offer for manpower cuts linked to settlement of East-West issues and ignored the West's new plan for open skies inspection at today's five-power disarmament conference meeting.

The unexpected stand by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin was the first major Russian policy statement since Secretary of State John Foster Dulles appealed two weeks ago for a break-through in the current stalemate of the arms parley.

COUNTER-SPY

Former movie producer Boris Morros has been subpoenaed by the Senate internal security subcommittee to identify the "prominent American woman" he says exposed him to the Russians as U.S. undercover agent. (See story page 21.)

Red Rulers Braced For Open Revolt

LODZ, Poland (UP)—The government rushed police reinforcements today from Warsaw to Lodz, Poland's second largest city, where a sitdown streetcar strike threatened to touch off a new wave of "bread and freedom" riots.

After dangerous clashes Monday, striking street car workers had barricaded themselves in the city's two biggest trolley terminals. They vowed they would not come out until their wage demands are met.

The situation was tense and ugly.

Militiamen (police) armed with pistols and clubs surrounded the two depots, and police radio cars swarmed in the streets. The licence plates of the prowl cars showed that many of them had moved in from the capital.

Street car traffic halted completely. Army trucks shuttled along the main trolley routes providing substitute transportation for stranded wayfarers.

The truck drivers were the only troops in evidence in the city early today.

Army Chiefs Assigned for Emergency

(Rumors circulating in Warsaw said Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka has assigned Gen. Komar, chief of internal security, and Gen. Jan Frey-Bielicki, commander of the air force, to deal with "any emergency.")

The 600 strikers holding out in the vast Dambrowski depot sent word that they would not bulge from their stronghold, but were willing to have a delegation of 50 men meet with local government minister Stanislaw Sroka. Monday, the strikers refused to send a delegation because they feared its members would be arrested. But they apparently hoped to avert this today through sheer size of the delegation.

The walkout was the most serious defiance of Communist authority since the freedom riots at Poznan. These bloody riots brought a "liberalized" regime to Poland and significant concessions to workers and other citizens.

Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka ordered in the troops and secret police when it became apparent new violence might flare in Lodz, Poland's second biggest city and its main textile centre.

Workers, especially women, were angered after reading today's newspapers which called the strikers "hooligans" and accused them of attacking police with clubs.

The strikers said the stories in the newspapers Aziennik Lodzki and Glos Robotniczi were "lies" and that the militia with fixed bayonets attacked them with ear gas in Monday's rioting.

The strikers said five women were hospitalized after one clash.

They reported the trouble started when police and a party of Communist party activists boarded one trolley and tried to get it moving. The strikers threw them off and the militia moved in.

Swamp Buries Clues to Crash

ISSOUDUN, Que. (CP)—The muddy soil of a swamp today still concealed the bodies of 78 of the 79 victims of Canada's worst air disaster—the crash of a Maritime Central Airways DC-4 near here Sunday.

It appears the fuselage and many bodies are beneath a layer of muddy soil in a crater created by the crash.

Lieut. Martin Healey of provincial police said today all the water has been pumped out of the crater and that digging into the muddy soil would start this afternoon.

"The pumps installed at the crater worked all night and it has been emptied, but there is no sign of any of the 78 bodies or of any plane debris."

The body of a baby—one of three aboard the plane—was recovered Sunday night.

Deputy Attorney-General Cantin of Quebec arrived on the scene this morning and said the provincial government has decided to assume temporarily all expenses involved in the operation.

The plane, bound for Toronto from London when it crashed, carried 73 passengers and a crew of six.

Crews of provincial policemen plodded through ankle-deep mud in the swamp collecting bits of clothing and personal effects. One of the articles turned up was the passport of Anne-Marie Harvey of Moncton, N.B., one of two stewardesses aboard the plane.

Police maintained a tight cordon around the crash scene to prevent souvenir hunters from carrying off bits of the plane needed to help investigators find the cause of the crash.

Besides the baby's body, only a few hands and feet were left above the surface of the sodden swamp near this community 15 miles southwest of Quebec City. These were placed in boxes and taken to the provincial police morgue in Quebec City.

Gordon Rayner of Moncton, N.B., chief inspector for MCA, inspected the wreckage and said "there must have been a terrific explosion when the plane hit the ground." Both Rayner and managing director C. F. Burke of Charlottetown said they had no idea what caused the crash.

Among the personal effects, police found the diary of Barbara Brebner of Islington, Ont., who died in the wreck. She had recorded the first days of her holiday in Britain.

Searchers also found a wrist watch with the hands stopped at 2.15.

INQUIRY PLANNED

In Ottawa, it was reported a public inquiry likely will be held. Transport Minister Hees talked with aides by telephone from Jasper, Alta. He is due at his Ottawa office Thursday.

Commenting on theories as to the cause of the crash one airline executive said there is no conclusive evidence that lightning has ever caused a plane crash though in 1940 it could not be determined whether the wreck of a Pennsylvania Central Line aircraft was caused by a lightning bolt or temporary blinding of the pilot by a lightning flash.

Oman Rebels Threaten to Call Russ

BAHREIN, Persian Gulf (UP) — A thousand Bedouins from nine tribes loyal to the Sultan of Muscat and Oman moved in from the hills today like conquerors to take over territory wrested from rebel forces in the nearly ended war.

In Cairo, meanwhile, Shiek al Hartthy, spokesman for the Imam said the Oman rebels would ally themselves with Russia if the United Nations fails them. Monday, the Arab League political committee decided to ask for a UN Security Council meeting on "British aggression in Oman."

The Sultan's troops were reported advancing from the east and west into the heart of rebel territory where only two forts are still flying the flag of the rebel Inman of Oman. They were Tanuf and Jabrin, some 20 miles west of Nizwa.

BLOOD DRIVE UNDER WAY WITH RUSH

The "Mayor's Drive" for blood donations to the district Red Cross got under way with a flurry at 1.30 p.m. today.

First to register, even before doors were officially opened, was Saanich Reeve Arthur Ash. He had earlier called Saanich residents to support the drive.

Mayor Percy Scurrah, who sponsors the two-day clinic to bolster dwindling hospital blood banks, has challenged Vancouver and New Westminster residents in a contest to see which city will give most blood per 1,000 citizens.

Tags will be issued to all donors who attend the clinic today and Wednesday between 1.30 and 4.30 p.m. and 7 and 9.30 p.m.

Weather Foils Alping Rescue

CHAMONIX, France (Reuters)—Rescue teams today were held up by strong winds and cloudy skies from starting a search for at least eight climbers missing around 15,767-foot Mount Blanc, Europe's highest peak.

Sales Tax Cut Main Plank For Liberals in By-Election

Accepting nomination in Burnaby, provincial Liberal Leader Arthur Laing Monday night laid down a 16-point party platform for the three by-elections Sept. 9.

Highlight of the platform is a demand for an immediate reduction of the provincial sales tax from 5 to 4 per cent.

Mr. Laing also said the sales tax should be further reduced to 3 per cent when federal health insurance becomes effective within the next year or two.

Backing his tax-cut demand, Mr. Laing said:

"For the year ending March 31, 1957, the premier announced an operating surplus of $38,000,000, or almost 15 per cent overtaxation.

"This extra purchasing power should be returned to the individual now. Most people need it."

The federal health insurance scheme will save B.C. $16,000,000 annually, but will require additional federal taxation, Mr. Laing said.

CHARGED TWICE

Without a reduction in the provincial tax "we would be charged twice for the same service," Mr. Laing said.

These are the other platform planks listed by Mr. Laing:

Removal of all tolls from bridges and ferries.

Exemption of home building materials, meals and essential clothing from the sales tax.

Reduction of the passenger car licence to $10.

Removal of the tax on fuel oil.

Repeal of the Mineral Tax Act.

Payment of the full provincial bonus of $20 to all qualified old age pensioners.

Extension of hospital insurance to cover diagnostic outpatient and chronic care, and construction of chronic hospital.

Full arbitration rights for civil servants.

Provision of an appeal board under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Payment of full municipal taxes on provincial government property.

Revision of the new Municipal Act in accordance with recommendation of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

Protection of prospectors by re-establishing Crown-granted mineral claims.

Implementing of provincial subsidies on feed grains, as provided for by statute.

Cutting of upset stumpage rates on timber by 25 per cent.

COLUMBIA POLICY

Mr. Laing also made a statement of Liberal policy on development of the Columbia River hydro potential.

He called for an end to the "temerity and uncertainty that surrounds our treatment of Columbia River power."

The Liberal leader criticized Premier Bennett for not accepting the federal offer of assistance for a public project on the Columbia.

"Instead he (the premier) countered with a proposal that appear like a Kaiser deal on a gigantic and all embracing scale," Mr. Laing said.

"The advantages of public power are obvious," the Liberal leader said.

UNITY

Mr. Laing called for "complete unity" by the province with the federal government in its negotiations with the U.S. on downstream benefits.

The provincial government should also issue a policy statement "that it favors public development of the Columbia with full retention of all Canadian-produced power, and return of downstream benefits in power, not cash," he said.

Calling for removal of tolls, Mr. Laing said "taxing the Queen's Highway or its connecting links is a retrograde step."

NO INJUSTICE

Because the toll bridges are dispersed all over the province, there would be no injustice in cancelling the tolls forthwith and incorporating bonds in the direct debt structure of the province, he said.

"It's debt anyway, so let's clean up our bookkeeping and properly classify it."

Mr. Laing said "irreparable damage" had been done to the B.C. mining industry by the Mineral Tax Act passed at the spring session of the legislature.

The Liberal leader said the province should profit from the "extraordinary action" of its civil servants who voted in favor of strike action to back up demands.

"We believe govenment should enjoy a no-strike pledge from civil servants," Mr. Laing said.

ARBITRATION

"But there must be a quid pro quot, and it must provide independent arbitration procedure agreed to beforehand by both sides.

"It must be a permanent arrangement and should encompass job classification, protection in promotion based on ability, as well as salary and working condtions."

St. Laurent, Aides Plan New Strategy

OTTAWA (CP) — Former Prime Minister St. Laurent today began confidential talks with members of his defeated cabinet.

It was understood he mapped out new strategy and programs that may be used by the Liberals in attempts to regain power in the next general election.

The meeting, expected to continue for two days, opened in National Liberal Federation headquarters. Only those who had been cabinet members were admitted. But federation officers were told to stand by, possibly to be called into discussions later in the day.

The talks were shrouded in secrecy but those close to the Liberal hierarchy said that, by the way the 75-year-old party leader spoke, Mr. St. Laurent appeared to have no intention of planning any early retirement. He may disclose some of his plans at a press conference likely to be held Wednesday at the close of the meetings.

Eleven former cabinet ministers — some successful and others defeated in the June 10 vote—were reported to have attended the meeting. Included were Lester Pearson, former external affairs minister, who likely would be a strong contender for the leadership if Mr. St. Laurent should step down.

Others attending and their former portfolios: James Gardiner, agriculture; J. W. Pickersgill, immigration; Lionel Chevrier, privy council president; Walter Harris, finance; Paul Martin, health; George Marler, transport; Stuart Garson, justice; Paul Hellyer, associate defence; Jean Lesage, northern affairs; Hugues Lapointe, veterans affairs.

Four of these, Mr. Harris, Mr. Garson, Mr. Hellyer and Mr. Lapointe, lost their seats June 10.

IT'S TOO COLD

Strait Whips Conquerór Of Channel

Juan de Fuca Strait is at least twice as tough as the English channel, 32-year-old Quebec swimmer Jacques Amyot decided today after a brief but chilly attempt from Ediz Hook, Port Angeles.

He plunged in at 8 a.m., climbed out, shivering, at 9.50 a.m.

It will be his last attempt.

Interviewed at McKay-Cormack dock, where the escort boat landed him, Amyot said:

"I would rather swim the English channel twice than the Strait once. It was too cold."

And he added "I won't try it again."

His trainer, Raymond Roy, said water temperature was 49. "He started out at 52 strokes to the minute, and after an hour said 'I'm going to make it.'"

At which pointed Aymot, grinning, interrupted. "And after two hours, I said 'I quit.'"

Distance covered before the attempt was abandoned was about three miles.

IDOLS DRAWN INTO LIBEL TRIAL

Gable, O'Hara Had 'Affairs' Ex-Editor, Call Girl Testify

(From Times News Services)

LOS ANGELES — Actress Francesca de Scaffa once said she had an affair with Clark Gable in order to get information for an article, says a witness at the Confidential magazine libel trial, but Gable denies even knowing the actress.

On the Hawaiian island of Maui, Gable said Monday night about testimony concerning the purported affair: "I think I would remember that, but to my knowledge I never met the lady in my life."

Howard Rushmore, former Confidential editor, testified Monday that Miss de Scaffa, former wife of actor Bruce Cabot, told him she had the affair with Gable. At the time, Rushmore said, she was gathering information for a story on Josephine Dillion, a drama coach to whom Gable was married from 1924 to 1930.

Rushmore had testified earlier that Miss de Scaffa, whom he identified as Confidential's chief source of information in Hollywood, had told him she would be willing to have affairs with movie stars to get material for stories. Rushmore said he had no knowledge of her purported affair with Gable other than what she had told him.

Miss de Scaffa, who is under indictment in this case, is in Mexico.

Names prominent not only in movie circles but international affairs droppel like leaves at the trial Monday, and indications were this was only the start.

Russmore said he had wanted to write a story about Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, but was overruled by publisher Robert Harrison because it wouldn't be "politically wise" to publish it.

Rushmore said he and Harrison had many discussions about whether their stories would hurt Hollywood personalities.

"Harvison said the main object was to sell magazines," Rushmore said, "and it wasn't within our province to determine whether it hurts people. He told me in effect that if the truth hurts, that's it."

Lester Grady, a former editor of "Whisper," told the jury under prosecution questioning that affadavits—some of them from New York and Hollywood call girls—were used in the preparation of stories for the scandal publications.

One such affidavit he said was used to support a story on Miss O'Hara, a flame-haired Irish actress, and her alleged love-making in a theatre seat while the movie was showing. The story is part of the evidence listed by the prosecution in the original indictment.

Ronnie Quillan, a Hollywood call girl, was also on the stand.

"I was engaged in prostitution," Miss Quillan said by way of introduction to the jury.

"Mr. Harrison told me he primarily wanted stories concerning the sexual activities of members of the movie colony and the more lewd and lascivious the story, the more colorful for the magazine."

Miss Quillan, 41, but strikingly dressed in a white cotton tightly-fitted sheath dress, said she began serving as an informant for Confidential about March of 1954.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Gracious Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Thine infinite love in sending Thy Son to be the Savior of the world. We beseech Thee so to direct us by Thy Holy Spirit that we may grow continually in thankfulness toward Thee and be conformed to the likeness of Thy Son, Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

See where th' Liberals want th' provincial sales tax lowered. An' how, may I ask, is th' Guv'mint goin' t' pay us our tax rebates if taxes are cut?

Tighter Knot Joins Germany With Soviets

BERLIN (UP) — Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev signed an agreement with East German leaders today to tighten Soviet-East German economic and political ties.

The East German radio said the agreement covered "further co-operation" between the two nations, "problems of the international workers movement," and other economic and political problems.

The broadcast said the agreement provided for "friendship, mutual aid, the strengthening of peace in Europe, and the welfare of the German people."

It was signed by Khrushchev, Soviet deputy premier Anastas Mikoyan, East German Premier Otto Grotewohl and East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht.

The agreement was believed to promise Soviet political, military and economic support for East Germany, and to rule out any hopes of unification in the foreseeable future.

Khrushchev has made it plain since he arrived in East Berlin last Wednesday that Germany can be reunited only on Communist terms.

He rejected Western proposals for unity through free elections and said a unified Germany cannot be a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It was considered certain the agreement indorsed the Stalinist leaders of East Germany and promised them Soviet aid if East Germans revolt against Red rule.

It was expected to blame the West for the split of Germany and to charge West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer with aggressive aims.

The Communists cracked the whip over reluctant workers to give Khrushchev a rousing send-off before he left for home.

They drafted workers to gather at a mass rally in East Berlin's Marx-Engels Platz at 4 p.m. in hopes of marshalling a crowd of 250,000 to hear Khrushchev address a mass meeting.

Party underlings were ordered to attend. Special trains were sent to haul in crowds from suburbs for miles around the Communist capital.

As an extra added attraction, spectators who wait out the Soviet leader's exposition of his new "guns AND butter" line were promised a fireworks display.

Khrushchev may also give a preview of the "important agreements" he and local Communist leaders are scheduled to sign Wednesday.

Current indications are that the agreements will be no more than a reaffirmation of the Kremlin policy on Germany, rejecting free elections in the divided country and assuring the Red regime that Soviet soldiers will crush any new attempt at a Hungary-style revolt in East Germany.

Mrs. Johnson Rites Set Wednesday

Funeral service for Mrs. Marion Johnson, who was the wife of Oak Bay Coun. John V. Johnson, will be held at St. John's Church Wednesday at 3.15 p.m.

A well-known city clubwoman, Mrs. Johnson was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Penketh, a pioneer family of Victoria. She had belonged to the Rotary Annes, the women's auxiliary of the YMCA and of the United Commercial Travellers.

Surviving are the widower, John, and a son, John Penketh, of 3118 Henderson.

Funeral procession will leave Hayward's Funeral Home at 3 p.m. for St. John's Church, where Canon George Biddle will officiate. Mrs. Johnson was associated with the church for 63 years.

Cremation will follow the service.

WEATHER HALTS NUCLEAR TEST

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission lost a battle with the weather early today and was forced to call the 15th postponement in the firing of its "Shasta" nuclear device.

The test was set for 5 a.m. PDT but less than an hour before the device was to be triggered atop a 500-foot tower scientists decided that wind conditions could carry fallout over populated areas near the Nevada proving grounds. The AEC will try again at the same time Wednesday.

Militia as CD Force Feared by Officers

OTTAWA (CP)—Some militia commanders contend the defence department is trying to convert the 40,000-man reserve army into a civil defence organization.

They say a conversion is being attempted in an "undercover" manner to prevent a furore in the militia and political repercussions.

Defence department officials say the only directive on the matter instructs militia units to pay attention to civil defence.

This in itself, some militia commanders argue, is the handwriting on the wall for the reserve army in its present form. They are strenuously opposed to the militia giving up its present role though willing to take on some civil defence tasks.

They say the militia, if it ever becomes a full-fledged civil defence organization, will lose members right and left. The reserve already is down to 40,845, nearly 7,000 less than its postwar peak in 1953 and smaller than in 1950, first year of the Korean War.

One senior militia commander put it this way:

No one knows whether another war would be fought with atomic or conventional weapons.

If it were fought with atomic weapons there would be little point in having a regular army, let alone a reserve, because there would be no time to reinforce the infantry brigade in West Germany.

However, if the war were of the conventional type the militia could again play its traditional role by forming the backbone of the citizen army with the regulars and training it.

There would not be as much time to train an army as there was in 1939 but with proper planning the wheels could be put in motion rapidly.

The commander said if the defence department works on the premise that Canada needs a regular army, then it should accept the projection of that policy—the need for a reserve army as well.

EGYPTOLOGIST HEAVILY FINED FOR SMUGGLING

CAIRO (UP) — American archaeologist Charles A. Muses was found guilty today of trying to smuggle antiquities out of Egypt and of illegal money dealings.

He received a suspended sentence of 13 months and was fined 19,000 pounds (about $58,539).

He pleaded innocent to both charges on grounds he was completely ignorant of Egyptian law. The prosecution asked 7 to 10 years' imprisonment and a fine.

Muses also faces trial before the Cairo Criminal Court on charges of possessing unlicensed firearms.

LEARNING BY MISTAKES is credited by financier Bernard Baruch with making him multi-millionaire. Baruch says he went into Wall Street as a $3-a-week office boy and came out a millionaire by making his "full quota" of errors and learning from them.

British Warn Mid-East Red Testing Ground

LONDON (UP) — Diplomatic officials warned today that Soviet Russia is fast turning the strategic Middle East into a new "testing centre" in the great power conflict.

This conclusion stemmed from the disquieting Red arms buildup in the area, which is currently being stepped up anew by Moscow under agreements with Arab nations.

Coineiding with the arms buildup is a stepped-up anti-Israel campaign in which members of the Supreme Soviet now are reported to have joined.

Latest reports reaching London claim that Red arms thus far delivered to Egypt and Syria by far exceed the present needs of their respective armies.

A further disquieting factor is that the arms are not only of a defense nature.

Further arms deliveries were believed to have been negotiated between Syria and Russia in last week's Moscow arrangements.

An impending review of the Cairo-Prague "trade accord" also was expected to provide for more weapons for Egypt in the near future.

Moreover, Russia has begun to increase the flow of naval units to Arab nations, including torpedo foat flotillas and long-range submarines which experts feared would adversely affect the naval balance in the Eastern Mediterranean.

FERRIES KEPT BUSY

KELOWNA — Ferries carried 27,907 passengers and 19,405 vehicles in 535 trips across Okanagan Lake during the four days of the annual regatta here last week, highways department officials said Monday.

Police Map Secret Plans To Combat Winter Crime

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — Officials of the city police force met Monday night to discuss secret plans they will use next winter to combat crime here.

The meeting was held in the home of Police Commissioner C. C. Merritt, V.C., and was attended by Chief Constable George Archer, Deputy Chief Ambrose, their executive officers and division commanders.

More meetings are planned by the group.

Deputy Chief Ambrose said: "Our plans are based on last year's experience. We had nearly 100 holdups then, and we had to put emergency plans into operation. This time we're not going to take any chances."

The plans were not announced, "for obvious reasons."

SHOT KILLS GIRL

POWELL RIVER—A 12-year-old girl, accidentally shot in the throat while playing with a number of other children at Westview, died in hospital here.

The victim was Barbara Lock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lock of Westview, a suburb of Powell River.

She was playing with friends Sunday afternoon when a five-year-old boy went into his home and brought out a .22 calibre rifle. The weapon was passed around as the children examined it, when it suddenly went off, the bullet striking Barbara in the throat.

WOMAN DRIVER CHARGED

VANCOUVER—Criminal negligence charge against a woman who allegedly tried to run down two police constables will be heard in police court next Monday.

Anne McCormack, 34, was remanded for one week by Magistrate Oscar Orr. She did not plead to the charge.

She was arrested by traffic officers Ed Leask and Derek Trehearne late Saturday after a four-block stop-and-go chase.

INQUESTS ADJOURNED

KELOWNA — Inquests into the deaths of two men killed in separate automobile accidents Saturday were adjourned for two weeks after a coroner's jury viewed the bodies Monday.

Enquiry into the death of R. M. Warren, of Vancouver, killed at Westbank, will reopen Aug. 28. Inquest into the death of Mike Arecow, of Grand Forks, will be conducted Aug. 21.

STRIKE HALTS PROJECTS

VANCOUVER — Work on 16 construction projects came to a standstill Monday when 160 floorlayers went on strike over the date on which an agreed pay increase should become effective.

Work on the projects, which involve contracts estimated to be worth $5,000,000 and include additions to schools and an army housing scheme, was stopped by refusal of 600 other construction workers to cross picket lines set up by the floorlayers union.

Head-On Smash-Up Takes Father of Two

Widow and Children Receive $10,000 on $5,000 Policy

On his way to spend the week with his family, a young businessman was the victim of a highway smash-up.

His death came only a few months after he took out a Confederation Life Policy for $5,000, with an Accidental Death & Dismemberment clause. He chose this policy because of its low cost Double Indemnity guarantee in case of accidental death.

It was a wise choice because Confederation Life promptly paid his widow twice the face value of the policy, $10,000 instead of $5,000. This substantial sum of money was a godsend to the bereaved family.

A $5,000 policy with Confederation's Accidental Death and Dismemberment Benefit pays:

- Liberal cash payments for non-fatal dismemberment accidents and
- $5,000 if you die from natural causes.
- $10,000 if you die by accident.
- $15,000 if you die by accident while a passenger in a commercial bus, taxi, street car, train, ship or commercial aircraft, or in a fire in a public building.

CONFESSION WITHDRAWN

Kidnapped, Tortured Says Egypt Suspect

CAIRO (CP)—A defendant in Egypt's trial of 13 men accused of plotting against President Nasser's government testified today that Egyptian army intelligence kidnapped him. He withdrew a confession he said he was forced to make.

The defendant is Abdel Hamid Islambouli, employee in the ministry of national guidance and one of five civilians on trial. He said the confession introduced by the prosecution in the indictment was made under "severe oppression and threats." Islambouli told the court:

"I was not arrested. I was kidnapped by Egyptian army intelligence."

Islambouli's confession had been one of the main bases for the prosecution's case against the 13 accused of conspiring to assassinate Nasser and his cabinet and overthrow the regime.

The defendants include two former cabinet ministers—Mohamed Salah el Din and Abdel Fattah Hassan—and retired Brig. Amhed Atef Nasser.

Islambouli almost broke down as he testified that he had been tortured by intelligence officers and prison authorities since he was interned April 22.

At one point the presiding judge of the six-man military tribunal, Maj.-Gen. Mohamed Fuad el Digwy, tried to prevent Islambouli from saying more about torture.

Islambouli said a glass of water was put before him but he was told he could not drink until he had confessed. Then he was told his wife had been arrested. He said he agreed to sign a confession on condition that his wife would not be touched and would be paid £20 ($57) a month.

The prosecutor read a letter which he said Islambouli wrote to his wife from jail, asking her to tell another defendant to deny his confession and say it had been made under torture.

False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!

Soak your plates in Polident daily to avoid "Denture Breath"

Polident is the specially designed cleanser that keeps false teeth—and breath—clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules.

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.
2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."
3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident is the denture cleanser recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

Mass Strait Swim Boosted As Annual Summer Event

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Leading Victoria citizens believe the swim marathon across the Strait of Juan de Fuca, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, should be a permanent summer event.

They are agreed that last Sunday's second annual race established the swim as a leading tourist attraction and most of them want it repeated next summer.

The Junior Chamber, however, is far from unanimous as to whether it should have the responsibility of raising prize money for a third annual marathon.

"We are greatly encouraged by the general reaction to our second effort," said Jaycee president Ira Hill. "But it is up to our executive and general membership to decide if we sponsor another swim next year.

"Many of us feel the city and the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau should contribute to the prize fund next year, since the swim brings so many dollars into the city.

LOAD FOR JAYCEES

"It is putting a load on the Junior Chamber to expect us to raise $7,000 or more every year and some of our members feel the money could be better spent in other ways."

Here are typical comments:

Mayor Percy Scurrah:

"The strait swim should certainly be an annual event in Victoria. It is wonderful advertising for the city and it will always be a challenge to swimmers everywhere.

"We should capitalize on it as a unique attraction in the Pacific Northwest."

GOOD PUBLICITY

George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau:

The strait swim has given more publicity to Victoria and Vancouver Island than any other event in recent years. It has definitely put Victoria on the map.

"The Junior Chamber of Commerce marathon was a fulfilment of the first strait swim inaugurated by J. Carl Pendray and Stuart Keate, publisher of The Times, in 1954.

"We should certainly make it an annual event."

Arnold Webb, manager, Victoria Chamber of Commerce: "This year's swim demonstrated very effectively that it should be a permanent summer attraction.

"We could combine it with the cross-strait water ski race suggested by Port Angeles and make the two events into a summer festival along the lines of the Seattle Sea Fair."

William Gilmore, manager of the T. Eaton Co. store: "The Jaycees should certainly be encouraged to make the swim a permanent summer attraction. It has already given us international fame and next year I am sure it will bring many more tourists to the city."

JOINT SPANSORSHIP

Sam Lane, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group and proprietor of the Olde England Inn:

"The swim should be a continuing effort and it should be sponsored both by the senior and junior Chambers of Commerce, with the support of all Victoria business groups.

"It is a major tourist attraction and we should remember that the tourist dollar rubs off on everybody.

"By all means making it a permanent summer events."

Howard McKay, manager of the Hudson's Bay Co. store:

"I am all for making the mass swim an annual event. It is excellent publicity for the city and this year's swim was so well handled it deserves repeating."

Cyril. Chapman, manager of the Empress Hotel:

"It puts Victoria on the map and attracts attention all across Canada. It is impossible to say how many people actually come here to see the swim. But at least they read about it and that may prompt them to visit us."

Harry Newton, Victoria manager for Canadian Pacific:

"The Jaycees' enterprise has done much to create interest in Victoria and anything of that nature is to be highly commended.

"I would not commit myself as to whether it should be a permanent annual event. The people who have to raise the money for it must make that decision."

Ash Wants to Revamp Town Planning Body

Reeve Arthur Ash Monday night impatiently called for revamping of the Saanich town planning commission.

He made the proposal when Coun. Ainslie Worthington reported the reeve and Coun. Joseph Casey, council delegates to the commission, failed to attend a single commission meeting during the first six months of this year.

Ex-Coun. S. W. Brock attended nine and Coun. Worthington attended eight.

Only two of the rest of the commission, consisting of about 12 members, attended all meetings.

They are held at 5.30 p.m. in Victoria.

"I think it is a very inconvenient time to call meetings. It is unfair to ask representatives to attend at that time of day," Reeve Ash said.

He said he had mentioned several times to other members and the chairman that a more convenient time might be set for meetings, but without apparent success.

Anti-Reds Take Early Lead in British Guiana

By LARRY ALLEN

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—The anti-Communist forces of Negro lawyer Linden Forbes Burnham took an early lead today in the fight for British Guiana's 14 legislative council seats.

Burnham and two supporters handily won the three seats in the Negro stronghold in this capital city. He took another in the Berbice River district in the west.

Two seats outside Georgetown went to the Communist East Indian dentist, Cheddi Jagan, including his own district of eastern Berbice. A Jagan supporter also was leading in a third district.

Jagan and his Chicago-born wife, Janet, are counting on votes from the countryside to carry their Marxist Peoples' Progressive party into the lead in this British colony on South America's coast.

Conclusive results may be announced tonight.

There are 28 seats in the Guianan legislature. However, the governor is empowered to appoint 11 members and a speaker. Three members of his staff are ex-officio members. Thus, if one party should win all 14 elective seats, it still could be outvoted by the 15 appointive and ex-officio members.

Anger Is Not Enough

THE WORKERS IN CANADA'S mineral industry are quite right in protesting against the proposed restriction of our metal sales in the American market.

A bill now before the Congress, and sponsored by the Eisenhower Government, would be an iniquitous violation of the United States' contract with us.

The proposed discriminatory tax on imported lead and zinc (a more effective import restriction than a tariff) represents a clear breach of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

The Diefenbaker Government, it is to be assumed, already has indicated to the American State Department, or to Mr. Dulles personally in Ottawa the other day, that Canada regards the zinc and metal tax with alarm and indignation.

The passage of the mineral legislation would certainly produce the deepest anger in Canada but it is not of anger alone that a sound Canadian policy can be made. The Canadian Government must consider restrictions on our metals, if they are imposed, as part of the broad problem of continental trade, in which Canada is accumulating both a large deficit and a large, useful American investment here.

The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, in a brief to the cabinet at Ottawa proposes two drastic measures of dubious wisdom.

If the United States restricts our metal sales, then, says the union, "let the U.S. Government be told that . . . Canada for its part will tax and place restrictions on the export to the U.S. of nickel, iron ore, asbestos and pulp and paper," commodities that the United States urgently requires.

This sort of policy would cut off the nose of the Canadian economy to spite its face. If our nickel, iron, asbestos and pulp and paper industries are prevented from selling in the United States certainly our neighbors will be damaged, but we shall be damaged far more.

These industries, especially nickel, pulp and paper, are vitally dependent on the American market where they sell in huge volume. If that market were closed by our own action the resulting losses of money and employment in these industries alone, would probably be sufficient to create a general business recession.

Assuming that Canada should retaliate against American breaches of contract, in the hope of bringing the Congress to its senses, then some method much sounder than that proposed by the mining union must be devised.

Retaliation of any kind is a dangerous weapon for Canada to use when about 60 per cent of our exports are sold in the American market and our whole economy is thus geared to it: for two can play at this game and the United States, of course, holds much higher cards than ours.

Mr. Diefenbaker's plan to divert 15 per cent of our trade from the United States to the Commonwealth is one thing and a very difficult thing to do. But to begin a process of direct retaliation against the United States, and invite its retaliation in return, is another thing entirely.

While impetuous action might satisfy our national pride for the moment, we have to consider our long-term interests, we have to remember that there is literally no substitute for our American market and we should exhaust every means of persuading the United States Government that its policy on such things as metals is not only unfair, but unprofitable.

The mine union leaders propose, secondly, that the Canadian Government support the price of lead, zinc and copper, as some farm prices are supported.

That is to say, the Government would buy these metals above the prevailing market price, sell them somehow at a loss (if they could be sold) and pay the difference from the public treasury. In other words, the state should undertake to subsidize a large part of the mining industry to produce metals that cannot be sold at the price the industry considers adequate. The taxpayers, in fact, should underwrite the wages of the mineral worker, which are the main component of prices.

It is unlikely that any Canadian Parliament would plunge into this gigantic and incalculable experiment, for the end of it cannot be foreseen. If Parliament is to underwrite the wages and profits of the mining industry it will be morally bound to do the same for any industry unable to sell at the prices it desires. The resources of the public treasury could not cope with such costs.

The mining union does not seem to realize another consequence of its proposal: If the state is to underwrite industrial operations it will be forced inevitably in the end to fix the wages and working conditions of labor. Otherwise the whole scheme would get completely out of hand and the treasury would be overwhelmed by costly, unsaleable surpluses of various commodities.

By No Means Ended

LIKE MANY ANOTHER measure before it, the civil rights bill has emerged from the U.S. Senate in a much different form from that envisaged by its original sponsors.

The clause which has occasioned the most debate and confusion provided that a court could impose an injunction to restrict anyone from depriving another citizen of his civil rights, particularly in regard to voting rights.

As it stood the clause was an attempt to ensure free use of voting rights by southern Negroes. But since violation of such a court injunction could lead to imprisonment of the offender, critics of the measure said that provision for jury trial should be included.

This precipitated a prolonged debate in the Senate on the rights of the state and its courts, the rights of the individual, and the likely results of jury decisions in the segregationist South. Back of all the arguments were the political implications—the probable effects on the voters' opinions of legislators who supported or opposed the bill.

As it has now emerged from the Senate, the bill provides for jury trial in criminal contempt cases, and sets a precedent—or almost a precedent, a similar clause having once been in effect in labor legislation but later killed through amendment.

The bill now returns to the House of Representatives, which may or may not find it acceptable in its new form. It is argued that the change has killed any chance of the bill's achieving its original purpose, that in its weakened state the measure will be useless.

Observers speculate that the legislation will not survive in any case. It is expected that the House may reject it in its amended form and pass it to President Eisenhower for veto. The President has already described the present result as "bitterly disappointing."

In the short-term view, therefore, this move to ensure equality of civil rights in the United States has suffered defeat to an extent yet to be determined. But the battle which resulted in that defeat was significant. It made obvious the fact that the Negro vote in the U.S. is becoming of greater importance — a bloc, along with the labor vote, the farm vote and other sections of the population, which is being increasingly wooed by both political parties.

Its voice was heard indirectly in the Senate debates. How that voice is listened to will remain one of the top-priority considerations of American politics.

Shelters in the Wilderness

THE OUTDOOR CLUB AND THE Victoria Branch of the Alpine Club of Canada have suggested a trail shelter plan of wide appeal to those who enjoy the wilderness.

They are ready, a spokesman says, to construct two public shelters on the 30 mile trail between Great Central and Buttle Lake if tools and materials for the job can be dropped by helicopter at the appropriate sites. This, they suggest, is a suitable Centennial project.

Whether it comes within terms of Centennial projects or not, the scheme and the offer should attract attention. Here are people reflecting a recreational interest which will become more and more pronounced in future as our citizens seek release from urban living. Only a few might profit from the undertaking now. Hundreds will in the years ahead.

Provided some authority—possibly the Centennial Committee — can enlist the support of an agency to drop the materials for shelters, the plan seems feasible and inexpensive.

This is a type of proposal which deserves every encouragement.

The Big One That Keeps Getting Away

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Snobs, Human and Various

MR. HUGH GARNER, author, iconoclast and self-confessed snob, writes in Maclean's Magazine a fascinating treatise on snobbery, thus bringing up to date, in a Canadian setting, William Makepeace Thackeray's classic work on the same theme. This is a very important subject for, as Mr. Garner says, we live in an age of snobbery much more complex, universal and revolting than that of Thackery. He was compelled to deal only with the aristocratic snob, a relatively small class in nineteenth-century Britain. We have to deal with snobs of a hundred different sorts and their numbers, and variety, are growing all the time.

Hutchison

This is a phenomenon peculiar to our age because it is the first age of general wealth. In the poverty of all previous ages only a few men could aspire to snobbery. Now it is hardly beyond anyone's reach.

WITH an average income and a few simple instructions anyone can become a snob. And this art has become so essential if a young man or woman is to fit into our society, it is high time for our universities to open courses and grant degrees in snobbery. Let every educated citizen be a Bachelor of Snobbery (BS).

As Mr. Garner observes, we already have a well-established academic and intellectual snobbery well able to convey its accumulated learning to the young.

Here we find snobbery poised in inverse ratio to the old-fashioned snobbery of Thackeray's time. Nineteenth-century snobs needed money, or at least birth, to support them. Today, while money produces the most repulsive variety of snob, it is not essential. The intellectual snob, the second most repulsive, requires little money and actually bases his snobbery on the lack of it.

MR. GARNER, after long research, has listed and analyzed many other kinds of snob unknown to our ancestors.

Among them is the automobile snob who, by mortgaging his family's future and starving his young, appears in a car which he cannot afford and regards with contempt all those who travel in last year's model.

This is a very powerful snobbery, and, though repulsive, is doubtless necessary to the North American economy, which must travel in a new car or collapse. So deeply has car snobbery become imbedded not only in the economics but in the thoughtways of our continent that a man's worth, character and soul are now customarily measured in horsepower. (I note this as a low-horsepower man myself, another kind of snob.)

THEN, says Mr. Garner, there is the house-snob who must have a more expensive house than his neighbor's even if he can't afford it; the bathroom and the kitchen-snob; the artistic-snob, who sniffs at all artists because he cannot create any art of his own; the literary snob who deplores our barren national literature because he cannot write a grammatical sentence; the sport-snob who pronounces verdicts on all athletes though he has never hit a ball or stood up on skates; and, latest of these species, the vacation-snob who pities his poor friends in cheap summer resorts and takes his holidays in Honolulu or Cannes.

MR. GARNER'S scientific survey is admirable so far as it goes but it does not go deep enough. He has omitted a wide field of specimens too numerous for mention here—as numerous as the human inhabitants of the earth. With few exceptions every man born of woman is a snob in one way or another, and as for woman no argument or documentation is required.

One of my colleagues (most modest, kindly and generous of men, loved by all) is constantly writing in the press about his second-hand outboard engine and his broken rowboat. He writes disparagingly of himself and his possessions but the snobbery seeps through into print. That man, otherwise a paragon, is really a boat-and-engine snob (three horsepower).

But we can forgive and tolerate him; it is the speedboat, twenty-five horsepower, forty-miles-an-hour, water-ski snob who really gets us down in this neighborhood, especially if we happen to be canoe-or-sailboat-snobs.

AGAIN that best of neighbors, Mr. Horace Snifkin, than whom no more self-effacing man was ever born, is not free of vice. He has become a woodpile-snob.

There is no difference in kind, but only in degree, between Mr. Snifkin displaying his gigantic woodpile with pretended disparagement and King Louis displaying the treasures of Versailles.

On second thoughts, there is a vital difference between Mr. Snifkin and the snobs of wealth, of debt and installment buying. He really has something for his labor and his snobbery. His woodpile will last for at least two years and will not be seized by the tax collector, the bailiff or the legal thief called inflation. That is more than you can say for most forms of snobbery.

MAGIC OF NAMES

For me the names of places are much of the excitement of Africa. In Nyasaland, such parts as Chigoma, Maniamba, Lilongwe, Chalundu; and from Northern Rhodesia spring out words as if they were from a magician's text-book — Fiwilia, Kalomo, Kafue, Katete.

As Our Readers See It

Cut Down Speed

In the August 10 issue of your paper, a letter signed A. Vernon Macan, seeks the remedy I mentioned in a former letter re these excessive speeds of motor cars in the hands of drivers unable to operate them intelligently.

The answer is "obvious," namely, a reduction in attainable speeds and the only authority capable of applying that reduction is the federal government through the manufacturers.

I would ask, "how much longer are we to tolerate this wastage of life, not only to these actual drivers, but so frequently other innocent people, pedestrians of all ages, to say nothing of the heavy toll of injured which so heavily bears on hospitalization services. The most severe accidents are attributable to excessive speeds.

I might add that I interviewed Chief Constable Blackstock in early February, 1955, following a car crash that killed four young people and again on Monday afternoon, July 29, in an endeavor to obtain some material to present to our recently-elected federal member, Mr. A. deB. McPhillips.

But we need some general public action towards achieving greater safety, and as I said before, B.C. with its steep mountainous grades, curves, etc., is the logical place or province to start this effort. Just why do we hesitate so?

Royal Engineers

The Royal Canadian School of Military Engineering at Vedder Crossing, B.C., has recently taken steps to compile a complete history of the Royal Engineers and what they did in the opening up of Western Canada.

To this end the commandant has opened a museum for relics of this period (and others) and already has received excellent response in the way of gifts to the museum comprising of plans, letters, survey instruments, etc.

We are now anxious to contact relatives of the old Royal Engineer personnel with a double object, that of having them invited to the official opening of the museum and the hope that they have material, letters, uniforms, medals, plans, etc., that they can and will donate to the museum. We are anxious to complete this task prior to the opening of the museum and the B.C. Centennial.

Any gifts of the nature mentioned can be left at Work Point Barracks (R.C.E. Office).

Your assistance in this pleasant task will be appreciated.

But No Toothaches

As the mother whale said to its calf: "Son, it is only when you are spouting that you are liable to be harpooned." For that reason I am careful to state my case on the bedrock of intelligence that are not the bond-servant of commercial interests when I take issue with such a formidable opponent as an editor who says "No" to Adela Bastin's inquiry if there is any truth in the report that fluoridation is a secret weapon of the Communists.

Nevertheless it would appear that I have been harpooned deeply, not because of any crime, but because I am impressed with a citizenic duty to warn of a proven menace to the public weal.

I would call attention to your note at the foot of a letter dated June 4, 1954, which reads:

("Editor's note: The columns of the Times are open to opinions pro and con, even those which see in the fluoridation proposal a desperate Communist plot to render our minds 'docile and cow-like'.")

How do you reconcile this commitment when you omit altogether my letter of Aug. 4 quoting an extract of a certified sworn affidavit by a one-time Stalinist agent trained as a saboteur with special emphasis on the use of fluoridation to make people docile and lethargic —or cow-like if you will?

You haven't given a fair deal either to me or your readers—not by any means —which gives plenty of cause to squawk long and loudly. But what's the use. I simply ask: Will you not honor your pledge and publish this or that part of my reply to Mrs. Teigs that you omitted?

No Graven Image

The proposal to erect a statue of Jesus Christ, either on Mount Arrowsmith, Mount Douglas, or anywhere else, would surely be vetoed by the Second Commandment: "Those shalt not make unto thee any graven image . . .", and we, the undersigned, would strongly oppose any such project.

If a religious symbol is desirable, why not erect a cross—to be illuminated at night—in memory and in token of the living Christ's sacrifice for mankind?

Chess in Beacon Hill

In Vancouver there is quite a keen group of chess players who play all summer evenings and afternoons in Stanley Park.

Why will Victoria chess players not play out-of-doors in Beacon Hill Park. Are they too high hat, shy or what?

With our many German and other European immigrants we have now the opportunity of meeting many new players in an informal way. Who is going to make a start?

I have raised this question in the press before and approached the local chess clubs without getting the courtesy of a reply.

In Vancouver one can stroll round to where the chess players are and watch a fine game in progress and usually have a game or two with some new opponent and derive full benefit thereby.

In fine weather of which we usually have much in Victoria, the tables round the children's playground seem an ideal spot. If we start playing no doubt we can prevail on the authorities to paint a few "boards" on one or two tables. There is one table painted for checkers but it is all worn away.

The lookout is too far away and apt to be noisy, we could certainly go there in rain. We don't ask for much—quiet and a sheltered spot, seats and tables are already there. Bring your board and pieces. Summer is passing, evenings grow shorter.

FROM WASHINGTON — By STEWART ALSOP

Wilson's Grim Legacy

SECRETARY of Defence Charles E. Wilson, in retiring, will leave Washington, if not exactly trailing clouds of glory, at least pleasantly aware that almost everybody likes him. It is impossible not to like him, although some have tried very hard. For a thoroughly honest, essentially simple man is a hard man to dislike, and that is what Wilson is. Jessie Ann Wilson, the Secretary's indomitable spouse, was quite right the other day when she revealed that "Mr. Wilson came as a great shock" because "he spoke the simple truth in a place where politics is the native tongue." Secretary Wilson has spoken the truth—as he saw the truth—and no one can doubt that he is not only an honest man, but a man who has honestly tried to do his best.

Alsop

And yet, how good has that best been?

In all fairness, certain facts must be considered, in trying to answer that question. The first fact to bear in mind is that Wilson joined an administration absolutely committed to a balanced budget and reduced taxes. The administration could not conceivably honor its commitment without sharp reductions in defence expenditures.

Second Fact

The second fact to bear in mind is that Wilson became secretary of defence at almost the precise moment when the Soviets, who had concentrated on building defensive air strength during the period when the United States had a near-monopoly of offensive air-atomic power, switched priorities. From about 1952 onwards, the Soviets gave absolute priority, first to breaking the American air-atomic monopoly, and then to gaining superiority in that field.

Wilson cannot be blamed, after all, because the Soviets exploded their first hydrogen bomb in August, 1953, a few short months after he had taken office.

It was not his fault that they tested their first intercontinenal jet bomber less than two years after he had become secretary of defence. It was not his fault that they began testing their first intermediate missiles in 1955, or that they tested their first prototype version of an intercontinental missile this year.

It was not Wilson's fault, if you will, that he was caught in a trap, almost from the day he became secretary of defence. He was trapped between the administration's commitments to reduce taxes and balance the budget, on the one hand, and the mounting evidence that the Soviets were achieving a decisive air-atomic superiority on the other.

Another man might have reacted to this situation by insisting that American superiority in air-atomic power must be maintained at whatever cost. But Wilson's background did not prepare him to react in such a way.

In his long, hard, brilliantly successful climb from an Ohio farm boyhood to the pinnacle of the business world he had not had time to think very much about such abtruse matters as the balance of power.

Testifying before a Senate committee last year, he cast a revealing light on his remarkably simple way of interpreting great historic events. It was, he said, "too bad the that Russians did away with the Czars completely." If they only had a few Czars left around, he continued seriously, then the Russians would hate them, "and they would not be hating us so much."

American Superiority

Along with this remarkably uncomplicated view of Soviet motives, Wilson has had an absolute conviction of American technical superiority, natural to a man of his background. The Russians are just imitators, he believes, and their weapons "really came out of the Western world."

He has instinctively rejected any evidence to the contrary.

Thus, in 1954, the Soviets tested their first Bison heavy jet bomber, having built it on radically new design principles in half the time it took the United States to build the B-52. The plane, Wilson said, was probably a mock-up, a propaganda fake. How could it be otherwise?

And yet, alas, the Bison turned out to be all too real, and according to Wilson's own intelligence experts, there are now at least twice as many Bisons as B-52s in existence.

Power Balance

All too real too is the sharp shift in the balance of power which has taken place in the Wilson years. When Wilson took office, a rough balance existed, as between Soviet superiority in conventional arms, and American superiority in air-atomic power.

Now the balance has been destroyed. In the name of economy, American conventional power has been reduced almost to the vanishing point. And while the United States has thus become wholly committed to atomic warfare, the Soviets are unquestionably moving ahead of the United States in air-atomic power. That is the legacy which Charles E. Wilson, a likeable and honorable man, leaves to his unlucky successor, Neil McElroy.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

'Idle Time Not Idly Spent'

THERE'S a rainbow round my shoulder and blue sky up above.

I have been catching fish—two of them.

Stott

This may be small stuff to some of my friends. Gerry Edge was telling me Saturday morning that he boated four the day before and lost 15 almost within netting reach. Since you're allowed only four salmon a day, I gathered that Gerry pulled them up close, looked them over and shook the smaller ones off the hook. Gerry didn't say so, but he has a way of leaving that impression.

Okay, let him have his four salmon and 15 strikes. To me, a pair is magnificent. Some 17 pounds of coho, undressed, is the culmination of over four months effort, starting in April, and heavy expenditure.

In practical terms, I'd say my catch was valued at about $5 a pound, counting wages at the minimum rate of a dollar an hour plus gas and oil, fishing tackle, bait and varying stimulants like Coco Cola and hot coffee, depending on the weather.

BORN AGAIN

But what's expense?

This has restored my youth. I am once more the confident fisherman, even as I was when a boy. I stand taller now, spend more time combing my hair over the thin patches on my scalp and wear the smile of a Hollywood moron or successful politician.

I'm managing to be nicely restrained about the whole thing, I think. My first inclination, when I came ashore with my catch was to grasp a fish in each hand and run up and down the beach shouting, "Lookit! I caught fish. Lookit. Hey, lookit!" But I didn't. The tide was in anyhow, and it's hard running with all those logs cluttering up the sand.

I didn't even go to a weigh-in station in the hopes of having my picture taken. Some people will go to any lengths to get a notice in the paper saying they caught fish. No modesty.

In my best, clipped English, I can be persuaded to discuss my catch when anybody twists my arm. Yesterday, for instance, we were talking about international affairs and somebody mentioned Mr. Dulles, called him a big fish. Just to keep the conversation going I picked up the fish reference— "Speaking of fish, I had a spot of luck off the point of Trial. Pulled in a couple of coho. Not big, you know, but sporty."

And then when we got around to the weather in a chat with another group, I casually mentioned that the rain seemed to be good for fishing, "managed to snag a couple of salmon myself." But it's all casual, of course—nothing forced.

These conversations are not invariably satisfying. One speculative angler of my acquaintance lured me into a discussion of my tackle. I told hm it was the conventional nylon line, a flasher and herring strip.

DEFLATING

"A bit like catching trout on one of the spinner things with a worm, isn't it?" he asked in that I-use-only-a-dry-fly tone.

Only my inate good manners stopped me from asking him when he last caught a coho.

I find myself a bit bewildered and mildly depressed by the attitude of some people to a fisherman's success. The boss of our house was impressed, no doubt, by the catch, but impressed the wrong way.

"Now, maybe," she said, "you'll stay home occasionally instead of going out in that tub of a boat. Perhaps I won't have to dig all the potatoes you said were going to harvest when you slipped down the lot and took off.

"And for goodness sake stop patting those salmon. They smell fishy. So do you. You're just like a kid with a new toy. Don't think you're going to take them to bed with you, either."

Well, a man who catches a couple of coho can take this denigration.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Woman Would Be Loving

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

A woman asks a good question. She says, "I read your article on how a loving wife can cause her husband to live longer if she is affectionate. But, please, tell me how can she keep passing her hand through his hair or patting his hand if he'll never let on that she is doing it, or pay any attention to her, or appreciate her affection? What, also, can she do when she'd give anything to have her husband do these same things to her, and he never does?

"He did a little of this for a few years after our marriage, but then his affection seemed to wear off, and now all his urges to love are gone. If I am affectionate, he growls and says, 'Leave me alone'."

Dr. Alvarez

The woman fears there is nothing she can do about it, but she is so lonely and so hungry for love.

My heart goes out to people like her; and I am sorry, also, for her husband because he, too, is missing much that he might have in rich abundance. It is hard to say always why such things happen; even the two people concerned can seldom agree as to why they came to be living apart in their house. As I have said several times in this column, there are millions of both men and women who were not born to be affectionate with anyone. They never care to reach out and touch even their child, and many are distressed when anyone touches them. Many of these persons are "schizoid," and relatives of schizophrenics.

FAMILY HISTORY

To illustrate, a woman just came to see me because she is worrying terribly and feels as if she were headed for a nervous breakdown. She is sad because she cannot show her kind husband the affection she would like to give him. I asked, "Did your parents ever show you any affection?" And she said, "No; Dad was never affectionate, and I cannot remember a time when Mother ever cuddled me, kissed me, tucked me up in bed, or showed the least sign of love for me. Dad came to hate her because, also with him, she never showed any sign of affection. Because of this, they were always quarreling bitterly." I asked, "What happened to your mother?" and my patient said, "She withdrew more and more from life and eventually had to be put into a mental hospital. My sister is also in a mental hospital with schizophrenia."

Many readers may ask, "But why discuss so unhappy a subject?" and my answer is because I get scores of letters from men and women who cannot understand why their spouse is so unaffectionate and so untouchable. There are, of course, several reasons for this, but one of the commonest ones is that the person is schizoid, and has inherited a small amount of a tendency that wrecked the sanity of some ancestor. Fortunately, most schizoids seem to get by without ever getting so bad as to need any hospitalization. Often two schizoids marry, which may be all right for them, but it can be terribly hard on any children they may have. These children can be born schizophrenic, or they can just suffer from lack of affection.

Change in Foxglove Brings Improvement

Two things have happened to the foxglove in recent years, one related to its form and the other to the quality and color of its flowers.

Jack

These changes merited two First Class Certificates in a trial at the Royal Horticultural Society's gardens in 1954.

This is a proud achievement, but somewhat unusual, for the FCC is the highest honor the RHS can bestow and one not casually given. The making of the awards to the same kind of flower in one trial indicates something worth while.

The foxglove commonly grown in gardens has the flowers on one side of the spike, all hanging down like elongated bells with a grace of its own. But there are other species whose flowers face outwards all around the stem.

From these have been bred a race which retains the qualities of the best garden type, plus the horizontal and all-around flowers.

Seeds of this new race are now readily available to gardeners under the name of Excelsior Strain, two varieties of which received the FCC.

One is known as Excelsior Cream, with flowers of a pale primrose yellow; the other as Excelsior Hybrids, containing a color range from white to deep magenta with most flowers heavily spotted with maroon or yellow.

The foxglove we have grown for years will still retain its place in the garden. It has not been superseded, but it has been augmented by something new and different.

Queue Waits in Rain For PNE Employment

VANCOUVER (CP) — More than 1,600 job-hungry men and women stood in line at the Pacific National Exhibition grounds here Monday following a weekend announcement that temporary work would be available.

Four hundred were standing in pouring rain when National Employment Service officials opened the doors at 9 a.m. Some had been waiting since 7 a.m.

During the first five hours 1,400 were registered at the temporary office and re-directed to exhibitors and concessionaires for possible employment.

Those still standing in line late in the afternoon did not know that PNE officials had earlier estimated there would be work only for 1,000 during the exhibition's run, Aug. 21 to Sept. 2.

With coat collars turned up and work clothes sodden with the early morning rain, Hungarians, Dutch, English and a sprinkling of Canadians waited patiently as the queue moved slowly into a dance hall.

Work was available for cooks, kitchen helpers, ride attendants, demonstrators and waitresses.

"I have never seen anything like it in seven years here," said an employment service spokesman. "There are nearly double the number of applicants we handled last year."

A PNE official said: "Most of them aren't standing in line to earn a few extra bucks. They're here because they're hungry."

New Councillor G. Chatterton Takes Office

George Chatterton, elected by acclamation to fill the seat of the late S. W. Brock, was sworn in as Saanich councillor Monday night.

He was named to 10 council committees by Reeve Arthur Ash and appointments were approved by council.

The new member, who will serve until Dec. 31, acts on public works and fire committee, finance, transportation, health and welfare, employees' welfare, Greater Victoria centennial committee, Greater Victoria civil defence control board, Union Board of Health, Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks, and as chairman of industrial development committee.

Centennial, civil defence, Union Board of Health and beaches and parks are special committees, the others regular council committees.

Sea Secrets Being Told By Bottles

OTTAWA (CP)—Dozens of vinegar bottles picked up by beachcombers on the Atlantic seaboard are starting to arrive at the naval research establishment at Halifax.

Naval scientists are highly pleased. Arrival of the bottles is the result of their painstaking labors to chart more accurately ocean currents along the Atlantic coast.

Two months ago, the coastal escort New Liskeard scattered on the foam more than 1,400 vinegar bottles.

The government pays 50 cents for each bottle recovered together with information on the date and place of its discovery.

Two in Jeep Reach Alaska On Long Trip

COLD BAY, Alaska Peninsula (AP)—Two intrepid travellers have arrived in their amphibious jeep Monday, completing another leg of their trip around the world.

Northwest Airlines officers reported the arrival of Ben Carlin, 45, Australian adventurer who left Montreal seven years ago, and Boyde de Mertte, 28, of Phoenix, Ariz.

Cold Bay is more than 1,000 miles from Shemya, where the two landed July 7 after a 1,300-mile voyage from Japan's Hokkaido Island.

Mounties Should Wear Red Coats On Duty—Warren

Publicity Commissioner George I. Warren says his request that RCMP officers should wear scarlet coats when on duty during the tourist season has been "widely misunderstood."

"I have been abused for suggesting that Mounties should display themselves in uniform so that tourists can gape at them," Mr. Warren said.

"That is not the idea at all. What we ask is that they should wear their world-famous uniform while on duty.

"The Mounties are a symbol of Canada all over the world and tourists are naturally disappointed when they come here and never see a scarlet coat anywhere.

"I have had letters from all over the United States asking where we keep our Mounties.

Floor Firms Hit By Strike of 200

VANCOUVER (CP) — A strike of 200 employees of 15 Vancouver floor-laying companies started Monday when a final offer by the firms was rejected at a mass meeting.

Union officials said the dispute concerns a travelling-time clause and the date from which an agreed wage increase should be effective.

They said the strike likely would bring work to a standstill on many jobs, including school and apartment construction projects, as other workers would refuse to cross the picket lines.

Saanich Seeks End to Tax On Municipal Bond Interest

Saanich Council will attempt to persuade the federal government to eliminate income tax on municipal bond interest.

Meeting Monday night, council passed a resolution seeking support of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities to suggest the move to the new federal government.

Motion was made by Coun. Ainslie Worthginton and seconded by finance committee chairman Coun. Eugene Diespecker.

Coun. Worthington said such a move would assist financing Canadian municipal bonds. (U.S. municipal bond interest already is income tax free.)

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Jesse L. Spurgin, aged 10, of Dawson, Neb., for the question:

Were Dinosaurs Hatched From Eggs?

There was no person around to notice the family life of the dinosaurs. The last of them perished some 50 or 60 million years ago. This was long, long before the first human family came to live in the world. What we know about the dinosaurs we have learned from their fossil bones, footprints and other things they left behind. There are plenty of such records, for the old earth likes to preserve specimens of her past. The earth's crust is a diary of rocky pages. Countless specimens of plants and ancient animals are pressed between the stony ages.

In the past 100 years, experts have collected 100s of tons of old dinosaur bones. Around 1870, dinosaurs made newspaper headlines. Countless fossils were being found in the northwestern states, Colorado, Utah, the Dakotas and Montana became happy hunting grounds for the fossil experts. There was a controversy as to which expert should get each set of bones and each new find was headline news. At last a whole skeleton of brontosaurus was assembled and people flocked to see it. The massive beast stood 16 feet high, was 67 feet long and his bones weighed six and a half tons. It had cost $30,000 to put him together — but he was worth every penny.

SKELETONS IN EGGS

People all over the world became dinosaur conscious. Farmers, ranchers and lonely prospectors reported the strange bones they found in faraway places. The rarest of all the relics were discovered in Asia. There were first one, then another, fossilized clutches of eggs. One of these nest of eggs was almost ready to hatch when it became smothered in a pile of sand. The skeletons of the baby dinosaurs are still inside the eggs.

So, it seems, the dinosaurs layed eggs. They did not give birth to live babies. This does not surprise us when we remember that the dinosaurs were a branch of the reptile clan. And reptiles are cold-blooded egg-layers. Reptile eggs are usually round and covered with tough papery shells. Unlike birds' eggs, they are not brittle and they are less easily broken.

We have other evidence of dinosaur family life. We can study the ways of modern animals who resemble the ancient monsters. On the islands of New Zealand there still lives an animal that might be a living fossil of the dinosaurs. He is tautara, a lizard-like fellow that enjoys life among the barren rocks and cold climate of the far southern Pacific. The two-foot tautara lays her eggs in a hollow from which they hatch by themselves. Lizards are careless mothers to this day and most likely the big lizards of the past did not bother to protect their eggs.

Some experts believe that this carelessness helped to end the long reign of the dinosaurs. For little egg-eating mammals came to live in the world. These furry four-footed fellows hunted for nests of dinosaur eggs and devoured them before they could hatch. True, the climate also changed and the dinosaurs were too big to cope with change of any kind. But, the little mammals may have helped to put an end to the race of monsters by devouring their eggs.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Marjorie Sage, age 10, of Peterborough, Ont., for her question: How cold is it in Iceland?

Iceland has been called the land of ice and fire. It has steaming geysers, seething volcanos and frigid icecaps. The bare, rocky island nestles just south of the Arctic Circle and its shores are bathed by the gentle Gulf Stream. The Gulf Stream, flowing from far south near the equator brings balmy breezes to the island of Iceland. The climate is far from friendly, but much warmer on account of the moist Gulf Stream air.

Winter days are cold, but not much below freezing. The January temperature at Reykjavik in the south averages 32 degrees Fahrenheit. July, however, averages no warmer than 48 degrees. Winters are mild in Iceland, summers are cool and the year is spattered with days of snow, sleet, rain, fog and bitter winds.

NATIVES' LIFE CHANGED

Appetite for Snails Leads to Gold Rush

By LOUIS JOOS

BATOURI, French Cameroons (AP) — Last March a native named David Ambo, thirsty from eating big juicy snails, bent over a tiny stream to get a drink. He dug a little to provide a pool for water to collect. Stuck to his moist hands were specks of gold.

Now more than 2,000 Africans are feverishly scratching, digging, sifting and washing in to extract more than $100,000 worth of gold a month from the stream.

The world's latest gold rush, 60 miles back in the steaming jungle at Mboscorro, has made a boom town of this regional centre in the French Cameroons. Each week shipments of gold dust are flown to Yaounde, capital of this trustee territory in the notch of Africa's South Atlantic coastline.

But between the discovery and beginning of shipments that bolster France's shaky economy, a jungle mystery veiled the area for two months.

Ambo didn't know then that he could have obtained an official concession for the gold find. Instead, he brought his wife and a basket of provisions and began panning gold secretly.

NO END TO LODE

The gold seam was so inexhaustible, the sand took so long to sift, the forest trees lining the stream were so hard to root out, that Ambo soon tired of working only with his wife's help. He tipped off four village friends.

It was April then. The secret was out in the jungle. But a wall of silence hid the growing gold rush camp from white-suited officials in Batouri.

Storekeepers were the first outsiders to get wind of what was up. There was a run on picks and shovels. Bills were often paid with flasks of gold dust. A wholesaler tipped off the service of mines in Yaounde.

A regional inspector reached the stream in May. He found nearly 1,500 persons living in primitive shelters, using primitive methods to extract gold. The rainy season had set in and whole families were working up to their thighs in water-filled holes.

The service of mines took over and began buying the yield. It sent an agent to try to organize production so as to cut down waste. Disorder still reigns but no violence has been reported at the gold camp.

SOCIETY CHANGES

The boom is having its effect on African society. Men and women formerly classed by French officials as economically weak are able to build up the sizable jungle capital of $150 to $200 by a few weeks' work.

While the Batouri storekeepers are benefiting, the tapioca factory here is at a standstill for lack of raw materials. Some 600 workers have deserted one of the big coffee plantations to seek their fortunes in the gold fields.

Only David Ambo is unhappy. Others are getting most of the benefit from his discovery.

'The Tops' Climbing To Stardom

EDMONTON (CP)—Two sets of sisters from unrelated families are setting out for eastern Canada this month to seek stardom in the entertainment world.

Known as The Tops, the four girls have been singing as a quartet for more than a year, and as a semi-professional group they have been outstanding popular-song stylists in Edmonton.

Connie and Kay Farley, and Coralie and Jackie Allan got together more or less by accident when Jack Unwin, producer of an amateur musical comedy series called The Varieties, had them sing as a quartet during a television workshop effort.

Up to that time Connie, 23, had sung alone, or with 21-year-old Kay had done duets for clubs, parties and weddings. The Allan sisters—Coralie is 20, Jackie 23—also had sung duets, performing in hospitals, churches and on other occasions from the time they were children.

Since they formed the quartet the girls have had an impressive string of singing dates in Edmonton. They have appeared in nearly every hotel and club in the city, and took part in the official opening programs of the Northern Alberta Jubilee auditorium which had such performers as Hollywood's Jackie Carson.

50-Cent Bet Fatal

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—Fred Payton, 43, was shot and killed Sunday following a dispute over a 50-cent bet, police said. Two of Payton's co-workers were held in connection with the shooting. Police did not explain what the bet had to do with the shooting.

Farmer Digs $73,500 Question Defeating Woman on Quiz Show

NEW YORK (UP) — Dairy farmer Harold Craig of Granville, N.Y., Monday night defeated petite challenger Mrs. Betty Sobel to increase his winnings to $73,500 on TV quiz show, "Twenty-One."

Mrs. Sobel, a Bridgeport, Conn., sales executive and designer, tied Craig in the first game when both correctly answered questions on current events and American literature.

However, the 26-year-old Craig took the lead in the second game when Mrs. Sobel failed to answer questions about the 1920's, and kept it despite a later point upsurge by the challenger on questions about Latin America. The final score was 21-11.

Russians to View Stratford Festival

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—A group of four Russians, two of them leading lights in the theatrical field, were welcomed to Stratford Monday with a speech in Russian.

The Russians will spend this week viewing the Stratford Shakesperean Festival.

The speech in Russian was given by James Domville, the producer of the student musical satire My Fur Lady, also playing here.

The visitors are: Michail Kozakov, who portrayed Hamlet in a Russian version of the Shakespearean play at a youth festival in Moscow this summer; Michail Tsarev, director of the Moscow Little Theatre; Alexai Tovstogan, cultural attache at the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa.

SHORTER SIDEBURNS

New 'Elvis Presley' To Hit Tin Pan Alley

NEW YORK (UP) — The brothers Phillips, two gents from way down yonder in Memphis, Tenn., who contributed Elvis Presley to world culture, are all shook up about a new boy in their pasture.

This is a blond, curly-haired, blue-eyed, 21-year-old rock 'n' roller from Farriday, La., who is going great guns with a two-month-old record named "Whole Lotta Shakin' Goin' On" and has another ready to bust out called "Great Balls of Fire."

His name is Jerry Lee Lewis. He plays the piano while he sings. He has sideburns but not as long as Presley's.

Does he shake like Elvis?

"Doesn't have to," says Jud Phillips. "When he feels like it, he just jumps up and kicks the piano stool across the stage and plays standing up. And his legs get real stiff. What's different about him is that he's got a beat, a rhythm, like you've never felt."

Pros in Favor, Others Wonder

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UP)—Amateur tennis brass hats are losing interest in "open" tournaments since the pros began to have the boom on Wimbledon champ Lew Hoad of Australia.

So far, Hoad is a $125,000 bust as a pro with a 2-9 record. That caused amateur officials to blink—and take a second look at their tentative endorsement of open championships patterned after golf with amateurs and pros competing in the same tournament.

"I was all for legalizing open play," said one highly-placed amateur official, "but now I don't know. It looks like even the best amateur doesn't have a chance with a fourth-string pro."

AMATEURS WORRY

The pros insist open tournaments would be the greatest force in the world for developing amateur talent. The amateurs fear extinction or, at best, second rate status.

But there is considerable evidence on the side of the pros, according to Ted Schroeder of Los Angeles, sidekick of promoter Jack Kramer.

"In less than 60 days of pro competition, Ken Rosewall improved 30 points a game," says Schroeder. "If that sounds too tricky, put it this way: When he first turned pro, he blew two shots a game that he now makes easily."

If, the world around, leading amateurs mix freely with the pros in open tournaments, the best of the more-or-less simon pures would improve similarly and the amateur game would be raised to its highest peak in history, Schroeder believes.

SHOULD BE GOOD

"Naturally, you have to count in the amateur's age and ability," says Ted. "A hack isn't going to learn anything from a lop-sided walloping but a good boy will."

This "improvement by exposure" theory, already proved to the satisfaction of the pros by the experiences of Pancho Gonzales, Pancho Segura, Frank Sedgman and Rosewall, is the groundwork of Kramer's current promotional plans with Hoad in the "starring" role.

It's no secret that Kramer would like to see Gonzales dethroned as king of the pros for Big Pancho is as tough to handle in money matters as he is on the courts. Pancho was sidetracked once, for three long, lean years, and restored to the tour only in an emergency in 1954 when Kramer, himself, no longer could drag his weary bones around the court.

GOING GREAT!

Gonzales hasn't been licked since in any major tournament or tour.

Jack hopes he has a lad in Hoad who, with proper seasoning, can take Gonzales on a tour. The plan is to have the blond Aussie learn the ropes on junkets to Europe, South Africa and back to Australia swinging away against Rosewll, Sedgman and Segura.

If Lew improves 30 points per game before he tackles Gonzales on the 1958 tour—instead of improving too late while on the tour—he may have a fair chance of unseating Pancho.

"Hoad isn't a brilliant thinker on the court," said 70-year-old expert Mercer Beasley of New York. "But all he has to learn to give Gonzales a tussle is reduce the number of mistakes he was making as an amateur. You don't make a mistake and beat the New York Yankees. And you can't do it if you want to beat a top-flight tennis pro."

TRAIL LITTLE LEAGUERS KEEP TECHNICALITIES IN

PORT ORCHARD, Wash. (AP) — New Westminster, B.C., Little Leaguers moved to the winners' bracket of the regional finals on a forfeit here Monday after their opponents from Trail, B.C., whacked out a 6-4 victory on the bases.

Trail was ruled ineligible before the game began but the officials kept their decision a secret, hoping the New Westminster club would be the victor, thus keeping the technicalities out of it.

The Trail Little Leaguers lacked an official document showing the individual record of pitchers in tournament play. The game was declared a 6-0 forfeit in favor of New Westminster.

Ephrata blanked Centralia, 4-0, Monday behind the three-hit pitching of Dick Hokanson and meets New Westminster in today's final.

The winner will enter the Western Regional Tournament at San Francisco Aug. 21-23.

MOUNTIES GAIN

Fallen Angels Thumped

By Associated Press

Los Angeles Angels, well on the way to their Pacific Coast League championship at this time last year, lag deep in the second division today, smarting from their worst defeat of the year.

Their crosstown rivals, the Hollywood Stars, smeared the Angels 14-0 Monday night behind the three-hit pitching of George Witt.

Second place Vancouver pulled to within four games of pace-setting San Francisco by edging the Seals 3-2. Sacramento climbed out of the loop cellar and dumped Portland in with a doubleheader sweep of the Beavers, 10-5 and 6-5. San Diego and Seattle were idle.

Jumping to a 1-0 lead in the first inning, the Stars warmed up with three runs in the third, got hot in the fourth and scored seven times on seven hits. Spook Jacobs batted twice in the frame, walking once and doubling in a run. The Twinks, who collected 20 hits altogether, batted around again in the sixth, scoring three more runs on five hits, an error and a walk.

The fighting Mounties came from behind in the eighth to beat the Seals.

Vancouver had led 1-0 from the third until the Seals tied it in the sixth, and went ahead in the top of the eighth on Ken Aspromonte's seventh home run.

In the bottom of the stanza, Mountie Jim Marshall tripled home Buddy Peterson, who had walked, and Owen Friend lined a single to right to score Marshall with the winning run.

PLAYOFFS START TONIGHT

Archie, Arrows, Wipe Out Doubts

Arrow Furniture ended all doubt about who belongs in second place in the Senior "A" Men's Softball League Monday night when they blanked Half Way House 5-0 in a play-off game for the runner-up position.

The game was necessary after both teams wound up their regular season Sunday with identical won-lost records, 17-18, as Arrows went down before Gorge and Half Way split with Mayo Lumber in Duncan.

ONLY FOUR HITS

Archie Sluggett, the old guard of the club, turned the trick as he allowed Half Way batters only four hits while striking out four and walking three.

Arrows open their best-of-five semifinal playoffs with Mayos tonight at Central Park while Gorge and Half Way go Thursday in their playoff opener.

Arrows go to Duncan for their second game Friday and return for the third game Sunday.

Second and third games of the series between Gorge and Half Way teams will be played Saturday and Sunday at Central Park.

SUSIE TRAVELS THE EASY WAY

MONTREAL (CP) — Victoria's Susan Butt, last year's Western Canadian junior women's champion got through her first scheduled match at the Canadian tennis championships Monday the easy way—by default.

Miss Butt's scheduled opponent, Miss Miriam Bibace, of Montreal, did not show up.

Mainland Stars Face Farmers Here Tonight

Farmer Construction will be warming up for their Northwestern International Baseball League divisional playoff with Bellingham when they meet a Vancouver all-star team tonight at Royal Athletic Park.

Burnaby manager, Charlie Welbourne, has combined the stars of Burnaby Athletics and Vancouver Young Liberals for the game and the Victorians should have to hustle to win.

The visiting infield is built around that of Burnaby while the outfield and pitching staff is composed mainly of Young Liberal players.

Indications are that Farmer manager Ed Ash will be going along with young Dave Emery in tonight's tussle, holding Bill Prior and Art Worth in reserve for Friday and Saturday dates with the Bells.

The championship series will be a best-of-three affair, starting Friday night with a single game at 8 o'clock and continuing with a possible two games Saturday at 2.30 and 8.

Tonight's game starts at 8.

Lions Cut Three For Rookie Room

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The Britsh Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Conference cut two American imports and a Canadian veteran from their roster Monday.

Out are Steve Palmer, Gerry Duncan and Canadian veteran Davey West. Palmer, first string on last year's team, makes room for newcomer Leo Rucka, formerly of the San Francisco 49'ers.

West makes way for younger Canadian talent, while Duncan is out following the superior showing by Maury Duncan and Toppy Vann in the quarterback slot.

SHOOTING FOR TEAM BERTH

Yvonne Wants Free Trip

CONNAUGHT RANGES, Ont. (CP)—A beautiful brunette from Penticton, B.C., who paid her own way to this summer's National Rifle Association meet at Bisley, England, says she hopes to get a free trip next year, as a member of the Canadian team.

Brown-eyed Yvonne Cousins, 26, is competing against Canada's service riflemen for one of 18 team berths awarded to highest aggregate scorers at the week-long Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet.

Yvonne, an eye-catching sight in dark glasses and tailored sports clothes, attributes her ability with the heavy .303-calibre service rifle largely to her parents.

"They never pushed me into anything," she said in an interview. "They let me choose my own sports."

The formula worked. Yvonne is adept at bowling, badminton and tennis.

Her father, Walter Cousins, a frequent DCRA participant, was unable to attend this year because he broke his foot.

Yvonne's full-time job is collection manager for a finance company. But to pay her way to Bisley she worked as a part-time fashion model and television commentator.

It probably helped her shooting because she had to win prize money to pay for her next meal.

SUPER SALESMAN

Pete Assured Of Ring Fame

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Pete Rademacher is quite a salesman. He has arranged a prize fight guaranteed to go down in ring history whatever the outcome.

Pete also must be somewhat of a Walter Mitty. He has never been in the professional ring in his life (he has only seen two pro fights), but a week from Thursday he will square off with the heavyweight champion of the world.

Something of the philanthropist is in Rademacher, too. For while champ Floyd Patterson is guaranteed $250,000 just to put on the gloves, the chances are good Rademacher won't make a penny—unless he wins and becomes champion.

That is not likely. So perplexed are bookmakers at the spectacle of this 28-year-old amateur taking on the world's best that many of them won't lay any odds. They cannot recall a precedent unless it be the fourth of July 34 years ago when Jack Dempsey almost made a ghost town of Shelby, Mont.

SEATTLE WILL SURVIVE

Seattle will probably survive the fight August 22 but a group of Columbia, Ga., businessmen almost certainly will drop a quarter million dollars. How they were persuaded to put it up is a story in itself.

Rademacher is not a pro but he did win the Olympic title at Melbourne last year. And he feels that he is good enough to get in the ring with the champ, notwithstanding warnings from as far away as London where a boxing writer foresaw the end of the fight game.

Rademacher laughs at the ridicule.

"Everybody in camp seems to be trying to protect me from the wisecracks being made about the fight," he says. "They edit the paper for me. All I get is the front page and the funnies. They even cut out Joe Palooka. They don't want me to read anything about boxing. But I know what people are saying and it rolls off me.

"I go into every fight, I don't care how big he is or how rough he is, with the idea of being relaxed."

What the gate will draw is anybody's guess—and not many are guessing $250,000. Present plans do not call for televising the bout.

It does have some similarities to the fight in 1923 between Dempsey and a veteran but second grade pro named Tom Gibbons. The little town of Shelby, Mont., had struck oil and promoters there decided to put Shelby on the map with a championship fight.

DEMANDED CASH

Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns, demanded a $300,000 guarantee. They got the first $100,000 when they signed and the second 30 days before the fight. When the big day came, and only 23 minutes before fight time, Kearns announced Dempsey would not fight unless they got $50,000 in cash from the gate. The promoters agreed.

Dempsey outpointed Gibbons badly before a crowd of 7,202 in a new stadium built for 40,000. The total gate was far below expectations and Dempsey and Kearns fled with a flying wedge through a crowd of furious oilmen, a number of whom noticeably packed guns.

It may be noted that the main backer of the Seattle fight made a good profit in oil, too.

Duncan Tourney Opens Wednesday

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP) — The combined Pacific Northwest and Vancouver Island open tennis tournament will be held here Wednesday through Saturday.

Paul Willey of Vancouver and Bridget Okell of Victoria will not defend their V.I. open singles titles. Willey is in Eastern Canada and Miss Okell is in England.

Art Jeffrey and Colin Walker of Vancuover will defend their men's doubles titles. Walker will also defend his mixed doubles title with Mrs. Jean Bardsley of Vancouver.

Sharon Whittaker of Victoria, who shared the women's doubles title with Miss Okell, has entered the tournament.

United States entrants include Bill Rose and Tom Clarke, Portland; Jack Lowe, Colin Clegg, Ken Clegg, Ken Burrows and Wally Bostick, all of Seattle.

Patty's Pay Biggest Ever For Women

CHICAGO (AP)—Patty Berg, 39, shot a cool one-over-par 77 Monday to defeat Fay Crocker by two strokes in a playoff for the women's world golf championship at Tam O'Shanter.

Miss Berg, winning the crown for women pros for the fourth time after taking the all-American sideshow of the Tam meet last week for the fifth time, collected $6,000.

Miss Crocker, 37-year-old former U.S. women's open champion from Montevideo, Uruguay, won $2,000.

The payoff, richest in women's golf, boosted Miss Berg into the money-winning lead of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, with a total of $15,768 for the year. Miss Crocker took second place with $10,796.

Long Final Putt Gives Dr. Willing Share of Medal

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Roger Peck has a deep-rooted and sincere appreciation for golf and the finer points of the game.

This appreciation for "the finer points" thus prompted the jovial Tacoma golfer to pour out lavish praise for the putting of Dr. Oscar Willing.

The doctor's putter possibly deprived Peck of medalist honors in the 35th annual Pacific Northwest Seniors' Golf Association tournament, but it didn't stop Roger from marvelling at Dr. Willing's work on those tricky greens that grace Victoria Golf Club.

"That man's a marvel on those greens," said Peck. "Nothing spectacular, you know, but it's the way he knocks down those seven, eight and nine-footers. He just doesn't seem to miss."

LONGEST ON 18TH

Dr. Willing, 1954 titleholder who hails from Portland, saved his longest putt of the day for the 18th. It was a 12-foot stroke that gave him a 71, two over regulation figures for the Oak Bay course, and tied Peck for medal honors.

The two led a field of seven other American entrants who qualified for the championship flight. Four of the seven former champions entered made the top bracket. Besides Dr. Willing and Peck, others are Pete McIntyre, 1955 winner from Trail, and Ralph Whaley, the eight-time champion from Seattle.

The southpaw-swinging McIntyre carded a 75 while Whalley was another stroke behind. Three Victorians—R. D. Clay, Harold Lineham and George Sparling—cracked the championship flight.

Defending champion Cordyn Wagner of Tacoma was forced to withdraw because of business reasons but the first-day surprise was failure of Ed Eisenhower, another Tacoma entrant, to qualify. Eisenhower, seven-time finalist, ran into grief on the back nine to miss qualifying. He shot a 78. A score of 77 was required to qualify, lowest in the history of the tournament.

Others to qualify were Jack Edgell, G. N. Ledger, H. L. Davis, H. J. Zilka and H. Rendall.

Oak Bay Defeated By Eight Wickets

Oak Bay lost by eight wickets to Alcos Saturday in a Victoria and District Cricket Association match at Beacon Hill Park.

It was the second time in a row that Alcos had downed the Bays, having beaten them by seven wickets in their last meeting.

In Saturday's other game, Bob Mainwaring led Albions to a 56-run victory over Cowichan as he batted for 36 runs.

Hughes, five for 15, and Doidge, four for 16, led Albion bowlers in the win.

Stamps Even Account Humble Riders, 26-7

CALGARY, Alta. (BUP) — The Calgary Stampeders evened the score with the Ottawa Roughriders Monday night, trampling the Big Four club 26-7 before some 9,000 fans at Mewata Stadium.

The Riders dropped the Stamps 23-14 in Ottawa Aug. 2, but quarterback Jim Finks made no mistakes Monday, setting up two touchdowns on passes and completing a 45-yard pass play to end Dean Renfro for another. The fourth major was set up by a Stampeder interception.

Besides Renfro, other Calgary touchdowns were scored by Ron Clinkscale with two and former British Columbia Lion Al Pollard with one.

Canadian end Bob Simpson picked up the lone Ottawa major.

The Stamps opened the scoring midway through the first quarter, marching downfield on four successive first downs. Carraway and Clinkscale carried along the ground while Finks completed a pass to Renfro. Clinkscale broke over from the one on his third successive carry. Eddie Simms converted.

The Riders tied the count early in the second quarter when Tom Dimitroff completed a 20-yard pass to Simpson behind the goal line. Homebrew Gary Schrieder kicked the extra point, but the Stamps held the eastern club for the balance of the game.

A Finks to Willie Roberts pass set Clinkscale up for his second touchdown five minutes later. The speedy back rounded left end for seven yards and the major.

Ted Duncan, who held a wide margin in punting all night, intercepted a pass on the Ottawa 27 in the final quarter. Two first downs put the ball on the Ottawa four, from where fullback Pollard hurdled the line for an unconverted major.

The Stamps turned what would have been a single point into a converted major when Ottawa was offside on Duncan's fourth quarter boot into the end zone. The Calgary club took possession on the 45, and on the first play Finks hurled a long pass to Renfro who scooped it in and ran the rest of the way for the final touchdown.

Old Guard Dusting Off Equipment

Lacrosse favorites from bygone days are dusting off their gear today in preparation for Wednesday's Oldtimers' game with Victoria Shamrocks.

The exercise may or may not do the oldtimers much good, but the bona fide benefits will be gained by city youngsters who perform under the Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association banner.

Wednesday's outing, along with added attractions featuring midget teams and the junior Rocks, has been arranged in an effort to raise some funds for minor lacrosse.

ALL SET

Ready to take on the current Mann Cup aspirants will be former stars such as Arnie Ferguson, Len Scott, Duff McCaghey, Bobbie Monaghan, Ed Popham, Larry Booth, Art Green and Harry Irwin.

The contest is also expected to keep the rust from settling on Shamrocks as they wait for Nanaimo Timbermen and New Westminster to declare an Intercity League finalist.

The midget contest, between Saanich Farmers and an all-star club, will open proceedings at 7.30 p.m.

Second Aces Come Easier!

John Knott waited 37 years before scoring his first hole-in-one. That came in June.

The second, it appears, comes easier.

The veteran golfer, playing at Cedar Hill club, marked up his second ace, at the weekend, when he used a seven iron to hole out on the 130-yard, par-three sixth hole.

He was competing with C. Barlow, H. Bell and T. Jones.

NEW YORK—Orlando Zulueta, 137, Cuba outpointed Frankie Ippolito, 140, New York, 10.

WARD'S ADDING ERROR SUBTRACTS GOLF CROWN

CHICAGO (AP) — A scorecard error Sunday cost defending champion Ward Wettlaufer a chance of retaining his world amateur golf title.

The winner was singer Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., who finished with a 72-total of 296. So did Wettlaufer, but he was penalized two strokes for signing a card showing a final round 76 instead of a correct 77. So Wettlaufer's total, with penalty, was a 298.

A ruling giving the championship to Cherry was announced just as the two players prepared to tee off on a sudden-death playoff.

The miscue dropped Wettlaufer to a third-place finish, with Howard Everitt, a Northfield, N.J., salesman, taking second with 297.

"I was just excited and didn't check the card close enough," said Wettlaufer.

Boden Enters Money Ranks

By ERNIE FEDORUK

One of the Island's up-and-coming young golfers is turning professional.

Norm Boden, 21-year-old member of Gorge Vale Club, announced this morning his decision to join the play-for-pay ranks. City and Gorge Vale Club champion last year, Norm will work this summer as assistant pro under popular Joe Pryke at Gorge Vale.

The studious youngster, always a keen enthusiant of the game, said he wants to make golf his career.

"I think this will afford me my best chance," he said.

He plans to play in as many of the nearby tournaments as possible next season and, if successful, intends to plan on a tournament career. If he should later decide against playing on the tournament trail, he will have a teaching career to fall back on.

The announcement comes as Boden was successfully moving along in club championship play. He reached the semifinals Sunday, along with Mel Carlow and Ron Cush, by firing a two-under-par 70 to beat Harry Donaldson 4 and 3.

Boden, who will be allowed to continue in the club event, now meets either John Merriman or Jack Storrie in one semifinal match next Sunday while Cush tackles Carlow.

Cush had to go to the 19th for the second time in the tournament before he defeated Jack Clark. The previous week, Ron beat John Carlow. Cush came up with a birdie three to nail down his latest extra-hole decision. Mel Carlow scored something of an upset when he downed Jim McColl, Jr., 4 and 2.

In the "B" championship bracket, Sid Holland, Bert Thirlwell, Barrie Wade and Ron Milne cracked the fours.

The Island's junior golfers will stage an 18-hole medal tournament at Victoria Club next Sunday to determine three representatives in the Vancouver Junior Masters' tournament scheduled to be held Sept. 7.

The three who qualify for the tournament, part of the junior development program, will receive an all-expenses paid trip to Vancouver for the event.

Two boys will be chosen from the 15 - 18 bracket and another from the 10-14 division. The tourney will be staged at Marine Drive.

City youngsters wishing to enter the qualifying round are asked to submit their entries to club secretaries as soon as possible.

The draw sheet in the Royal Colwood Golf Club shows Vince Clarkson as a 4 and 3 victor over Laurie Kerr, an acknowledged upset insofar as the club championships go.

What the progress chart fails to show, however, is that this was a "battle between buddies."

"Vince," retorts Laurie, "didn't let me down. My putter did."

The two made headlines together when they met in the final of the 1956 Island Open. Kerr won 3 and 2.

Clarkson's biggest booster, Laurie ran into grief on the greens Sunday. He three-putted four greens while Vince was turning in a steady round to move into the quarter-finals.

Another upset, of sorts, was Cy Spaven's one-up victory over Tom Harris, Jr. Defending champion Bill McColl moved another step forward by ousting Mike Bartkow, 3 and 1, while Dick Hanley went to the 19th before disposing of Bobby Wood.

George Andrews, Vic Painter, young Ken Brousseau and Don Ross also romped into the quarter-finals. Andrews beat George Sparling, 3 and 2; Painter defeated Jim Robertson, 2 and 1; Brousseau edged Gil Anderson, 4 and 3, while Ross sidelined Harold Lineham, 2 and 1.

Mickey Still in Battle Despite Ted's Splurge

By United Press

Ted Williams' personal duel with Mickey Mantle and a five-man battle for the National League batting championship took over the spotlight today when the major league pennant races resumed.

The races themselves were shoved somewhat into the background with both the New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves riding the crest of 5½-game lead over their closest pursuers. Both have reached a point where the team they have most to fear is themselves.

The various contenders for the batting titles, however, seem to have just begun to fight.

The American League struggle is the more spectacular because Williams, the Boston Red Sox' 39-year-old perfectionist, and Mantle, the Yankees' 25-year-old nature boy, seem destined to fight it out in the rarified atmosphere of .400. When they face each other in Boston tonight, Williams will start with an eight-point edge—.387 to .379—and it could be that the eventual winner will have to hit .400.

AMAZING PACE

Williams has been hitting at an amazing .500 clip since the July 11 all-star game and there are no signs that he will taper off sharply in the remaining 44 games of the season. He is gunning for his fifth batting title with an average that he has topped only once in a full season—in 1941 when he hit .406.

Mantle, meanwhile, has been staging a spectacular drive of his own with a .565 average for his last 14 games. He is gunning for the unprecedented feat of winning two triple crowns in succession and with 123 walks is a good bet to wipe out Babe Ruth's season mark of 170.

SECOND WITH .408

Both sluggers are currently hitting higher than any major leaguer has accomplished over a full season since Williams' .406 in a duel that may eventually invite comparison with the 1911 batting race. That season Shoeless Joe Jackson hit .408 but lost the title to Ty Cobb's .420!

The five National League contenders aren't battling it out at such a lofty figure but it's still one of the best fights the old circuit has seen in many years.

Defending champion Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves is the current leader at .338 with 36-year-old Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals next at .332, shortstop Dick Groat of the Pittsburgh Pirates third at .330 and Willie Mays of the New York Giants and Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Redlegs tied for fourth at .329.

HANK FAVORED

Aaron had hit only .222 in a recent 15-game batting slump but snapped out of it over the weekend and must be considered the favorite. Hank won the title last season with a comparatively low .328 average and concedes he'll probably have to reach .340 to repeat.

Musial, the early-season sensation of the league, seems tired by the strain of the pennant scramble and may be in need of a rest. He, too, has faded in recent weeks (.290 in the last 18 games) and it must be remembered that he hasn't won a title since 1952.

Groat, Mays and Robinson have been the "hot" hitters of the league for the last three weeks (ranging from Groat's .365 to Robinson's .420 over that span) and Groat and Mays have the advantage of not having to worry about a pennant race. Aaron and Robinson will be facing each other in Cincinnati tonight, Musial played an afternoon game in Chicago, Groat and the Pirates are at Philadelphia and Mays and the Giants entertain the Brooklyn Dodgers at the Polo Grounds.

Green Light For 9-Mile Hydro Tunnel

The B.C. Electric Co. has been given the go-ahead by the Public Utilities Commission for a new hydro development in connection with its Cheakamus River project north of Squamish.

The company has been granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity for the "Brandywine Development," involving a nine-mile tunnel from the Cheakamus River Dam, and two 110,000-horsepower turbines at the powerhouse on Daisy Lake reservoir.

This second development will utilize the water backed up into Cheakamus Lake by a 60-foot high storage dam now under construction.

Its power potential will be more than double that of the original Cheakamus project, which will have two 95,000-horsepower turbines at its generating station.

The company will run a transmission loop from the Brandywine powerhouse to its main Bridge River transmission line a mile away.

Economic Woe Prods Polish Red Activity

WARSAW (AP) — Poland's Communist party has ended a country-wide series of pep meetings to prod members to action in the face of mounting economic troubles.

Reports indicate many of the party's 1,400,000 members have withdrawn from all political work. Only the party leadership knows what proportion remains active after the shocks of de-Stalinization, the Poznan uprising and the Hungarian revolution. Estimates here in the capital run from 250,000 to 750,000.

The party's insistence that only a Communist-led production drive can improve living standards and bring real freedom has run into renewed trouble with the workers it was designed to impress.

Industrial production, up to plan during the first five months of the year, slumped during the summer and the party headed by Wladyslaw Gomulka is alarmed.

Seamen End Boycott

BOMBAY (Reuters) — Indian seamen called off their boycott of foreign ships in Bombay port following an agreement between them and foreign shipping lines on payment of a subsistence allowance. The boycott began Aug. 2 with rejection of the seamen's demand for an allowance of three rupees (about 63 cents) each per day, to be paid from the day of selection for service. Hitherto they had to wait for days before they could claim the allowance.

'SNUCK' ABOARD WITH ADULTS

Missing Boy Took Boat Trip

NANAIMO — A six-year-old boy missing from his home here since Sunday was located in Vancouver Monday after having "snuck on" the ferry between the two cities.

RCMP said today this was the only explanation they could think of how the boy, Raymond Lewis, ward of his grandfather Louis Guizzo, had managed to get to the Mainland.

"He probably went aboard the ferry with a group of older people," said the RCMP.

The child had been picked up by police when seen wandering about Vancouver's waterfront.

WANDERED BEFORE

He had been missing from his home since 1 p.m. Sunday, and word was receieved of his whereabouts the following day from an aunt in the Mainland city, Mrs. Violet Cooper.

Raymond had wandered away before, but had always turned up before dark.

RCMP had started to organize a search and the tracking dog "Tim" was brought down from Parksville.

NANAIMO — Three persons are in Nanaimo General Hospital here today after a two-car crash seven miles south of here Monday night.

Suffering a fractured pelvis is Dick Bellis, 18, of Massett, B.C.; Clyde Gordon, 21, with undisclosed back injuries, Rossland, and Hugh Currie, about 40, with a broken knee and lacerations. Currie was driver of one of the cars, in which he was alone.

They were Carolyn Morley, 14, Nanaimo; Edward McGregor, 18, Alberni; Robert Jones, 20, Port Alberni, and Joe Garcia, 19, Bamfield.

Police said the car driven by Jones was travelling south on the Island Highway and made a left turn into a drive-in theatre and collided with the car driven by Currie.

The youths involved were students at the Dominion-Provincial Vocational Training School here.

Damage to both cars was described as extensive.

NANAIMO—Members of the civil defence organization here have recommended buying CD uniforms for women members and 20 caps for CD police.

Caps would cost $4 each and uniforms $32. Financial assistance would be provided through the provincial organization.

Uniform costs prohibit their use by the full membership.

For Civil Defence Day, Oct. 4, mock rescue demonstrations will be held and store window displays of emergency food and first aid equipment will be shown.

The organization is studying simulated evacuation of Nanaimo General Hospital as one of the exercises.

NANAIMO—Drive for membership is progressing favorably here by branch No. 10 of the Canadian Legion.

Secretary Fred Steeds said plans have been made for a mass initiation at the first meeting after the summer recess Sept. 5.

Membership of the branch is now 850 and aim is to bring this up to 1,000 by Christmas.

WHERE NEXT, asks 10-year-old Jimmy as he and his father, J. L. Cunliffe, 2117 McNeil, look over the licence plates on George Rose's van before he moves their furniture to Dawson City.

Trucker to 'Blaze Trail' On Run Near Arctic Circle

A Victoria driver will be "blazing trail" for Vancouver Island truckers this week when he makes a run to Dawson City, Yukon, only 150 miles south of the Arctic Circle.

Expecting to start the 2,780-mile trip northward Tuesday night, hauling four tons of household furniture belonging to a Victoria bank official, is George Rose, 1527 Prior.

"I don't anticipate any special problems but I'll be packing some heavy clothing because I hear the nights get pretty cold up there," he said.

Mr. Rose, who has piled up almost 500,000 miles in cross-country trips to eastern Canada during seven years with Heaney Cartage and Storage Ltd., said "it won't be my longest trip but it sure will be a change."

BANKER

The furniture, which will be making the northward equivalent of a move almost to Toronto, belongs to J. L. Cunliffe, 2117 McNeil. Mr. Cunliffe, officer in charge of the loan department at the Bank of Montreal's Douglas and Yates branch, is being transferred as manager of the Dawson City branch.

The 175-horsepower diesel tractor and its trailer will be ferried to Vancouver to start its overland trip, first going south through Washington and Idaho and then re-entering British Columbia at Kingsgate.

From the boundary, it will travel north through Crow's Nest Pass to Edmonton and then turn onto the Alaska Highway as far as Whitehorse. The last stretch will be almost due north over small gravel roads to Dawson City.

Until recent years, an airlift was the only method of reaching the destination. The old itinerary for shipments from Victoria was the steamer running up to Skagway from Vancouver where it would be transferred to the White Pass and Yukon Railway arriving at Whitehorse for trans-shipment to Dawson City by air.

"This is the first time, to our knowledge, that a provincial van has gone that far north from Vancouver Island," an official of the cartage company said.

At Dawson City, a similar load of household goods will be loaded for the return trip, belonging to John Wakley, Mr. Cunliffe's predecessor, who is being transferred by the bank to Vancouver.

Mr. Rose, who will be travelling alone, expects to complete the round trip in three or four weeks, "about the same time that a cross-country takes."

Mr. and Mrs. Cunliffe and their 10-year-old son, Jim, who expect to spend about three years in the northern community of some 800 people, will take the easy way there.

"We're flying to Vancouver Wednesday to catch the steamer for Juneau. From there we'll fly to Whitehorse and then to Dawson City," Mr. Cunliffe said.

With the bank 32 years, he has served in almost all areas of B.C., "but this is my longest move and first time out of the province."

The family doesn't expect to "rough it" in the tundra wilds because the bank is supplying a house with all the comforts of home including an automatic oil-fired furnace.

But young Jimmy will have to rough it at school.

"The school burned down a week before the holidays," Mrs. Cunliffe said, "so it will be in temporary quarters until a new one is built."

Jimmy just grinned at the prospect. Eskimo land appeals to a grade-fiver.

480 Laid Off As Logging Camps Close for Month

Two Vancouver Island logging operations of B.C. Forest Products employing 480 men have been closed down for a month.

The layoff includes the normal three-week holiday for loggers, extended a week this year.

About 250 men have been laid off at the Port Renfrew operation and about 230 at Lake Cowichan.

All but 100 will be employed again when production starts Sept. 9. Others will be dropped due to curtailed markets, company spokesmen said.

Museum Conference

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal and Quebec will be the dual scene next month for the three-day northeast conference of the American Association of Museums, it was announced Monday.

7 PERPETUAL TROPHIES

Entry Lists Ready For Metchosin Fair

METCHOSIN — Entry lists for the Fall Fair at Luxton Hall, Saturday, Aug. 24, under auspices of Metchosin and District Farmers' Institute, are now available.

To be officially opened at 2 p.m., the fair program will include crowning of the "queen," a midway and sport events. Lunch will be served by the Happy Valley Women's Institute.

There are seven perpetual trophies. The Hudson's Bay Company will award the trophy for the highest number of firsts in vegetables and field crop sections. For dairy products Woodward's Stores Ltd. (Victoria), will give the award. Rockgas Co. (Victoria)) has donated the trophy for the winner of the highest points in the poultry section.

Perpetual trophies will also be awarded by Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes, VC, for the highest points in goats, and by J. M. Whitney for the best pen of sheep.

In the home cooking and home canning sections the trophy has been donated by the B.C. Electric Co.

For the best artistic arrangement of flowers, Miss M. L. A. Savory, Langford Lake, has donated the trophy.

There is a special class for ladies 70 years of age and over exhibiting any kind of fancy work.

FOR YOUNGSTERS

In the junior division a perpetual trophy donated by Peoples Credit Jewellers, Ltd., will be awarded the winner with the highest number of points in the age group 11 to 16 years. In the group 6 to 10 years, an engraved rose bowl has been donated by the Colwood Branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Exhibits must be placed in the hall on Friday night, Aug. 23, between 8 and 10 p.m. Entries must be in the hands of the secretary, Mrs. Mina Christie, 2784 Sooke Road, R.R. 2, Victoria, not later than noon, Aug. 21.

Secretary-manager of the fair is S. Hiscock; treasurer, Mrs. V. Hiscock; entry secretary, Mrs. W. Christie; committee, F. H. Staverman, P. Colclough, V. Jopp, W. Dawson, D. Richards, Miss M. Potts, Mrs. E. K. Goffin and J. L. Williamson.

Fall Fair at Sooke Set for Sept. 7

SOOKE—The Sooke Fall Fair will be held in the community hall here Sept. 7 with six sections and nearly 200 events.

The junior sections are especially heavy and includes needlecraft, art, poster competition, photography and poultry and other livestock showings.

The fair will be opened at 1 p.m. by Col. Thomas Moore and stays open to 9 p.m.

NANAIMO—Honors came to roost here when Jaycees who traveled with the civic float to Mount Vernon, Wash., returned with the Skagit County Fair Perpetual Trophy for the best-out-of-town float in that city's parade Saturday.

The float was graced by Miss Nainaimo, Judy Mills, 18, and her princess, Pat Johnson and Jennifer Austin.

The float will appear at the PNE parade in Vancouver.

Two Men Hurt In Plane Crash At Qualicum

QUALICUM—A single-engine plane bound for Powell River crashed taking off from the air strip here Monday night and the two occupants suffered minor injuries.

One man is unidentified as yet, believed from Powell River. The other is Richard White, Nanaimo.

A doctor from Parksville was called to the scene and treated the Nanaimo man for a broken nose and the other for a forehead cut.

The plane piled up in the trees near the air strip, tearing off part of a wing and crumpling the tail. It came to rest upside down.

YOUTHS SAIL CANOE ON OPEN PACIFIC

Three teenage Indian youths sailed their 16-foot canoe from Carmanah Point lighthouse on Vancouver Island's west coast 20 miles north of Port Renfrew, 40 miles across the open Pacific to the U.S. over the weekend.

The trio, David Tate, Webster Thompson and Elmer Thompson, all between 17 and 18, were working on the lighthouse, and failed to show up after work at their homes at Clo-oose, six miles away.

The RCAF and U.S. coastguard were alerted.

The youths slept in the canoe Friday night, checked through U.S. customs Saturday, and spent the remainder of the weekend exploring Neah Bay.

They returned home Sunday night.

Amalgamation Vote Delayed in Saanich

Coun. Leslie Passmore Monday night withdrew his plan to seek a December referendum on the question of Saanich amalgamation with Victoria.

The councillor had earlier served notice of motion that he would ask for a referendum on a straight yes-or-no basis on amalgamation.

In withdrawing the notice, he said he was doing so "for the time."

He said such a motion at this time would "confuse the issue" when ratepayers vote Saturday on proposed transfer of funds to enable construction of a $225,000 municipal hall permanent addition.

"Whether ratepayers know it or not, they will be voting next Saturday on amalgamation. The people of Esquimalt and Oak Bay have postponed amalgamation by building hall additions," Coun. Passmore said.

At this point he was interrupted by Reeve Arthur Ash who said he could not speak to a motion before making it.

The councillor made it clear the notice of motion stands, however.

Later he said, "Those opposed to amalgamation will perhaps vote in favor of the hall and those who are in favor of amalgamation will oppose the hall, there's no doubt about that."

Reeve Ash replied:

"The referendum as submitted Aug. 17 has nothing whatever to do with amalgamation. Why you should say the building of the municipal hall addition has anything to do with amalgamation I cannot understand," the reeve said.

"You are only trying to confuse the issue. It is an absolutely untrue and unwarranted statement to make."

It will be open house for Saanich ratepayers at Royal Oak municipal hall Wednesday from 7-9 p.m.

Council has arranged for municipal staff members to be on hand to illustrate by crowded, inefficient conditions of work the need for expanded office space.

Also Wednesday, at 8 p.m., councillors will paint the municipal hall picture to interested taxpayers at a public meeting in Douglas CCF hall.

Another public meeting will be held Thursday at 8 in Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall.

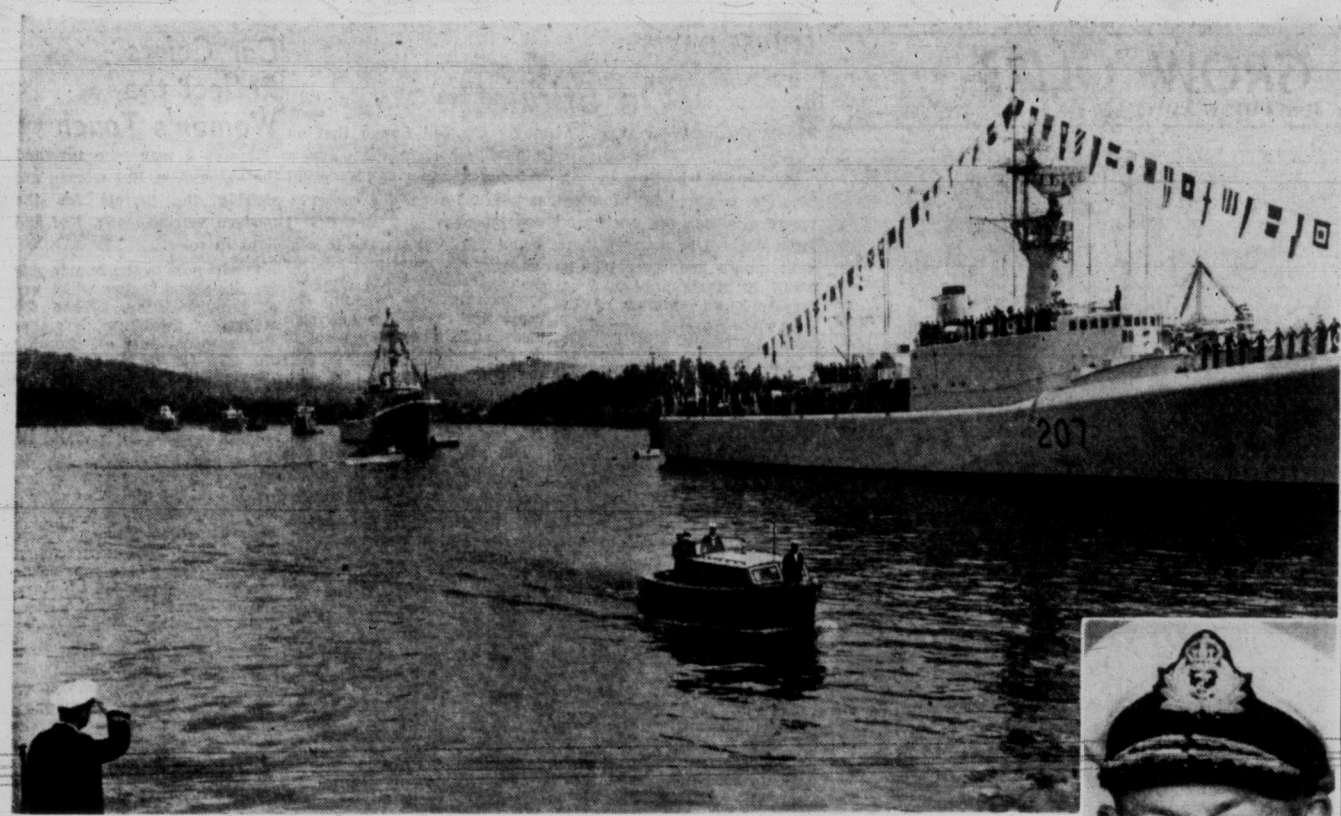
VICTORIA, B.C., TUESDAY, AUGUST 13, 1957 13



REAR-ADM. H. F. PULLEN
In green admiral's barge, Rear-Admiral Pullen coasted by 11 ships in review in Esquimalt Harbor this morning. Crews "cheered ship" for the admiral who is leaving to boss Atlantic Coast.

Miniature Spithead Review Honors Pullen

Eleven ships of the RCN Pacific Command staged a miniature Spithead review as Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen today began his last 24 hours as Flag Officer, Pacific Coast.

At 9 a.m. Wednesday he will turn over the command to Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner before leaving for his new position as Flag Officer, Atlantic Coast.

Today the Pacific Command ships rode to anchor in Esquimalt Harbor, in two mist-grey lines as the flag officer in his bright green admiral's barge coasted by the ships.

As the barge passed alongside, officers and men cheered ship for the admiral who has "bossed" the Pacific Coast for the past two years.

It was the first such farewell ever staged on this coast, and a fitting one for a flag officer who has kept his ships at sea for a total of over 1,000,000 miles in training and operational cruises since he assumed command.

The eleven ships, dressed overall in colorful flags, were: HMC Ships Ontario, Cayuga, Athabaskan, Skeena, Fraser, New Glasgow, Jonquiere, Fortune, James Bay, Port Quebec and Oriole.

Following the admiral's review, the second day's events opened in the annual fleet regatta. First event was the open cutter race, won by cadets from HMCS Venture by a good 12 lengths.

The regatta was scheduled to conclude at 4 p.m. with prize giving by Admiral Pullen on the quarterdeck of HMCS Ontario.

Malahat Paving To Await Spring

Main Work To Be Completed By Oct. 1, Says Gaglardi

Except for the final asphalt coating, the Malahat will be completed by Oct. 1, Highways Minister Gaglardi said today.

Of the nine miles still under construction, four and a half up to the summit on the south side will be finished in a week and the remainder on the other side in the next six weeks.

Mr. Gaglardi blamed poor weather this summer for failure to have the work done before.

Highways department engineers said the finished paving will not be applied until spring so that the road bed will have a chance to settle.

But the road will be almost as good as new, if not quite as smooth, an official said.

The "cold" road mix that will be put down within the next few weeks will be the same as the finished paving used on P.C. roads "not so long ago," he said.

The partial paving will stand up to winter weather, it was stated.

Gaglardi Defends Road Contractors

Highways Minister Gaglardi made a ringing defence today of work done in 1955 on the Cassiar-Stewart Road by Wade and Wells Ltd. of Trail.

Critics of the work would have to "eat their words" if they went over the northern road and saw its good condition, Mr. Gaglardi said.

He made the comments after making a personal inspection tour with Mines Minister Kiernan, whose department is paying for the project.

JUST AS GOOD

Mr. Gaglardi said it was his first trip over the road and although he didn't go over all of the 67 miles completed by Wade and Wells, "everyone told me the other sections were just as good."

Work done by Wade and Wells was strongly criticized early last year and was the subject of a sensational legislative committee inquiry.

It was charged that the road was sub-standard and that public funds had been squandered through the no-tender, cost-plus contract given out by former mines minister R. E. Sommers. The committee rose without making a report.

GREATEST HOAX

"After I went over the road," Mr. Gaglardi said today, "my first reaction was that the province of British Columbia had been treated to the greatest hoax by the critics of the construction in the Dease Lake-Cassiar area.

"I would invite anyone, anywhere, to travel over the road and find me a better constructed road for the same cost any place in the province of British Columbia."

Speeds of up to 70 miles an hour are possible on some sections, the highways minister said.

NEW CONTRACT

Mr. Gaglardi also announced his department has awarded a contract for construction of another 25.5 miles of work on the Cassiar-Stewart Road alongside Dease Lake to Piggott Construction Co. Ltd. of Dawson Creek.

The firm submitted the lowest of nine bids at $1,302,947. Wade and Wells submitted a bid of $700,000 which was rejected because the performance bond cheque was not certified.

It is expected that work will start later this month, for the first time since the fall of 1955. Tenders will be called on all remaining work. The federal government will pay half the estimated $12,000,000 cost.

Mr. Gaglardi said the southern terminus of the road has not yet been decided and he will return later this year to make a decision between Stewart or the head of Alice Arm.

Island Areas Short-Changed On New Roads

Chambers Plan Strong Protest

The Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island, meeting in Nanaimo Monday, resolved that the Island "is not yet getting its fair and proper share of new roads."

They decided to incorporate this complaint in a brief to be presented to Premier Bennett and his cabinet next Tuesday.

A tentative brief drawn up by Arnold Webb, secretary of the Associated Chambers, was read and approved with some alterations and additions.

It stated that "while we appreciate the efforts put forward by the provincial highways department, the program is too little and too late.

"The tourist season has come and nearly gone but the Alberni-Tofino road is still not completed. The Jordan River-Renfrew road is barely completed; the Malahat has been a mess all season and survey crews have been taken off the northern extension of the Island Highway to Port Hardy."

The government will be asked to spend more money on Island roads since they are "capable of drawing millions of tourists annually."

The brief adds:

"Boards and chambers of this Island are fed up with getting only half a loaf. They want roads—finished roads. They do not begrudge the mainland with its good fortune but ask that Vancouver Island should not be overlooked."

Other suggestions to be placed before the cabinet are:

Island-wide representation on the tourist committee to be set up by the new provincial department of recreation.

Retention of government establishments on Vancouver Island since "the Island is traditionally and historically the seat of government in the province."

Orderly development of the resources of the Island in relation to agriculture, forestry, parks, industrial areas and urban housing developments.

Conservation and development of sport fishing on the Island in view of the diminishing supplies of fish.

G. Conway Parrott, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, was in the chair.

MONTE ROBERTS

Glad Eyes, the voice of 2-3131, is going on holiday soon.

This is a source of great sadness to those of us who benefit from her never-failing courtesy, kindness, efficiency, and joi de vive.

In fact, we who are accustomed to jiggling the telephone madly in continual competition to be the first of about 20 supplicants to get an outside line, will hardly know what to do without Glad Eyes.

And those of you who are accustomed to phone in with kindly messages (such as "I've been misquoted" and "Cancel my subscription") will also miss her voice—known far and wide as the voice with the built-in smile.

Glad Eyes, on the other hand, is not a bit sad about going on her holidays.

In fact, she is looking forward to them with such eager anticipation, I believe she has already benefited, without even leaving the switchboard.

The only drawback to these holidays of Glad Eyes is, she began planning for them so long ago.

About two months back, she decided where she was going, and how she would get there, and when she would leave.

But two months seemed such a long time to wait.

"I don't go on my holidays for two whole months," Glad Eyes would mourn, and we all felt so sorry for her.

Then, one morning, I noticed she was smiling and happy, and I asked her why.

"Because," chortled Glad Eyes, "I am going on my holidays, and my holidays start just one week from five weeks from the Thursday after next."

"My goodness," I said, staggering away, "you've almost left."

And thus it went. "I leave one day less than a week from four weeks from next Friday," she greeted me one morning.

Then it was: "I'm going, only a week from the Thursday after the Thursday of next week."

I truly believe Glad Eyes has stumbled upon the secret of speeding time.

Now, if, for the benefit of us old codgers, she could only slow it down. . . .

I hope and trust you have a happy, happy, holiday, Glad Eyes.

Bad Weather Causing Losses In Honey Crop

Vancouver Island beekeepers this year face a loss of over 1,000,000 pounds of honey due to poor weather.

The Island's normal honey crop is about 3,200,000 pounds.

"Famine is facing the bee population," George V. Wilkinson, secretary of the Vancouver Island Branch, B.C. Honey Producers' Association, said.

Some hives are already starving he said, because the bees are unable to obtain sufficient nectar from flower plants and trees. The plants are not producing the nectar because of cool nights and lack of sunshine.

"The bees are working twice as hard as they normally do," he said, "and are getting less for their efforts."

Producers estimate that some hives will produce just about enough honey for their upkeep during the winter months. This amounts to about 60 pounds per hive, meaning they won't have honey to spare for the beekeeper.

"It's one of the worst seasons we have had," said Mr. Wilkinson. "In some cases, beekeepers are feeding the bees with syrup to keep their hives from starving."

Harbor Hassle Aired

Greater Victoria Centennial Committee has asked the federal government to dredge the inner harbor but Mayor Percy Scurrah today opposed the project.

The committee plans a 1958 harbor area decoration project which is estimated to cost as high as $200,000.

"But it would be useless to put up thousands of dollars for causeway decorations if the harbor remains in its present nauseous and filthy condition," said committee secretary, Capt. D. J. Proudfoot.

Mayor Scurrah, who has a copy of a letter written by Capt. Proudfoot to minister of federal public works, Howard Green, says any dredging at present would weaken the causeway.

"No dredging can take place there until there is a retaining wall built in front of the present causeway," said the mayor.

"It has a tendency to slip. There are signs such a condition exists. The engineer (J. C. Garnet) is quite definite in stating no dredging can possibly be done at the moment.

"We have plans to build a wide retaining wall at a level which would permit boats to tie up and would also be used as a promenade—after the harbor was dredged.

HAVE TO WAIT

"We think it is important this improvement be done. The only fly in the ointment is that the engineer figures it would probably cost $200,000 or $250,000—and we just haven't got the money . . . it will just have to wait."

Captain Proudfoot estimated if the top six inches of silt were removed the harbor odor would improve.

"If you move that muck you must increase the strain," said the mayor. "There are slight signs of movement." He added the engineer does not think the present causeway is in critical condition.

Captain Proudfoot said his letter to the federal works minister was phrased in a "strong" manner.

"It will probably get me in trouble," he added, but he pointed out there has been heavy support to the decoration project.

Decorations would include wide use of planters and shrubs. Although the committee would not be footing the bill, cost would range between $150,000 and $200,000 for the 12-month decoration program in 1958, the secretary estimated.

"But what's the use of putting up beautiful things if the environment is filthy?" he asked.

New Councillor Gives Views On Saanich Hall

Saanich council has not made it clear that a proposed $225,000 municipal hall addition will be a permanent structure, new councillor George Chatterton said today.

He also disagrees in part with the method council's special hall committee has used in getting plans and estimates on the building.

"I don't think working drawings are necessary at this stage. Sketch plans would have served until firm estimates were obtained, like the school boards do," he said.

$10,000 FEES

"If the plebescite fails (ratepayers vote Saturday on the hall by-law), the municipality stands a chance of losing $10,000, or in that neighborhood, in architect's fees.

"This is the real thing. There's no use kidding the people that this is a temporary structure. You don't spend a quarter million dollars on a temporary building.

"I don't think council has made that sufficiently clear."

He disagreed that an affirmative vote on the addition would kill discussion on amalgamation of Saanich with Victoria, and possibly a joint municipal hall.

AMALGAMATION

"I think we should find out about amalgamation. The new addition does not close the door on amalgamation, but it will draw it out a little longer.

"A vote might be indicative, but I don't think it will necessarily mean those who vote for the addition are against amalgamation."

He opposes amalgamation unless a study of the subject shows it will be of advantage to Saanich.

American Boats To Join Outboard Fete

Dozens of outboard enthusiasts from throughout Vancouver Island, including two groups from the Victoria Outboard Club, will hold their annual rendezvous and salmon barbecue Saturday, Aug. 17, at Friday Harbor.

Hundreds of boats will be present for what is described as the biggest boating event of the year in this area. Boats will come from U.S. points.

Stan Pollard is cruise captain of one VOC group and Frank Baylis of the other.

Police Awaiting Picture Of Plane Theft Suspect

Central Saanich police await a photograph of a suspect held by police in Arizona for possible identification by witnesses here in connection with theft of an aircraft last month.

The FBI is conducting an investigation and have informed Central Saanich police their suspect may also have stolen a plane in the U.S.

The aircraft stolen from Butler Bros. airstrip on Keating Crossroad about July 29 is owned by Rudy Kwiram, 1032 Oliphant. It is a Stinson, vermillion and white, seats four and is valued at $4,000. It was not insured and has not been located.

At least three persons told police they saw a dark, leather-jacketed man hanging around Patricia Bay airport and near the Keating landing strip before the theft was reported.

Arizona police informed Central Saanich police the suspect was being held Aug. 6.

Workers Rushing Preparations For School Term

Preparation of schools and grounds for re-opening September 3 is being rushed by Greater Victoria School Board.

Scrapers and graders are preparing new playground areas at Lansdowne Junior High School. Gordon Head grounds expansion is already complete and men and equipment will move this week to Colquitz Junior High.

Authorities also report installation of additional desks is under way to meet a record enrolment which will see 23 more classrooms in use than were filled when the last term was completed.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A 7½ per cent wage increase, retroactive to July 1, has been won by about 225 employees of Sidney Roofing and Paper Co.—raising the basic wage to $1.70 an hour. Three weeks' vacation with pay after 10 years' service, starting in 1958, also is in the new contract.

BEST B.C.-PRODUCED FIGHTER LIKES PATTERSON

McLarnin Practices Footwork In Canadian Oil Investments

The best boxer-fighter ever produced in B.C. is a visitor to Victoria today.

Jimmy McLarnin, former world's welterweight titleholder, is visiting his sister, Mrs. W. I. Hillier, Normandy Road. With him are his wife, Lilian, and four children — Ellen, Jean, Nancy and Jimmy, Jr.

At 50, Jimmy is a successful businessman with a home in Glendale, Calif., and investments in Canada and the United States. The manager who guided him to ring eminence, "Pop" Foster, also gave him wise counsel on husbanding his money.

Among McLarnin's investments are substantial holdings in a Canadian oil-development company, of which he is a director.

But the businessman McLarnin gives way to the ex-fighter when professional boxing is mentioned.

"I love to watch a good fight," he said today. "A good, evenly matched fight, not a slaughter.

He saw the Patterson-Jackson heavyweight title bout on TV, and by way of comment, shook his head sadly.

"Jackson is a good, strong boy, but doesn't know how to fight with his head," he commented. "When I first saw him, I thought he had the makings — strong body, long reach. But he didn't learn to box."

As a fighter, Jimmy was an expert on boxing and footwork, as well as a deadly puncher. That he was able to defend himself is shown by his unmarked face—a slightly flattened nose is the only hallmark of his trade.

Of the coming Patterson-Rademacher fight, which McLarnin intends to watch from ringside, he commented:

"A good pro can beat a good amateur. I have to pick Patterson."

He calls Patterson a "good young fighter. He's too young yet to see whether he can be classed with Louis or Dempsey."

McLarnin, who also visited his hometown of Vancouver on the way here, will return to the mainland for a bit of fishing and additional relaxing after spending three or four days on the Island.

Extra Big Paper Doll Fun For Little Girl to Dress

By PENNY SAVER

I'm sure I've found the biggest paper doll in town! She stands a full 20 inches tall (I measured her), and is as pretty as can be. The doll is of a very heavy cardboard and has a support so that she can stand up.

She has a complete paper wardrobe—even a ski outfit. The doll and her clothes come in a neat cellophane package for 85 cents, and would provide a little girl with many hours of fun.

A child would enjoy a flower paintbook on a rainy day. The pictures of roses, hyacinths and many others have guides giving the correct colors. The book is 25 cents.

LETTERING TOOL

Lettering posters and signs with a paintbrush is difficult for an amateur. Unless the brush is shaped to the correct wedge, it tends to splutter and make it hard to get clean outlines to the letters.

There's a steel-headed "brush" on the market that makes the job much easier. The serrated and hinged steel head gives a tidy outline to even elaborate letters and is easily cleaned.

The complete brush is $1.50, with three widths to choose from, and separate heads in different sizes can be bought for $1.35.

The brush can be used with its own special ink, which comes in blue, red, yellow and brown at 50 cents a bottle, or with ordinary India ink in a wide variety of colors at 45 cents.

It'll soon be time to start buying school supplies. Boxes of regulation school water colors (eight to a box) are on sale at one store — they're reduced from 75 cents to 48 cents.

NO LAUNDRY

Colorful paper tablecloths and serviettes will add a gay note to a child's party, and you won't have a laundry problem afterwards.

I found them in white with wide checked borders in yellow, green, pink or blue. The tablecloth is 55 cents, the serviettes 35 cents a package.

Matching waxed paper cups are 29 cents for half dozen.

The "Blue Willow" china pattern is used for pretty paper cocktail napkins and coasters. A package of both is 49 cents, and you can also buy tea-size napkins at 29 cents.

I'll tell you where I found these items if you call me at 2-3131.

Don't throw out faded fibre porch rugs. They can be perked up with a coat of regular house paint which has been considerably thinned. Be sure to use a thinner recommended by the manufacturer on the label of the paint can. You can do the painting on a flat area of the lawn or right on the porch. But when painting on the porch be sure to protect the floor by laying newspapers under the rug.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today I am printing letters from men who read "Why Grow Old?" These comment on feminine attitudes and actions. I think you will find them interesting. The letters certainly have a legitimate place in a column with this title because it is my belief that there is no greater youthifier and beautifier than love.

The following are excerpts from a long and philosophic letter:

"Dear Mrs. Lowman: Untold numbers of articles are being published in current literature, directed to men, telling them of the importance of showing their love and appreciation for their wives. It is evident in our changing society that the trend is away from the paternalistic family. Today it is expected to be a 50-50 proposition. Together the husband and wife decide the problems of child rearing, discuss family matters and financial concerns."

Up to here my reader seems to approve of this, but there is one fly in the ointment. He continues: "However, it seems to me that there is one large discrepancy. Man is supposed to be the only continual lover. Do we assume then that men do not expect and long for some show of natural affection from their wives—something that is spontaneous and quite independent of their own show of affection?

"Most articles seem to be written by women who express the female attitude—that men should keep up the pre-marital show of affection. When we do, can't we expect the same from our wives—an unexpected kiss, a 'thank you,' a handclasp or a worded glance? Do not ALL of the human race desire to be loved?"

"Mutual warmth, appreciation and awareness are absolutely essential to any happy and satisfactory reltionship between a man and a woman. It does seem to me that the majority of such articles are written to men, and certainly there are many men who need to read them.

"However, there are many fine women who consider themselves wonderful wives (who are in many ways), who fail in the romantic attitude. This may be due to strains or a rut they have fallen into, just as it may be true of a man. However, I myself always have had a sneaking suspicion that, as a whole, men may be more sentimental and more romantic than women, if given a chance.

"I believe it was Dorothy Dix who wrote that every happy marriage is an admiration society—or words to that effect."

One more short letter from a man:

"Will you write an article about helping a woman who has passed youth accept the reality of her years and make the most of them rather than try to hide them?

"It is a terrible strain to lie about age constantly. One is always forgetting and giving the secret away. When you tell the truth you can be completely relaxed."—An Annoyed Husband.

Personally, I think it is foolish for a woman to lie about her age, because she seldom will get away with it. There is always someone who "Knew You When." Anyway, the very fact that she feels it is necessary to lie reflects an old age attitude. When life is humming about your ears, and you are humming with it, the thought of years never occurs to the mind.

Wives, as well as husbands, should keep up the pre-marital show of affection with an unexpected kiss, a "thank you", a handclasp or worded glance.

Should Groom Wear War Medals?

My fiancee, who lives in England is coming to Montreal where she has an uncle and aunt. We will be married there next month and there will be about 20 guests present. I am an American veteran of the Second World War and received a Congressional Medal of Honor, which my bride-to-be wants me to wear. I would like to please her, but something tells me that it would be incorrect and I would like your advice. I do, of course, accept the fact that such a day is the bride's day of days, but I can't see that wearing the medal is important. The wedding will be at noon. What should I wear?

Louise Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

It would be all right for you to wear your decoration, but only as a lapel button, and as miniature as they make them! But I'll say this—that it is rarely done. So if you prefer not to wear one, and I think that's the way you feel, I advise you to put it away until some other time in the future when it might be more appropriate. I am on your side, for I think that war decorations are irrelevant on such an occasion as a wedding, especially in peace time. I know that your fiancee is proud of you, but surely she can forego that on this all-important day. For a wedding at noon and as small as yours, I suggest a conservative business suit. But first I would ask your fiancee to confer with her uncle and aunt in Montreal, as they are probably "sponsoring" the wedding by proxy and may have their own ideas as to what they want to do about dress. Then conform to their plan.

A CAC Fact

Did you know that work is still being done on the packaging of bacon? It used to be that the complaints the Canadian Association of Consumers received about bacon most often deplored the misleading red stripes on the transparent packaging. They said they couldn't tell what was fat and what was lean. In 1955 the stripes were banned. But thinking consumers realize that bacon simply grows with a great deal of fat content and that it's almost impossible to package it in such a way that you can see all of every strip in order to judge its leanness perfectly. Perhaps bacon should be graded for leanness. This is being done now on an experimental basis and test-marketed in the Toronto area. The outcome may mean more changes for bacon. Members of the Canadian Association of Consumers are kept up to date on matters like this through their own Bulletin.

Car Colors Reflect the Woman's Touch

It was a man who invented the automobile. But women are sharing the laurels for the modern version—long, low and light in color.

Credit goes to the female side for the pastel shades which are so popular today. When the woman of the house took over the responsibility of choosing the color for the family car, she demanded something gayer than the usual black, dark blues and greens.

With this new interest in color she has helped the designers to obtain the long, low effects in the styling of today's car. For clever placement of color creates illusions of length and width. Two and three-tones and sometimes even four colors in the lighter shades give dramatic effect to these modern lines.

The feminine point of view has become so important to car manufacturers that women are now employed as fashion co-ordinators on most of the styling staffs. Their influence is apparent in the color trends of cars which are following closely those in ladies' and men's fashions, and in home furnishings. It looks as though the dark colors will occupy a back seat permanently.

But working behind the scenes to bring more color to the highways is the paint industry. To meet the demand for more exciting automobile colors, paint technicians have been busy developing new colors in automotive enamels.

Centuries Old Swiss Home; Farm Where Stove Glows

By STELLA GUMMOW

Geneva, Switzerland.

Our flight here was another of the pleasant trips we have had all the way. We flew over the Alps, breathtaking in splendor, and then down over the rolling farms that surround Geneva.

"At our hotel, right on Lake Geneva, it is green and lovely. We sat out tonight at the sidewalk cafe to have our after-dinner cafe au lait. The high mountain was sending its whirling spray into the water below us.

Stella

"Our Cook's guide here, a charming woman has shown us the League of Nations building which now has ECOSAC (the Economic and Social Council).

"We went through in groups. The French speaking group was just ahead of us.

"Then we saw the beautiful gardens and parks; the headquarters of the International Red Cross and the simple but perfect Church of John Calvin. (There are many memorials to John Calvin in this Protestant city).

"Yesterday afternoon we were guests of the Swiss Countrywomen's group—their English was away better than my French. But, with "oui, oui" and "merci, beaucoup" and, what we could remember of our French, we had a wonderful time waving hands and smiling and laughing.

"They took us first to the horticultural school where we were shown around by the director. His French was translated by our Quebec member, so we managed to get the drift of everything he was saying about the fruit and flowers. (The names of many of them were English).

"Then we went on to see an old chateau, held in the family since 1082 and our gracious hostess showed us the room where her relative Josephine lived after her divorce from Napoleon.

"Next, we visited a farm set in a countryside of prosperous wheat fields, heavy with grain. The farm house has been in the family since the 12th century and, as the day was rainy and cool the big kitchen stove was glowing with a welcome warmth. (There was a time in Colombo when we thought we'd never need heat again).

"Our hosts specialized in vineyards, cattle and grain. The cows were in the barn and we saw that they are much heavier than ours; even heavier than the Guernseys which they most nearly resemble. There was an enormous bull with sharp horns. He seemed rather unfriendly.

Final Lap of Exciting Tour

London, England.

"This will be my last letter for I shall be back in good old British Columbia before August 15.

"Paris was at its best in bright sunshine. Some of us went to the Casino; some to the Folies Bergere; some to the Louvre, a treasured morning; some took the boat trip on the Seine.

"We all went to Versailles and we all toured the city with Cooks.

"We visited the new eight million and a half dollar UNESCO building, which will be finished in a year's time. We climbed 146 steps to the seventh floor (elevators are not yet installed) and then, on our return to the ground, we went to the room that will be the conference room.

"Here there was an open air section with three flags flying—United States, United Nations and French. We were told that a group of American architects were being entertained that morning and, if they had known the Canadians were coming, they would have flown a Canadian flag, too.

"At Paris, as in Rome, we were confronted with an airport tax and, as we had all tried to use up our French money, we were taken aback. However, after a little scrambling, we managed to raise it and flew off across the Channel.

"There was a glorious view of London from the air and we dropped down to the same gorgeous weather (blue skies and bright sun) that we have experienced around the world.

"Today is the trip to Denman College; tomorrow we meet our Canadian representative on the executive committee of the Associated Countrywomen of the World.

"Then I go to Ireland. My Irish hostess has just arrived home from Ceylon and I know I will enjoy that visit to the home of my ancestors.

"Will see you soon. It will be wonderful to be home!"

RETIREMENT BRINGS FAMILY BACK TO CITY

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bigford, left, have accompanied Mrs. Bigford's parents, Major and Mrs. E. P. Roberts, right, here from Ottawa for a few weeks' visit. TOURS RADAR LINE

Woman Travels 2,700-Mile Defence Line; Checks Menus for Male Staffs

MONTREAL (CP) — Nancy Skinner of Montreal invades the masculine world of the Mid-Canada radar line to check up on menus. As a dietitian for the Bell Telephone Company, she tours the main and intermediate stations of the 2,700-mile defence network by plane, train, helicopter, jeep and sled. Bell maintains the radar line running from the Atlantic coast into British Columbia, through often-rugged terrain. Miss Skinner also reports to the RCAF which operates the radar sites.

Meals for men are familiar to her. As a messing officer in the RCAF for four years she knows her steaks and chops.

BRIGHT KITCHENS

Fresh and frozen meats, vegetables, fruits and other staples arrive by sea or rail and are flown by helicopter to the isolated sites. She says she has been impressed by the brightly-lit, smartly-decorated compactness of kitchens hidden in the north, kitchens complete with deep-freeze and storage space.

The only request she's had so far from Mid-Canada personnel for extra supplies, she says, came from one chef who wanted an angel-food cake tin.

Miss Skinner has learned the fine points about travelling in a no-woman's land. Often the only woman in a large camp, she packs her own shoe-polishing kit, detergent for laundering and washable plastic overshoes. She has shaped her hair-styling for simple self-setting. And she has abandoned nail-polish and other feminine tripperies that are a little awkward in her style of northern travel.

When winter comes, she abandons her fur coat and smart tweed suits in favor of the shapeless but warmer bulk of RCAF slacks and parka.

Home Ceremony Unites Couple

Baskets of pink and white gladioli and white stocks were placed before the fireplace at the home of Mrs. A. E. Clyde, Reynolds Road, to form a background for the wedding of Mrs. Lillian Foote, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Moss of Victoria, and James G. Furniss, Hobart, Tasmania.

Rev. G. R. Easter performed the ceremony; and Miss E. Middleton played wedding music.

The bride wore an attractive floor-length gown of rose crepe with lace yoke and sleeves and a tiny matching hat covered with sequins. Her colonial bouquet was of pink rosebuds and white feathered carnations.

Mrs. Arthur Jackman attended the bride, wearing a floor-length gown of turquoise nylon net over taffeta. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations. Arthur Jackman was best man, and also proposed the toast to the bride at the reception which followed.

A three-tier wedding cake centred the table, which was covered with a handmade lace cloth.

For a honeymoon in Oregon, Mrs. Furniss donned a mauve crepe suit with beige topcoat.

Marian Stokes Married In First United Church

Pink and white gladioli decorated First United Church, Saturday evening, for the wedding of Marian Hannah, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stokes, Elliston Avenue, and David James, only son of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Donaldson, Vancouver Street. Rev. L. Streight officiated at the ceremony, and Stan Honeychurch sang "Through the Years".

The bride, a 1955 graduate of St. Joseph's School of Nursing, was given in marriage by her father, and wore a white floor-length gown, an original from New York. The bodice of chantilly lace featured a sweetheart neckline and lily point sleeves, and layers of lace created the hooped skirt. A heart-shaped crown sprinkled with rhinestones fastened a fingertip veil, and the bride wore a string of pearls and matching earrings, gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and white stephanotis.

Miss Stokes chose her sister, Mrs. Gloria Lintaman, as matron of honor. She wore a waltz-length gown of pale yellow taffeta over nylon and net. Miss Dorcas Bridges, niece of the groom, was bridesmaid in a waltz-length gown of pale blue taffeta and net. Both attendants carried bouquets of feathered white carnations and pink rosebuds, with matching floral headbands. Tom Wilkinson acted as best man and Rod Loughney and Dennis Stokes were ushers.

Mrs. G. Stokes, mother of the bride, chose a pale turquoise suit with white accessories, while Mrs. D. P. Donaldson, mother of the groom, wore a pink lace dress with matching pink floral hat and gloves.

A reception was held in the Flamingo Room at the Crystal Garden. Esther Reid daisies and pink carnations centred the bride's table. Dr. Gordon Clay proposed a toast to her happiness.

Travelling on honeymoon to Kelowna, Penticton and San Francisco, the new Mrs. Donaldson wore a blue suit of lightweight wool with pink accessories and a corsage of a gardenia and feathered carnations.

IN HONOR OF THE BRIDE

The Scolton Road home of Mrs. D. McColl was the setting for a shower held in honor of Miss Patricia Turner, August bride-elect. Ormond and B. Berryman.

Miss Christina Boyd, a popular member of Victoria basketball and softball teams, was honored recently at a shower given by Mrs. Walter Yeamans at her home on Quadra Street. Miss Boyd was presented with a corsage of white gladioli, while her mother, Mrs. W. M. Boyd, and Mrs. R. Leach, mother of the groom-elect, received pink and peach gladioli corsages. Refreshments were served from a lace covered table centered with a cleverly decorated shower cake. Invited guests included Mrs. Cash Douglas, Mrs. Helen Young, Mrs. Pat Metcalfe, Mrs. S. Lewis, Mrs. L. Mustard, Mrs. E. Donaldson, Mrs. P. Beastal, Mrs. F. Dadds and Mrs. P. Nash. Other guests were Miss Patti Wright of Toronto, and Misses Nita Woods, Jackie Aplin, Lorraine Sheilds, Jerry Hodge, Gale Lajeunesse, Barbara Peterson and Marlene Mitchell.

Mrs. Dave Donaldson, former Miss Marian Stokes, was honored recently at a shower given by her sister, Mrs. Gloria Lintaman, at her home on Maddison Street. Corsages were presented to Mrs. G. Stokes, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. D. P. Donaldson, mother of the groom-elect. A decorated wagon held gifts. Guests at the shower were Mrs. Mae Rabey, Mrs. Edith Schroeder, Mrs. Grace Wilkinson, Mrs. Viola Loughney, Mrs. Billie Maloney, Mrs. Joy Marshall, Mrs. Sally Stewart, Mrs. Margaret Judson, Mrs. Phyllis Fatt, Mrs. Dorothy Jasper, Mrs. Dorie Bridges, Mrs. Hazel Haut, Mrs. Elaine Dunn, Mrs. Doris Moore, Mrs. Molly Wilmot and Miss Dorcas Bridges.

Mrs. Eric Wilman entertained at her home on Shamrock Street recently at an evening shower in honor of Miss Marilyn Baxter, who will be married this month. Gifts were arranged in the fireplace, decorated with gay streamers and a large bell. Mrs. Wilman pinned a corsage of pink gladioli on the bride-elect, while Miss Doris Baxter presented one of yellow gladioli to her mother, Mrs. R. Baxter.

Miss Marion McLean, bride-elect of this month, was honored at a linen shower given by Mrs. H. Hibbert and Mrs. D. Taylor at the home of Mrs. W. Hodge, 163 Wildwood Avenue. Corsages of yellow gladioli for the honor guest and pink gladioli for her mother, Mrs. C. A. McLean, were presented. A turquoise decorated laundry basket held the gifts. Guests were Mrs. L. McLean, Mrs. J. McLean, Mrs. D. Jenkins, Mrs. W. Logie, Mrs. H. Barber, Mrs. A. Stott, Mrs. H. Jobbins, Mrs. W. Hodge, Mrs. M. Hodge, Mrs. J. Rowe, Mrs. C. McLeod, Mrs. H. Sommer, Misses Joan Barber, Pat Barber, Lynne McLeod. Buffet supper was served at t lace-covered table centred with pinks and snapdragons flanked by pink candles.

Mrs. P. R. Noel and Mrs. R. M. Lochhead were hostesses at a shower held at the home Road, in honor of Miss Maureen Bromley. A corsage of yellow rosebuds and white gladioli was presented to the bride-elect, while her mother, Mrs. W. J. Bromley, and Mrs. A. Thackray, mother of the groom-elect, received pink and white gladioli. Miss Gladwyn Hodge assisted in opening gifts, arranged under a pink and white decorated parasol. A lace-covered refreshment table was centred with a crystal bowl of roses and sweetpeas, flanked by pink candles and a miniature bridal party. Other guests included Mrs. W. Burnett, Mrs. J Smith, Mrs. R. Young, Mrs. F. Ivings, Mrs. I. Catterall, Mrs. R. Endean, Mrs. W. L. Ford, Mrs. K. Gunther, Mrs. E. Scott, Mrs. E. Paver, Mrs. T. Kay, Jr., Mrs. J. Gillam, Mrs. H. Opening lead—♦ 5

West opened the five of diamonds against Lou's optimistic three no-trump contract. Lou won the trick with the 10 spot and wisely decided to attack his own spade suit. He led the deuce of spades and when West ducked he went right up with dummy's king. It held and he returned the 10. West won with the queen and decided to attack the club suit.

He held the deuce of clubs. East played the ace and Lou dropped the king. This false-card gave him his only chance to make the contract. If Lou had played the 10 spot East would have led a second club and East and West would have made three club tricks in addition to their two spades.

East should not have fallen for Lou's false-card. If Lou really held the queen of clubs he was going to make his contract in any event, but that king play had been mighty convincing. East decided that maybe Lou held nothing at all in hearts and East led the five of hearts.

Lou went right up with the king. He did not know that East held both the queen and jack and cared less. Another spade lead cleared the suit. West led a low club in desperation and Lou made the rest of the tricks.

EVERYTHING IN BUILDER'S SUPPLIES

YOU'LL BE PLEASED TO KNOW
That what you read in the news, papers is not all bad news. When one reads the front page and the headlines before breakfast it's no wonder the bacon and eggs don't settle without bicarbonate. After all 99% of our teen-agers are a fine body of young people. The majority of ordinary people are busily employed and we are paying the experts to look after the disarmament talks. If you are the worrying type try skipping the news and start on the "funnies," then follow on in the classified for all the bargains in building materials. You still get the most for your money in lumber and building supplies and most supplies have not advanced in price—many are lower.

PLENTY OF JOBS AVAILABLE
Modernizing your home—adding a room—enclosing a porch—new steps—painting—floor tiles—you can increase the resale value of your property with home improvements. Do them now.

Nat King Cole Offers Musical Salute to Paris at 10 on 4

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

WEEKEND COMMENT—The Gold Cup classic from Seattle's Lake Washington must be chalked up as a distinct victory for those in charge and for those channels (4 and 5) piping it in. All in all, it made for a thoroughly entertaining Sunday afternoon.

However, we must list it in our little book as a most frustrating sport. Although Bill Muncey and his roaring Miss Thriftway, the defending champion, richly deserved the win over the 90-mile course, one couldn't help but shed a useless tear or two for such juggernauts as Hawaii Kai and Maverick who had the speed but not the luck. In fact, toward the end of the day, the competition seemed not so much between the drivers and their crafts as between the hustling maintenance crews.

* * *

Well, we're back to Ed Sullivan again after several tries with Steve Allen, choking over the words we wrote in this column only on July 9, wherein we declared we were all but through with the boy blunder.

We still prefer Allen as an entertainer. He's clever as all get out and a pleasure to watch. But he still can't match the entertainment corralled by Sullivan.

The trouble with Allen lies with his guests. Since we witnessed that tremendous show he did with Bob Hope he has produced only names, such as Debra Paget and Jane Russell who may perform well enough on the motion picture screen but who are a dead loss as entertainers of vaudeville merit so necessary to his program.

Or perhaps the nicest thing one can think of at the present time is that the new season will produce a show that will make both of them pull up their socks.

THAT WAS RUGGED luck Arlene Francis fracturing her ankle at the time she did. Word has reached us already that it didn't help her new weekly Monday-through-Friday show which bowed on Channel 4 at 10 Monday.

ADDRESS, 3322 ROLSTON CRESCENT, being a beautiful corner on LAMBIE DRIVE. Well located. Reasonably close in and also close to excellent bus service and community shopping; only a few minutes by bus to downtown Victoria, yet here you are away from that smothered feeling of hustle and bustle. This spot has a feeling of "peace and tranquility." Calmness and relaxation. Surrounded by ONLY BEAUTIFUL MODERN HOMES. Each and every window in this lovely "sunshine bungalow" gives you a beautiful view of refreshing scenes and nice homes. This spot is HIGH and DRY and LEVEL and very easy to get to. The scenery and setting could easily remind you of the scenery of the foothills of Alberta. Please drive around the district; you will be pleased, indeed, with the beautiful surroundings and the convenience. OIL-O-MATIC HEATING SYSTEM, forced air system giving uniform heating to every spot in every room. INSULATED. THREE NICE BEDROOMS. Clothes closets with sliding doors. High windows for privacy; at the same time there are very attractive, scenic views from the windows of the three bedrooms. THE BATHROOM is also very well planned. VANITY DRESSER with HUGE mirror. Attractive tile. The DINING ROOM has a de luxe open fireplace and a most generous supply of windows; there's almost a "full wall of windows" with a door opening out onto a most attractive "patio" and beautiful lawn. You could easily just love this dining room. AND THE UTILITY ROOM is also larger size. It's piped for automatic washer and dryer. THE KITCHEN IS VERY, VERY convenient. All sorts of handy built-in cupboards. It is comfortable and pleasant. THE LIVING ROOM also has a most pleasing fireplace. Marvellous views from the living room windows. Lots of sunshine. In fact, this spacious RANCH-TYPE bungalow gets "ALL" the sunshine all the time. ATTACHED GARAGE for a large car and is very easy to drive into. THE CHILDREN'S "PLAY ROOM" is of large size. This room could be used as a RUMPUS ROOM, a den, or perhaps the fourth bedroom. This playroom is surely NICE for the children on rainy days and it's nice for their mother, too.
OPEN FOR INSPECTION. If you are here from ALBERTA, SASKATCHEWAN or MANITOBA you will find this beautiful home and beautiful surroundings especially interesting. 3322 ROLSTON CRESCENT is easy to locate. Just go out BURNSIDE on out past SAFEWAY'S ultra-modern new store, cross the TRANS CANADA HIGHWAY and you will be at this beautiful NEW SUBDIVISION finished just three years. All the homes are NEW with lawns finished. The bus stop is ONLY ONE BLOCK from 3322 Rolston Crescent. Owner occupied. Offer wanted. INVESTIGATE. Finished three years.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S
ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1957

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Do not fear to be on a very personal basis with all those you see today for assistance in any walk of life, for the planets are with you and the right break gives you the wherewithal you have long wanted.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—It is best you seek a solitary spot today where you can think out how to conduct and express yourself so that you become more popular, richer. Then see the right people and get career going properly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—This is a fine day to get together with all your clever, successful and intelligent friends and have them guide you properly for the future. They are in a receptive and expansive mood. P.M. wonderful for time with loved one.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—The ideal day is here to contact the prominent people you so admire and combine your splendid ideas and efforts with them in a common endeavor to raise your own individual station in life. Don't limit your ambitions.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Your own particular day to really be able to study and absorb the knowledge and information contained in your newspapers, periodicals and TV for future use. P.M. meet new persons on other side of the fence—learn.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—It is best today you decide to give your money dealings with others a good shot in the arm, for they are somewhat suffering from pernicious anemia. Also, there is an opportunity to back somebody who can bring you much inspiration.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Opportunity presents itself today to learn that your relative position is with associate you deeply admire and to cement relations for a long time to come. Fine meeting of minds possible now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—You have difficulty getting yourself in mood to labor diligently and methodically, but once you start, there is a veritable dynamo in you. See that home, office, car, all important tasks are done today and be happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—When you arise you are so filled with good feeling and magnanimity that you wish to impart it to others. Do so, for it is much needed by them, but don't neglect the labor that must be done on own creative work, talents.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Your life can reach a new peak by today contacting these people with whom you can work harmoniously toward some special enterprise, for you have great insight and fine ideas. P.M. be especially content with family.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—The keynote today is action. Be on the move, alert to every chance to learn, gather data, confer with associates and many enterprising, intelligent, successful people. Get statistics, study latest trends, etc.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—You can't go on worrying about the lack of ready cash any longer. Pinpoint the right avenue of abundance and follow it immediately. Work, and be sure to keep your vocal chords in good condition, make recordings, too.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN WEDNESDAY . . .
The wonderful child born Wednesday is filled with remarkable new ideas, inventions and 90 per cent of them are workable. So, in early life by proper training you can safeguard against the tendency to live in the glory of adulation your youngster will want to bask in, and see that inspirations are given constructive use and expression. This will lead to a chart of certain prominence, world acclaim.

ASSUMES MANTLE OF STALIN

Lavish Praise for Khrushchev Hints at 'Cult' Development

BERLIN (AP) — Westerners noted that the East German Communists are referring to Nikita S. Khrushchev in terms reminiscent of the days of Stalin worship.

Students of Communism in this island inside the Soviet-ruled section of Germany say they see hints of a new cult arising in the Communist world—the cult of Khrushchev.

This speculation is based not only upon Khrushchev's tendency during his whirlwind visit here to dominate the stage, but upon the awed respect paid him by East German Communist leaders. Walter Ulbricht, who for years has ruled East Germany in the manner of Stalin, gave striking evidence of this in his speech at Leipzig in honor of the visiting Russian Communist party chief.

The Communist newspaper Neues Deutschland quoted Ulbricht as saying Communism will win in the world "under the leadership of the Communist party of the Soviet Union and under the central committee headed by Comrade Khrushchev."

This sounds much like the old days, when the Communist movement invariably was described as being under the leadship of the Soviet central committee "and Comrade Stalin."

There has been little talk lately from Khrushchev about collective leadership since he ousted his opposition in the Kremlin last month. Nor has he inveighed against the so-called cult of personality for which he condemned Stalin.

In the first six days of his current East German tour, Khrushchev has kept the rest of his Soviet delegation in the back seat.

Khrushchev spent Monday in talks with Ulbricht.

PRINCE DENIES STORK VISIT

MONACO (Reuters) — A spokesman for Prince Rainier of Monaco today categorically denied reports that Princess Grace is expecting a second child this winter.

The royal couple left Monaco in June with their seven-month-old daughter, Princess Caroline, for a holiday in Switzerland. They are due back in the first week of September.

Queen Cables Her Sympathy In Air Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — The Queen Monday expressed her sympathy to next-of-kin of the crash victims.

In a cable from Balmoral Castle, Scotland, to Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux, deputy administrator of the government in the absence of Governor-General Massey, the Queen said:

"I am shocked to learn of the accident to the aircraft in eastern Canada last night in which so many lost their lives. Please convey my sincere sympathy to the next of kin."

The message was conveyed to C. F. Burke, president of Maritime Central, to be conveyed to the next of kin, Government House announced.

Man, Wife Rescued From Burning Boat

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Historian and author Prof. A. R. M. Lower of Queen's University here and his wife were rescued Sunday from their burning boat in Lake Ontario just before the gasoline tanks exploded.

Prof. Lower said the 24-foot inboard cruiser caught fire about 300 yards off shore. Two men in a passing fishing boat took the couple off.

The professor has won two Governor-General's literary awards for books on Canadian history.

Suicide Sequel To Mexican Quake

MEXICO CITY (UP) — A building inspector who had failed to detect any flaws in an apartment before it collapsed in last month's earthquake, killing 33 persons, committed suicide in a jail cell here Monday night, police announced today.

Teodoro Vega Garriga, the inspector, and other persons connected with the construction of the building have been arrested pending investigation of charges of negligence.

The building collapse is believed by authorities to have been caused by defective construction and inferior materials.

Private Pool Drowning 'Accidental'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A pathologist Monday excluded alcohol impairment as a factor in the private pool drowning in West Vancouver last Friday.

City pathologist Dr. T. R. Harmon told an inquest jury that Philippe J. Delesalle, a Vancouver lumber executive, had an alcoholic content of .16 per cent in his blood shortly after the accident.

Dr. Harmon said: "This does not indicate a very high degree of impairment. This young man was quite capable of looking after himself in the pool."

Delesalle, 28, purchasing agent for L & K Lumber Mill in North Vancouver, was drowned in the pool at the home of J. Gordon Gibson, former Liberal MLA, where the annual get-together of the Hoo Hoo Club, a lumbermen's charity fraternity, was being held.

Dr. Harmon said he believed a blow in the region of the deceased's right loin could have been sufficient to knock his wind out.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning and recommended that a life guard be required at parties of more than 30 people where there is a swimming pool.

SEOUL FLOOD TOLL 198

SEOUL (AP)—The ministry of social affairs today said the latest official count of flood victims in the Naktong River basin area shows 198 persons dead and 49 missing. Another 243 persons were listed as injured. Floods swept through the area north of the southern port city of Pusan last weekend.

Portland Movie Ban Charged to Pressure

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Movie producer Lindsley Parsons Monday asked Sen. John McClellan's senate investigating committee to look into circumstances surrounding cancellation of a movie—suggested by the committee's activities—by Pacific Northwest theatre operators.

The producer charged that "pressure groups" were responsible for exerting influence on theatre operators in Washington and Oregon to cancel engagements for the film, "Portland Expose."

"It is obvious that some pressure groups or powerful, interested individuals influenced theatre operators to cancel the showing of the picture after it had been booked for world premieres on Aug. 14 in Portland, Ore., and Seattle and in other situations throughout the Pacific Northwest," Parsons wrote Sen. McClellan.

The producer claimed it went "beyond coincidence" that nearly 20 theatres would agree to play the picture and then cancel the bookings.

"Reasons advanced by theatre owners for cancellation have been evasive," Parsons said.

"We feel we have sufficient reason to suspect that concerted pressure was placed on these theatres but that only a congressional inquiry can determine the facts."

U.S. Envoys Warn Youths Of China Trip

WASHINGTON (UP) — The State Department has asked the American Embassy in Moscow to make last-minute efforts to warn American youths they may be in trouble if they travel to Red China.

Officials at the same time said the department is considering possible administrative and legal action if the group of Americans ignore government warnings and goes to Peiping from the Moscow youth festival.

Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson has warned a few of the more than 40 Americans planning the trip of possible consequences. He has said fines and legal action may follow and passports of those making the trip may not be renewed when they expire.

Drivers Swim As Heavy Rains Flood Britain

LONDON (AP)—More heavy rain fell on Britain today after a wild night of storms which flooded railways, roads and cellars and caused motorists to swim to safety from abandoned cars.

Heavy rainfall Monday caused the country's worst flooding this year. Three railway stations in the London area were closed this morning because of water on the tracks. Road traffic had to be diverted at many points.

At suburban East Sheen, fish floated down the main street, but they weren't from the river—the flood waters had washed them off a fishmonger's slab.

At West Ham, in London's east end, women took off their shoes and paddled into shops.

From many parts of the south came reports of motorists abandoning their cars and fire engines pumping water from homes.

Three feet of water flooded parts of Oxford, and the main road to the west leading out of the city was cut off.

Norwegians meanwhile were counting the cost of flood damage in Oslo, which Monday had the heaviest rainfall ever recorded in a single day.

Altogether 7½ inches fell, including three inches in an hour.

The streets of the Norwegian capital became rivers, stopping traffic and keeping thousands indoors. Fire engines were still trying to pump the city dry this morning.

The Young Men's Christian Association was founded in England on June 6, 1844.

SMASHED SPY RING

Cloak-Dagger Drama Becomes Real Life

NEW YORK (UP) — Boris Morros, who helped the U.S. smash a major Red spy ring, bowed out Monday as a cloak-and-dagger agent with the charge that Soviet espionage has made considerable inroads in the United States.

The 62-year-old movie director-composer, who spent 12 years posing as a "millionaire" Russian spy while actually serving as an American agent, said the Soviet have recruited many "important" people to steal U.S. secrets for them.

SOME SPIES RICH

"I know from personal information and experience," he said, "that Soviet espionage has made considerable infiltration in this country.

'Many of the Soviets' most active workers in this country don't come from the rank and file, nor the underprivileged. They are the people who have the kind of contacts which will be useful to the Soviets and they are being paid to do their job of treason to the U.S."

Morros said many of Russia's American agents are financially independent and some are held in high esteem. One, he said, is a "prominent American woman" who almost gave him away once as a counter-spy.

TO RESUME CAREER

Hours of detailed testimony by Morros before a federal grand jury brought the arrest of Jack and Myra Soble and their co-spy Jacob Albam and George and Jane Foster Zlatovski, another husband-and-wife team of alleged spies.

Now he hopes to resume his Hollywood movie career, which he left at considerable financial sacrifice in 1947.

Acting U.S. Attorney Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr. attended the news conference and interrupted several times to rule out questions asked by newsmen. He would not allow Morros to disclose the identity of the "prominent American woman" nor discuss his financial arrangement with the government.

WORKED WITH FBI

Morros, who speaks Russian and eight other languages fluently, said he was approached by the Reds in 1945 and asked to be a spy. He immediately went to the government and two years later disappeared from his Hollywood haunts to pass on to the Russians "secret documents" approved by the FBI.

Ladies Turn Trick In BCE Net Victory

Ladies carried the weight of the B.C. Electric Tennis Club's Sunday win over Port Alberni in a match held in the canal-town.

They swarmed through their five matches without a loss for the club's winning margin of 14-7.

B.C. Electric's men split their matches with the Up-Islanders, 3-3, while the mixed doubles went in Victoria's favor 6-4

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort
Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids
Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.
Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

New Oil Field Tapped In North Dakota Area

DENVER (AP) — Tapping a new North Dakota field, Northwest Oil Drilling completed its No. 1 Bunting well in Burke County for 225 barrels of oil a day, Petroleum Information says in its weekly summary of western drilling. Production came from the Midale formation at 6,107-14 and 6,117-27 feet.

The same operator also recovered oil on a drill stem test of the Midale at its No. 1 Holte well in the same area. The field is 10 miles southeast of the Columbus field.

In the Beaver Lodge field of North Dakota's Williams County, Amerada Petroleum reported a flow of 409 barrels a day from 10,145-460 feet in its No. 1 Iverson-Nelson.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Price Dips Continue On Toronto Exchange

The Toronto stock market continued its downward trend today in moderate trading. Price changes in most cases were narrow but there were a few exceptions.

McColl lost five points at 67½ among industrials and Union Gas and Industrial Acceptance were each off 1½ points. Lower-priced mines levelled off in a wide front.

The New York market was a little higher in trading today. Gains ranged from fractions to a little more than a point. Losses were mostly in fractions.

AT TORONTO senior base metals were fractionally lower despite a ⅞-point advance by Noranda to 42⅞.

McIntyre dipped two points to 92½ among senior golds and Preston East Dome lost 15 cents at $7.05 in lower-priced golds. Stanrock was up 19 cents to $2.25 among Uraniums. Cayzor, Bicroft and Stanleigh were easier.

Fargo led western oils down with a 45-cent decline to $6.45. General Pete was off 30 cents to $5 and Canadian Export Gas 25 cents to $7.85. Gains were limited to 10 cents or less.

AT NEW YORK Canadian gainers included Aluminum Ltd., up 1; Canadian Pacific, ⅛; and Distillers - Seagrams, ⅛. Losers were McIntyre Porcupine, 1¼; International Nickel, 1; Walker-Gooderman, ⅝; and Hudson Bay Mining, 1.

Canadian issues were quiet on the American exchange, except for oils which were fractionally lower. Fargo Oil lost ¼; Scurry-Rainbow ⅛; and Jupiter Oils and Sapphire Petrolums 1/16 each. In the mines, Molybdenite added 1/16.

AT LONDON the partial devaluation of the French franc caused some nervousness on the stock exchange today.

The feature was the sharp setback in gilt-edged securities which at one time showed losses of nearly a point. However, there was little selling and prices closed well above the lowest.

Rails were dull, Canadian Pacific was easier in company with other Canadian and United States dollar stocks, reflecting Monday's fresh decline on Wall Street. International Nickel was particularly depressed.

AT MONTREAL industrial prices today ranged irregularly lower in moderate trading on the stock exchange here.

In newsprints, Powell River at 35¾ and Howard Smith at 28¾ each dropped 1¼ while Price Brothers was up ⅞ to 49⅞. Dominion Steel was down ⅞ at 28⅝ while Steel of Canada at 65¾ and Dominion Foundries at 31½ each slipped ¾. In beverages, Walker lost a point at 74, and in carriers Canada Steamships was down an equal amount at 42.

AT VANCOUVER there was little change in prices on a dull market. Canadian Colleries (prf.) sold 10,000 at 70. Peace River Pete moved 5,600 between $1.25 and $1.40. Vantor 7,200 at $1.95. Trojan sold 13,000 at 46.

International Revaluation Of Currency W. German Plan

BONN (AP) — West Germany's economic chief says the German mark is worth more than its official rate but the Bonn government will not boost its value without a massive international currency revaluation.

He called for the United States to take "the moral leadership" in revamping the world's rates of exchange.

Economic Minister Ludwig Erhard, generally acknowledged as the driving force in Germany's spectacular post-war economic rise, outlined his views in an interview.

What the world needs, he said, is a limited period during which all currencies of the world would be free to peg themselves at their natural level.

Financial publications in Britain and the Continent have been hammering away for months at the idea that the mark is worth more than its official rate and should be increased in value. Erhard conceded this point for the first time today, blaming "rigid rates of exchange" in other countries.

BONN WON'T ACT

But even though the mark is under-valued, Erhard declared, the Bonn government has no intention of uprating it on its own. The mark now is officially worth 23.9 cents U.S. A more realistic rate, it has been suggested, would be about 26.3 cents.

Erhard said German financial policy has succeeded in keeping prices stable in the Bonn republic.

"Seen in this light, it can hardly be expected that Germany should try to eliminate through a unilateral measure the mistakes and tensions existing elsewhere in Europe."

That statement was an obvious swipe at France, where the government has just announced a partial devaluation of the franc.

Erhard made clear that he does not approve of such partial steps.

Home Building Shows Decline

OTTAWA (BUP) — The bureau of statistics reported today there were "substantial declines" in the construction of new dwelling units during the first half of 1957, from the levels of a year ago.

Starts were made on 48,478 housing units in the first half of this year, down 19.5 per cent from a year ago. The drop affected all provinces except Saskatchewan.

The number of units completed in the first half of the year was 50,435, down 13.1 per cent from a year ago. There were increases in Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, but these were more than offset by decreases in the other provinces.

MONTREAL (CP)—The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 5 5/32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Pound sterling $2.63⅞.

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian dollar was at a premium of 5 15/32 per cent in terms of U.S. funds today. The pound sterling at $2.78 5/16.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Grain prices showed a little irregularity in moderately active trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

This was particularly apparent in flax trade, where more liberal offerings appeared. Hedging sales were in large volume in this commodity, and other offerings were from United States sources. Support in flax was credited to processors and commission houses.

Oats and barley prices moved within a narrow range and commercial demand was mainly of a domestic shipping nature. A few buying orders in oats were credited to American houses.

Rye trade was light, with U.S. interests on both sides of the market. Prices moved within relatively narrow limits.

There were no reports of overseas business in Canadian coarse grains.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures, which made a strong advance in the previous session, staggered a bit in early board of trade dealings today and then moved upward again.

Soybeans, which had gained three to six cents Monday, started with losses of around two cents, then gained somewhat because of the strength in wheat. Early losses were due partly to profit taking.

New crop wheat futures hit new highs in the buying, which was due to flour business and indications of light hedging sales despite movement of the new spring wheat crop.

Corn faltered somewhat after Monday's advance, and oats turned slightly weak with corn at times.

Town Inundated

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Sheets of torrential rain fell on this northwest Arkansas town of 8,000 Monday night, causing one of the worst floods in its history and forcing evacuation of several families. Water early today was nearly three feet deep on Main Street and much deeper in the east section of town. Boats evacuated the sick and elderly.

Indians Want Hindi As Official Tongue

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The official language commission recommended Monday that Hindi replace English as India's official language. The commission said that although India has 14 main languages, hundreds of dialects and thousands of sub-dialects, more people speak Hindi than any other tongue. The report was submitted in English.

Kinsmen Give $20,000 Tonight To Esquimalt

Kinsmen Club president Stan Mossop tonight will present a $20,000 cheque for development of Gorge Park to Esquimalt parks and playground committee chairman Coun. James Bryant.

Esquimalt Council Monday night formally approved acceptance of the money.

Improvements to the park will be planned by an executive committee of two Kinsmen, Coun. Bryant, and municipal engineer John Graeme.

VETERANS OF VERDUN SACRIFICE PENSIONS

PARIS (UP)—War veterans who fought at Verdun 40 years ago gave up their veterans' pensions today to help France fight a new battle on the economic front.

Members of the Legion Des Milles (Legion of One Thousand) were the youngest—almost boys—who fought as volunteers in the First World War.

In a letter to Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunoury today they wrote, "We did not fight to get pensions, but only for the ideal and love of our Fatherland."

Bourges-Maunory asked all the hundreds of thousands of Frenchmen from both world wars who can afford it to waive the pensions they received as fighting men, prisoners of war and war cripples.

New Comet To Spark Sky

Discovered by European astronomers two weeks ago, a new comet named "Myrkof," will be visible to the naked eye low in the northwest sky for about a week, Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, said today.

Time to see the comet, he said, is about two hours after sunset.

The comet, with its tail trailing millions of miles, is too low in the sky for photographs with the observatory telescope, he said.

Kinver Beach Still Polluted Says Engineer

Tests of Kinver Beach show the area is still "highly polluted," municipal engineer John Graeme told Esquimalt Council Monday night.

The municipality took steps last month to clear the beach of polution by re-routing sewage from the Kinver septic tank to the northwest sewer at Macaulay Point.

Cost of the project was nearly $7,000.

Mr. Graeme suggested that the tides may be carrying sewage back to Kinver Beach.

"If the other source can be fixed, the money won't have been wasted," he said.

Further tests were schedulued to be taken from a boat today.

AS ONE JIMMY TO ANOTHER . . .

Rioting Poles Defy Armed Gov't Forces

RUSS FLATLY REJECT WEST ARMS PROPOSALS

LONDON (UP)—The Soviet delegate flatly rejected a Western offer for manpower cuts linked to settlement of East-West issues and ignored the West's new plan for open skies inspection at today's five-power disarmament conference meeting.

The unexpected stand by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin was the first major Russian policy statement since Secretary of State John Foster Dulles appealed two weeks ago for a break-through in the current stalemate of the arms parley.

COUNTER-SPY

Former movie producer Boris Morros has been subpoenaed by the Senate internal security subcommittee to identify the "prominent American woman" he says exposed him to the Russians as U.S. undercover agent. (See story page 21.)

Red Rulers Braced For Open Revolt

LODZ, Poland (UP)—The government rushed police reinforcements today from Warsaw to Lodz, Poland's second largest city, where a sitdown streetcar strike threatened to touch off a new wave of "bread and freedom" riots.

After dangerous clashes Monday, striking street car workers had barricaded themselves in the city's two biggest trolley terminals. They vowed they would not come out until their wage demands are met.

The situation was tense and ugly.

Militiamen (police) armed with pistols and clubs surrounded the two depots, and police radio cars swarmed in the streets. The licence plates of the prowl cars showed that many of them had moved in from the capital.

Street car traffic halted completely. Army trucks shuttled along the main trolley routes providing substitute transportation for stranded wayfarers.

The truck drivers were the only troops in evidence in the city early today.

Army Chiefs Assigned for Emergency

(Rumors circulating in Warsaw said Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka has assigned Gen. Komar, chief of internal security, and Gen. Jan Frey-Bielicki, commander of the air force, to deal with "any emergency.")

The 600 strikers holding out in the vast Dambrowski depot sent word that they would not bulge from their stronghold, but were willing to have a delegation of 50 men meet with local government minister Stanislaw Sroka. Monday, the strikers refused to send a delegation because they feared its members would be arrested. But they apparently hoped to avert this today through sheer size of the delegation.

The walkout was the most serious defiance of Communist authority since the freedom riots at Poznan. These bloody riots brought a "liberalized" regime to Poland and significant concessions to workers and other citizens.

Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka ordered in the troops and secret police when it became apparent new violence might flare in Lodz, Poland's second biggest city and its main textile centre.

Workers, especially women, were angered after reading today's newspapers which called the strikers "hooligans" and accused them of attacking police with clubs.

The strikers said the stories in the newspapers Aziennik Lodzki and Glos Robotniczi were "lies" and that the militia with fixed bayonets attacked them with tear gas in Monday's rioting.

The strikers said five women were hospitalized after one clash.

They reported the trouble started when police and a party of Communist party activists boarded one trolley and tried to get it moving. The strikers threw them off and the militia moved in.

Swamp Buries Clues to Crash

ISSOUDUN, Que. (CP)—The muddy soil of a swamp today still concealed the bodies of 78 of the 79 victims of Canada's worst air disaster—the crash of a Maritime Central Airways DC-4 near here Sunday.

It appears the fuselage and many bodies are beneath a layer of muddy soil in a crater created by the crash.

Lieut. Martin Healey of provincial police said today all the water has been pumped out of the crater and that digging into the muddy soil would start this afternoon.

"The pumps installed at the crater worked all night and it has been emptied, but there is no sign of any of the 78 bodies or of any plane debris."

The body of a baby—one of three aboard the plane—was recovered Sunday night.

Deputy Attorney-General Cantin of Quebec arrived on the scene this morning and said the provincial government has decided to assume temporarily all expenses involved in the operation.

The plane, bound for Toronto from London when it crashed, carried 73 passengers and a crew of six.

Crews of provincial policemen plodded through ankle-deep mud in the swamp collecting bits of clothing and personal effects. One of the articles turned up was the passport of Anne-Marie Harvey of Moncton, N.B., one of two stewardesses aboard the plane.

Police maintained a tight cordon around the crash scene to prevent souvenir hunters from carrying off bits of the plane needed to help investigators find the cause of the crash.

Besides the baby's body, only a few hands and feet were left above the surface of the sodden swamp near this community 15 miles southwest of Quebec City. These were placed in boxes and taken to the provincial police morgue in Quebec City.

Gordon Rayner of Moncton, N.B., chief inspector for MCA, inspected the wreckage and said "there must have been a terrific explosion when the plane hit the ground." Both Rayner and managing director C. F. Burke of Charlottetown said they had no idea what caused the crash.

Among the personal effects, police found the diary of Barbara Brebner of Islington, Ont., who died in the wreck. She had recorded the first days of her holiday in Britain.

Searchers also found a wrist watch with the hands stopped at 2.15.

INQUIRY PLANNED

In Ottawa, it was reported a public inquiry likely will be held. Transport Minister Hees talked with aides by telephone from Jasper, Alta. He is due at his Ottawa office Thursday.

Commenting on theories as to the cause of the crash one airline executive said there is no conclusive evidence that lightning has ever caused a plane crash though in 1940 it could not be determined whether the wreck of a Pennsylvania Central Line aircraft was caused by a lightning bolt or temporary blinding of the pilot by a lightning flash.

Oman Rebels Threaten to Call Russ

BAHREIN, Persian Gulf (UP) — A thousand Bedouins from nine tribes loyal to the Sultan of Muscat and Oman moved in from the hills today like conquerors to take over territory wrested from rebel forces in the nearly ended war.

In Cairo, meanwhile, Shiek al Hartthy, spokesman for the Imam said the Oman rebels would ally themselves with Russia if the United Nations fails them. Monday, the Arab League political committee decided to ask for a UN Security Council meeting on "British aggression in Oman."

The Sultan's troops were reported advancing from the east and west into the heart of rebel territory where only two forts are still flying the flag of the rebel Iman of Oman. They were Tanuf and Jabrin, some 20 miles west of Nizwa.

BLOOD DRIVE UNDER WAY WITH RUSH

The "Mayor's Drive" for blood donations to the district Red Cross got under way with a flurry at 1.30 p.m. today.

First to register, even before doors were officially opened, was Saanich Reeve Arthur Ash. He had earlier called Saanich residents to support the drive.

Mayor Percy Scurrah, who sponsors the two-day clinic to bolster dwindling hospital blood banks, has challenged Vancouver and New Westminster residents in a contest to see which city will give most blood per 1,000 citizens.

Tags will be issued to all donors who attend the clinic today and Wednesday between 1.30 and 4.30 p.m. and 7 and 9.30 p.m.

Weather Foils Alpine Rescue

CHAMONIX, France (Reuters)—Rescue teams today were held up by strong winds and cloudy skies from starting a search for at least eight climbers missing around 15,767-foot Mount Blanc, Europe's highest peak.

Sales Tax Cut Main Plank For Liberals in By-Election

Accepting nomination in Burnaby, provincial Liberal Leader Arthur Laing Monday night laid down a 16-point party platform for the three by-elections Sept. 9.

Highlight of the platform is a demand for an immediate reduction of the provincial sales tax from 5 to 4 per cent.

Mr. Laing also said the sales tax should be further reduced to 3 per cent when federal health insurance becomes effective within the next year or two.

Backing his tax-cut demand, Mr. Laing said:

"For the year ending March 31, 1957, the premier announced an operating surplus of $38,000,000, or almost 15 per cent overtaxation.

"This extra purchasing power should be returned to the individual now. Most people need it."

The federal health insurance scheme will save B.C. $16,000,000 annually, but will require additional federal taxation, Mr. Laing said.

CHARGED TWICE

Without a reduction in the provincial tax "we would be charged twice for the same service," Mr. Laing said.

These are the other platform planks listed by Mr. Laing:

Removal of all tolls from bridges and ferries.

Exemption of home building materials, meals and essential clothing from the sales tax.

Reduction of the passenger car licence to $10.

Removal of the tax on fuel oil.

Repeal of the Mineral Tax Act.

Payment of the full provincial bonus of $20 to all qualified old age pensioners.

Extension of hospital insurance to cover diagnostic outpatient and chronic care, and construction of chronic hospitals.

Full arbitration rights for civil servants.

Provision of an appeal board under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Payment of full municipal taxes on provincial government property.

Revision of the new Municipal Act in accordance with recommendation of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

Protection of prospectors by re-establishing Crown-granted mineral claims.

Implementing of provincial subsidies on feed grains, as provided for by statute.

Cutting of upset stumpage rates on timber by 25 per cent.

COLUMBIA POLICY

Mr. Laing also made a statement of Liberal policy on development of the Columbia River hydro potential.

He called for an end to the "temerity and uncertainty that surrounds our treatment of Columbia River power."

The Liberal leader criticized Premier Bennett for not accepting the federal offer of assistance for a public project on the Columbia.

"Instead he (the premier) countered with a proposal that appear like a Kaiser deal on a gigantic and all embracing scale," Mr. Laing said.

"The advantages of public power are obvious," the Liberal leader said.

UNITY

Mr. Laing called for "complete unity" by the province with the federal government in its negotiations with the U.S. on downstream benefits.

The provincial government should also issue a policy statement "that it favors public development of the Columbia with full retention of all Canadian-produced power, and return of downstream benefits in power, not cash," he said.

Calling for removal of tolls, Mr. Laing said "taxing the Queen's Highway or its connecting links is a retrograde step."

NO INJUSTICE

Because the toll bridges are dispersed all over the province, there would be no injustice in cancelling the tolls forthwith and incorporating bonds in the direct debt structure of the province, he said.

"It's debt anyway, so let's clean up our bookkeeping and properly classify it."

Mr. Laing said "irreparable damage" had been done to the B.C. mining industry by the Mineral Tax Act passed at the spring session of the legislature.

The Liberal leader said the province should profit from the "extraordinary action" of its civil servants who voted in favor of strike action to back up demands.

"We believe govenment should enjoy a no-strike pledge from civil servants," Mr. Laing said.

ARBITRATION

"But there must be a quid pro quo, and it must provide independent arbitration procedure agreed to beforehand by both sides.

"It must be a permanent arrangement and should encompass job classification, protection in promotion based on ability, as well as salary and working condtions."

St. Laurent, Aides Plan New Strategy

OTTAWA (CP) — Former Prime Minister St. Laurent today began confidential talks with members of his defeated cabinet.

It was understood he mapped out new strategy and programs that may be used by the Liberals in attempts to regain power in the next general election.

The meeting, expected to continue for two days, opened in National Liberal Federation headquarters. Only those who had been cabinet members were admitted. But federation officers were told to stand by, possibly to be called into discussions later in the day.

The talks were shrouded in secrecy but those close to the Liberal hierarchy said that, by the way the 75-year-old party leader spoke, Mr. St. Laurent appeared to have no intention of planning any early retirement. He may disclose some of his plans at a press conference likely to be held Wednesday at the close of the meetings.

Eleven former cabinet ministers — some successful and others defeated in the June 10 vote—were reported to have attended the meeting. Included were Lester Pearson, former external affairs minister, who likely would be a strong contender for the leadership if Mr. St. Laurent should step down.

Others attending and their former portfolios: James Gardiner, agriculture; J. W. Pickersgill, immigration; Lionel Chevrier, privy council president; Walter Harris, finance; Paul Martin, health; George Marler, transport; Stuart Garson, justice; Paul Hellyer, associate defence; Jean Lesage, northern affairs; Hugues Lapointe, veterans affairs.

Four of these, Mr. Harris, Mr. Garson, Mr. Hellyer and Mr. Lapointe, lost their seats June 10.

IT'S TOO COLD

Strait Whips Conqueror Of Channel

Juan de Fuca Strait is at least twice as tough as the English channel, 32-year-old Quebec swimmer Jacques Amyot decided today after a brief but chilly attempt from Ediz Hook, Port Angeles.

He plunged in at 8 a.m., climbed out, shivering, at 9.50 a.m.

It will be his last attempt.

Interviewed at McKay-Cormack dock, where the escort boat landed him, Amyot said: "I would rather swim the English channel twice than the Strait once. It was too cold."

And he added "I won't try it again."

His trainer, Raymond Roy, said water temperature was 49. "He started out at 52 strokes to the minute, and after an hour said 'I'm going to make it.'"

At which pointed Aymot, grinning, interrupted. "And after two hours, I said 'I quit.'"

Distance covered before the attempt was abandoned was about three miles.

IDOLS DRAWN INTO LIBEL TRIAL

Gable, O'Hara Had 'Affairs' Ex-Editor, Call Girl Testify

(From Times News Services)

LOS ANGELES — Actress Francesca de Scaffa once said she had an affair with Clark Gable in order to get information for an article, says a witness at the Confidential magazine libel trial, but Gable denies even knowing the actress.

On the Hawaiian island of Maui, Gable said Monday night about testimony concerning the purported affair: "I think I would remember that, but to my knowledge I never met the lady in my life."

Howard Rushmore, former Confidential editor, testified Monday that Miss de Scaffa, former wife of actor Bruce Cabot, told him she had the affair with Gable. At the time, Rushmore said, she was gathering information for a story on Josephine Dillion, a drama coach to whom Gable was married from 1924 to 1930.

Rushmore had testified earlier that Miss de Scaffa, whom he identified as Confidential's chief source of information in Hollywood, had told him she would be willing to have affairs with movie stars to get material for stories. Rushmore said he had no knowledge of her purported affair with Gable other than what she had told him.

Miss de Scaffa, who is under indictment in this case, is in Mexico.

Names prominent not only in movie circles but international affairs dropped like leaves at the trial Monday, and indications were this was only the start.

Russmore said he had wanted to write a story about Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, but was overruled by publisher Robert Harrison because it wouldn't be "politically wise" to publish it.

Rushmore said he and Harrison had many discussions about whether their stories would hurt Hollywood personalities.

"Harrison said the main object was to sell magazines," Rushmore said, "and it wasn't within our province to determine whether it hurts people. He told me in effect that if the truth hurts, that's it."

Lester Grady, a former editor of "Whisper," told the jury under prosecution questioning that affadavits—some of them from New York and Hollywood call girls—were used in the preparation of stories for the scandal publications.

One such affidavit he said was used to support a story on Miss O'Hara, a flame-haired Irish actress, and her alleged love-making in a theatre seat while the movie was showing. The story is part of the evidence listed by the prosecution in the original indictment.

Ronnie Quillan, a Hollywood call girl, was also on the stand.

"I was engaged in prostitution," Miss Quillan said by way of introduction to the jury.

"Mr. Harrison told me he primarily wanted stories concerning the sexual activities of members of the movie colony and the more lewd and lascivious the story, the more colorful for the magazine."

Miss Quillan, 41, but strikingly dressed in a white cotton tightly-fitted sheath dress, said she began serving as an informant for Confidential about March of 1954.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Gracious Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Thine infinite love in sending Thy Son to be the Savior of the world. We beseech Thee so to direct us by Thy Holy Spirit that we may grow continually in thankfulness toward Thee and be conformed to the likeness of Thy Son, Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

See where th' Liberals want th' provincial sales tax lowered. An' how, may I ask, is th' Guv'mint goin' t' pay us our tax rebates if taxes are cut?

Tighter Knot Joins Germany With Soviets

BERLIN (UP) — Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev signed an agreement with East German leaders today to tighten Soviet-East German economic and political ties.

The East German radio said the agreement covered "further co-operation" between the two nations, "problems of the international workers movement," and other economic and political problems.

The broadcast said the agreement provided for "friendship, mutual aid, the strengthening of peace in Europe, and the welfare of the German people."

It was signed by Khrushchev, Soviet deputy premier Anastas Mikoyan, East German Premier Otto Grotewohl and East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht.

The agreement was believed to promise Soviet political, military and economic support for East Germany, and to rule out any hopes of unification in the foreseeable future.

Khrushchev has made it plain since he arrived in East Berlin last Wednesday that Germany can be reunited only on Communist terms.

He rejected Western proposals for unity through free elections and said a unified Germany cannot be a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It was considered certain the agreement indorsed the Stalinist leaders of East Germany and promised them Soviet aid if East Germans revolt against Red rule.

It was expected to blame the West for the split of Germany and to charge West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer with aggressive aims.

The Communists cracked the whip over reluctant workers to give Khrushchev a rousing send-off before he left for home.

They drafted workers to gather at a mass rally in East Berlin's Marx-Engels Platz at 4 p.m. in hopes of marshalling a crowd of 250,000 to hear Khrushchev address a mass meeting.

Party underlings were ordered to attend. Special trains were sent to haul in crowds from suburbs for miles around the Communist capital.

As an extra added attraction, spectators who wait out the Soviet leader's exposition of his new "guns AND butter" line were promised a fireworks display.

Khrushchev may also give a preview of the "important agreements" he and local Communist leaders are scheduled to sign Wednesday.

Current indications are that the agreements will be no more than a reaffirmation of the Kremlin policy on Germany, rejecting free elections in the divided country and assuring the Red regime that Soviet soldiers will crush any new attempt at a Hungary-style revolt in East Germany.

Mrs. Johnson Rites Set Wednesday

Funeral service for Mrs. Marion Johnson, who was the wife of Oak Bay Coun. John V. Johnson, will be held at St. John's Church Wednesday at 3.15 p.m.

A well-known city clubwoman, Mrs. Johnson was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Penketh, a pioneer family of Victoria. She had belonged to the Rotary Annes, the women's auxiliary of the YMCA and of the United Commercial Travellers.

Surviving are the widower, John, and a son, John Penketh, of 3118 Henderson.

Funeral procession will leave Hayward's Funeral Home at 3 p.m. for St. John's Church, where Canon George Biddle will officiate. Mrs. Johnson was associated with the church for 63 years.

Cremation will follow the service.

WEATHER HALTS NUCLEAR TEST

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission lost a battle with the weather early today and was forced to call the 15th postponement in the firing of its "Shasta" nuclear device.

The test was set for 5 a.m. PDT but less than an hour before the device was to be triggered atop a 500-foot tower scientists decided that wind conditions could carry fallout over populated areas near the Nevada proving grounds. The AEC will try again at the same time Wednesday.

British Warn Mid-East Red Testing Ground

LONDON (UP) — Diplomatic officials warned today that Soviet Russia is fast turning the strategic Middle East into a new "testing centre" in the great power conflict.

This conclusion stemmed from the disquieting Red arms buildup in the area, which is currently being stepped up anew by Moscow under agreements with Arab nations.

Coinciding with the arms buildup is a stepped-up anti-Israel campaign in which members of the Supreme Soviet now are reported to have joined.

Latest reports reaching London claim that Red arms thus far delivered to Egypt and Syria by far exceed the present needs of their respective armies.

A further disquieting factor is that the arms are not only of a defense nature.

Further arms deliveries were believed to have been negotiated between Syria and Russia in last week's Moscow arrangements.

An impending review of the Cairo-Prague "trade accord" also was expected to provide for more weapons for Egypt in the near future.

Moreover, Russia has begun to increase the flow of naval units to Arab nations, including torpedo foat flotillas and long-range submarines which experts feared would adversely affect the naval balance in the Eastern Mediterranean.

FERRIES KEPT BUSY

KELOWNA — Ferries carried 27,907 passengers and 19,405 vehicles in 535 trips across Okanagan Lake during the four days of the annual regatta here last week, highways department officials said Monday.

Militia as CD Force Feared by Officers

OTTAWA (CP)—Some militia commanders contend the defence department is trying to convert the 40,000-man reserve army into a civil defence organization.

They say a conversion is being attempted in an "undercover" manner to prevent a furore in the militia and political repercussions.

Defence department officials say the only directive on the matter instructs militia units to pay attention to civil defence.

This in itself, some militia commanders argue, is the handwriting on the wall for the reserve army in its present form. They are strenuously opposed to the militia giving up its present role though willing to take on some civil defence tasks.

They say the militia, if it ever becomes a full-fledged civil defence organization, will lose members right and left. The reserve already is down to 40,845, nearly 7,000 less than its post-war peak in 1953 and smaller than in 1950, first year of the Korean War.

One senior militia commander put it this way:

No one knows whether another war would be fought with atomic or conventional weapons.

If it were fought with atomic weapons there would be little point in having a regular army, let alone a reserve, because there would be no time to reinforce the infantry brigade in West Germany.

However, if the war were of the conventional type the militia could again play its traditional role by forming the backbone of the citizen army with the regulars and training it.

There would not be as much time to train an army as there was in 1939 but with proper planning the wheels could be put in motion rapidly.

The commander said if the defence department works on the premise that Canada needs a regular army, then it should accept the projection of that policy—the need for a reserve army as well.

EGYPTOLOGIST HEAVILY FINED FOR SMUGGLING

CAIRO (UP) — American archaeologist Charles A. Muses was found guilty today of trying to smuggle antiquities out of Egypt and of illegal money dealings.

He received a suspended sentence of 13 months and was fined 19,000 pounds (about $58,539).

He pleaded innocent to both charges on grounds he was completely ignorant of Egyptian law. The prosecution asked 7 to 10 years' imprisonment and a fine.

Muses also faces trial before the Cairo Criminal Court on charges of possessing unlicensed firearms.

CONFESSION WITHDRAWN

Kidnapped, Tortured Says Egypt Suspect

CAIRO (CP)—A defendant in Egypt's trial of 13 men accused of plotting against President Nasser's government testified today that Egyptian army intelligence kidnapped him. He withdrew a confession he said he was forced to make.

The defendant is Abdel Hamid Islambouli, employee in the ministry of national guidance and one of five civilians on trial. He said the confession introduced by the prosecution in the indictment was made under "severe oppression and threats." Islambouli told the court:

"I was not arrested. I was kidnapped by Egyptian army intelligence."

Islambouli's confession had been one of the main bases for the prosecution's case against the 13 accused of conspiring to assassinate Nasser and his cabinet and overthrow the regime.

The defendants include two former cabinet ministers — Mohamed Salah el Din and Abdel Fattah Hassan — and retired Brig. Amhed Atef Nasser.

Islambouli almost broke down as he testified that he had been tortured by intelligence officers and prison authorities since he was interned April 22.

At one point the presiding judge of the six-man military tribunal, Maj.-Gen. Mohamed Fuad el Digwy, tried to prevent Islambouli from saying more about torture.

Islambouli said a glass of water was put before him but he was told he could not drink until he had confessed. Then he was told his wife had been arrested. He said he agreed to sign a confession on condition that his wife would not be touched and would be paid £20 ($57) a month.

The prosecutor read a letter which he said Islambouli wrote to his wife from jail, asking her to tell another defendant to deny his confession and say it had been made under torture.

False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!

Soak your plates in Polident daily to avoid "Denture Breath"

Polident is the specially designed cleanser that keeps false teeth—and breath — clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules.

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.

2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."

3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident is the denture cleanser recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

Police Map Secret Plans To Combat Winter Crime

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — Officials of the city police force met Monday night to discuss secret plans they will use next winter to combat crime here.

The meeting was held in the home of Police Commissioner C. C. Merritt, V.C., and was attended by Chief Constable George Archer, Deputy Chief Ambrose, their executive officers and division commanders.

More meetings are planned by the group.

Deputy Chief Ambrose said: "Our plans are based on last year's experience. We had nearly 100 holdups then, and we had to put emergency plans into operation. This time we're not going to take any chances."

The plans were not announced, "for obvious reasons."

SHOT KILLS GIRL

POWELL RIVER—A 12-year-old girl, accidentally shot in the throat while playing with a number of other children at Westview, died in hospital here.

The victim was Barbara Lock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lock of Westview, a suburb of Powell River.

She was playing with friends Sunday afternoon when a five-year-old boy went into his home and brought out a .22 calibre rifle. The weapon was passed around as the children examined it, when it suddenly went off, the bullet striking Barbara in the throat.

WOMAN DRIVER CHARGED

VANCOUVER—Criminal negligence charge against a woman who allegedly tried to run down two police constables will be heard in police court next Monday.

Anne McCormack, 34, was remanded for one week by Magistrate Oscar Orr. She did not plead to the charge.

She was arrested by traffic officers Ed Leask and Derek Trehearne late Saturday after a four-block stop-and-go chase.

INQUESTS ADJOURNED

KELOWNA — Inquests into the deaths of two men killed in separate automobile accidents Saturday were adjourned for two weeks after a coroner's jury viewed the bodies Monday.

Enquiry into the death of R. M. Warren, of Vancouver, killed at Westbank, will reopen Aug. 28. Inquest into the death of Mike Arecow, of Grand Forks, will be conducted Aug. 21.

STRIKE HALTS PROJECTS

VANCOUVER — Work on 16 construction projects came to a standstill Monday when 160 floorlayers went on strike over the date on which an agreed pay increase should become effective.

Work on the projects, which involve contracts estimated to be worth $5,000,000 and include additions to schools and an army housing scheme, was stopped by refusal of 600 other construction workers to cross picket lines set up by the floorlayers union.

Head-On Smash-Up Takes Father of Two

Widow and Children Receive $10,000 on $5,000 Policy

On his way to spend the week with his family, a young businessman was the victim of a highway smash-up.

His death came only a few months after he took out a Confederation Life Policy for $5,000, with an Accidental Death & Dismemberment clause. He chose this policy because of its low cost Double Indemnity guarantee in case of accidental death.

It was a wise choice because Confederation Life promptly paid his widow twice the face value of the policy, $10,000 instead of $5,000. This substantial sum of money was a godsend to the bereaved family.

A $5,000 policy with Confederation's Accidental Death and Dismemberment Benefit pays:

- Liberal cash payments for non-fatal dismemberment accidents and
- $5,000 if you die from natural causes.
- $10,000 if you die by accident.
- $15,000 if you die by accident while a passenger in a commercial bus, taxi, street car, train, ship or commercial aircraft, or in a fire in a public building.

Miniature Spithead Review Honors Pullen

Eleven ships of the RCN Pacific Command staged a miniature Spithead review as Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen today began his last 24 hours as Flag Officer, Pacific Coast.

At 9 a.m. Wednesday he will turn over the command to Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner before leaving for his new position as Flag Officer, Atlantic Coast.

Today the Pacific Command ships rode to anchor in Esquimalt Harbor, in two mist-grey lines as the flag officer in his bright green admiral's barge coasted by the ships.

As the barge passed alongside, officers and men cheered ship for the admiral who has "bossed" the Pacific Coast for the past two years.

It was the first such farewell ever staged on this coast, and a fitting one for a flag officer who has kept his ships at sea for a total of over 1,000,000 miles in training and operational cruises since he assumed command.

The eleven ships, dressed overall in colorful flags, were: HMC Ships Ontario, Cayuga, Athabaskan, Skeena, Fraser, New Glasgow, Jonquiere, Fortune, James Bay, Port Quebec and Oriole.

Following the admiral's review, the second day's events opened in the annual fleet regatta. First event was the open cutter race, won by cadets from HMCS Venture by a good 12 lengths.

The regatta was scheduled to conclude at 4 p.m. with prize giving by Admiral Pullen on the quarterdeck of HMCS Ontario.

REAR-ADM. H. F. PULLEN
In green admiral's barge, Rear-Admiral Pullen coasted by 14 ships in review in Esquimalt Harbor this morning. Crews "cheered ship" for the admiral who is leaving to boss Atlantic Coast.

Malahat Paving To Await Spring

Main Work To Be Completed By Oct. 1, Says Gaglardi

Except for the final asphalt coating, the Malahat will be completed by Oct. 1, Highways Minister Gaglardi said today.

Of the nine miles still under construction, four and a half up to the summit on the south side will be finished in a week and the remainder on the other side in the next six weeks.

Mr. Gaglardi blamed poor weather this summer for failure to have the work done before.

Highways department engineers said the finished paving will not be applied until spring so that the road bed will have a chance to settle.

But the road will be almost as good as new, if not quite as smooth, an official said.

The "cold" road mix that will be put down within the next few weeks will be the same as the finished paving used on B.C. roads "not so long ago," he said.

The partial paving will stand up to winter weather, it was stated.

Gaglardi Defends Road Contractors

Highways Minister Gaglardi made a ringing defence today of work done in 1955 on the Cassiar-Stewart Road by Wade and Wells Ltd. of Trail.

Critics of the work would have to "eat their words" if they went over the northern road and saw its good condition, Mr. Gaglardi said.

He made the comments after making a personal inspection tour with Mines Minister Kiernan, whose department is paying for the project.

JUST AS GOOD

Mr. Gaglardi said it was his first trip over the road and although he didn't go over all of the 67 miles completed by Wade and Wells, "everyone told me the other sections were just as good."

Work done by Wade and Wells was strongly criticized early last year and was the subject of a sensational legislative committee inquiry.

It was charged that the road was sub-standard and that public funds had been squandered through the no-tender, cost-plus contract given out by former mines minister R. E. Sommers. The committee rose without making a report.

GREATEST HOAX

"After I went over the road," Mr. Gaglardi said today, "my first reaction was that the province of British Columbia had been treated to the greatest hoax by the critics of the construction in the Dease Lake-Cassiar area.

"I would invite anyone, anywhere, to travel over the road and find me a better constructed road for the same cost any place in the province of British Columbia."

Speeds of up to 70 miles an hour are possible on some sections, the highways minister said.

NEW CONTRACT

Mr. Gaglardi also announced his department has awarded a contract for construction of another 25.5 miles of work on the Cassiar-Stewart Road alongside Dease Lake to Piggott Construction Co. Ltd. of Dawson Creek.

The firm submitted the lowest of nine bids at $1,302,947. Wade and Wells submitted a bid of $700,000 which was rejected because the performance bond cheque was not certified.

It is expected that work will start later this month, for the first time since the fall of 1955. Tenders will be called on all remaining work. The federal government will pay half the estimated $12,000,000 cost.

Mr. Gaglardi said the southern terminus of the road has not yet been decided and he will return later this year to make a decision between Stewart or the head of Alice Arm.

Island Areas Short-Changed On New Roads

Chambers Plan Strong Protest

The Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island, meeting in Nanaimo Monday, resolved that the Island "is not yet getting its fair and proper share of new roads."

They decided to incorporate this complaint in a brief to be presented to Premier Bennett and his cabinet next Tuesday.

A tentative brief drawn up by Arnold Webb, secretary of the Associated Chambers, was read and approved with some alterations and additions.

It stated that "while we appreciate the efforts put forward by the provincial highways department, the program is too little and too late.

"The tourist season has come and nearly gone but the Alberni-Tofino road is still not completed. The Jordan River-Renfrew road is barely completed; the Malahat has been a mess all season and survey crews have been taken off the northern extension of the Island Highway to Port Hardy."

The government will be asked to spend more money on Island roads since they are "capable of drawing millions of tourists annually."

The brief adds:

"Boards and chambers of this Island are fed up with getting only half a loaf. They want roads—finished roads. They do not begrudge the mainland with its good fortune but ask that Vancouver Island should not be overlooked."

Other suggestions to be placed before the cabinet are:

Island-wide representation on the tourist committee to be set up by the new provincial department of recreation.

Retention of government establishments on Vancouver Island since "the Island is traditionally and historically the seat of government in the province."

Orderly development of the resources of the Island in relation to agriculture, forestry, parks, industrial areas and urban housing developments.

Conservation and development of sport fishing on the Island in view of the diminishing supplies of fish.

G. Conway Parrott, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, was in the chair.

MONTE ROBERTS

Glad Eyes, the voice of 2-3131, is going on holiday soon.

This is a source of great sadness to those of us who benefit from her never-failing courtesy, kindness, efficiency, and joi de vive.

In fact, we who are accustomed to jiggling the telephone madly in continual competition to be the first of about 20 supplicants to get an outside line, will hardly know what to do without Glad Eyes.

And those of you who are accustomed to phone in with kindly messages (such as "I've been misquoted" and "Cancel my subscription") will also miss her voice—known far and wide as the voice with the built-in smile.

Glad Eyes, on the other hand, is not a bit sad about going on her holidays.

In fact, she is looking forward to them with such eager anticipation, I believe she has already benefited, without even leaving the switchboard.

The only drawback to these holidays of Glad Eyes is, she began planning for them so long ago.

About two months back, she decided where she was going, and how she would get there, and when she would leave.

But two months seemed such a long time to wait.

"I don't go on my holidays for two whole months," Glad Eyes would mourn, and we all felt so sorry for her.

Then, one morning, I noticed she was smiling and happy, and I asked her why.

"Because," chortled Glad Eyes, "I am going on my holidays, and my holidays start just one week from five weeks from the Thursday after next."

"My goodness," I said, staggering away, "you've almost left."

And thus it went. "I leave one day less than a week from four weeks from next Friday," she greeted me one morning.

Then it was: "I'm going, only a week from the Thursday after the Thursday of next week."

I truly believe Glad Eyes has stumbled upon the secret of speeding time.

Now, if, for the benefit of us old codgers, she could only slow it down. . . .

I hope and trust you have a happy, happy, holiday, Glad Eyes.

Bad Weather Causing Losses In Honey Crop

Vancouver Island beekeepers this year face a loss of over 1,000,000 pounds of honey due to poor weather.

The Island's normal honey crop is about 3,200,000 pounds.

"Famine is facing the bee population," George V. Wilkinson, secretary of the Vancouver Island Branch, B.C. Honey Producers' Association, said.

Some hives are already starving he said, because the bees are unable to obtain sufficient nectar from flower plants and trees. The plants are not producing the nectar because of cool nights and lack of sunshine.

"The bees are working twice as hard as they normally do," he said, "and are getting less for their efforts."

Producers estimate that some hives will produce just about enough honey for their upkeep during the winter months. This amounts to about 60 pounds per hive, meaning they won't have honey to spare for the beekeeper.

"It's one of the worst seasons we have had," said Mr. Wilkinson. "In some cases, beekeepers are feeding the bees with syrup to keep their hives from starving."

Harbor Hassle Aired

Greater Victoria Centennial Committee has asked the federal government to dredge the inner harbor but Mayor Percy Scurrah today opposed the project.

The committee plans a 1958 harbor area decoration project which is estimated to cost as high as $200,000.

"But it would be useless to put up thousands of dollars for causeway decorations if the harbor remains in its present nauseous and filthy condition," said committee secretary, Capt. D. J. Proudfoot.

Mayor Scurrah, who has a copy of a letter written by Capt. Proudfoot to minister of federal public works, Howard Green, says any dredging at present would weaken the causeway.

"No dredging can take place there until there is a retaining wall built in front of the present causeway," said the mayor.

"It has a tendency to slip. There are signs such a condition exists. The engineer (J. C. Garnett) is quite difinite in stating no dredging can possibly be done at the moment.

"We have plans to build a wide retaining wall at a level which would permit boats to tie up and would also be used as a promenade—after the harbor was dredged.

HAVE TO WAIT

"We think it is important this improvement be done. The only fly in the ointment is that the engineer figures it would probably cost $200,000 or $250,000—and we just haven't got the money . . . it will just have to wait."

Captain Proudfoot estimated if the top six inches of silt were removed the harbor odor would improve.

"If you move that muck you must increase the strain," said the mayor. "There are slight signs of movement." He added the engineer does not think the present causeway is in critical condition.

Captain. Proudfoot said his letter to the federal works minister was phrased in a "strong" manner.

"It will probably get me in trouble," he added, but he pointed out there has been heavy support to the decoration project.

Decorations would include wide use of planters and shrubs. Although the committee would not be footing the bill, cost would range between $150,000 and $200,000 for the 12-month decoration program in 1958, the secretary estimated.

"But what's the use of putting up beautiful things if the environment is filthy?" he asked.

New Councillor Gives Views On Saanich Hall

Saanich council has not made it clear that a proposed $225,000 municipal hall addition will be a permanent structure, new councillor George Chatterton said today.

He also disagrees in part with the method council's special hall committee has used in getting plans and estimates on the building.

"I don't think working drawings are necessary at this stage. Sketch plans would have served until firm estimates were obtained, like the school boards do," he said.

$10,000 FEES

"If the plebescite fails (ratepayers vote Saturday on the hall by-law), the municipality stands a chance of losing $10,000, or in that neighborhood, in architect's fees.

"This is the real thing. There's no use kidding the people that this is a temporary structure. You don't spend a quarter million dollars on a temporary building.

"I don't think council has made that sufficiently clear."

He disagreed that an affirmative vote on the addition would kill discussion on amalgamation of Saanich with Victoria, and possibly a joint municipal hall.

AMALGAMATION

"I think we should find out about amalgamation. The new addition does not close the door on amalgamation, but it will draw it out a little longer.

"A vote might be indicative, but I don't think it will necessarily mean those who vote for the addition are against amalgamation."

He opposes amalgamation unless a study of the subject shows it will be of advantage to Saanich.

American Boats To Join Outboard Fete

Dozens of outboard enthusiasts from throughout Vancouver Island, including two groups from the Victoria Outboard Club, will hold their annual rendezvous and salmon barbecue Saturday, Aug. 17, at Friday Harbor.

Hundreds of boats will be present for what is described as the biggest boating event of the year in this area. Boats will come from U.S. points.

Stan Pollard is cruise captain of one VOC group and Frank Baylis of the other.

Police Awaiting Picture Of Plane Theft Suspect

Central Saanich police await a photograph of a suspect held by police in Arizona for possible identification by witnesses here in connection with theft of an aircraft last month.

The FBI is conducting an investigation and have informed Central Saanich police their suspect may also have stolen a plane in the U.S.

The aircraft stolen from Butler Bros. airstrip on Keating Crossroad about July 29 is owned by Rudy Kwiram, 1032 Oliphant. It is a Stinson, vermillion and white, seats four and is valued at $4,000. It was not insured and has not been located.

At least three persons told police they saw a dark, leather-jacketed man hanging around Patricia Bay airport and near the Keating landing strip before the theft was reported.

Arizona police informed Central Saanich police the suspect was being held Aug. 6.

Workers Rushing Preparations For School Term

Preparation of schools and grounds for re-opening September 3 is being rushed by Greater Victoria School Board.

Scrapers and graders are preparing new playground areas at Lansdowne Junior High School. Gordon Head grounds expansion is already complete and men and equipment will move this week to Colquitz Junior High.

Authorities also report installation of additional desks is under way to meet a record enrolment which will see 23 more classrooms in use than were filled when the last term was completed.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Thieves who broke into Burnside Pharmacy early today stole the store safe, opened the till and got away with an estimated total of $200 cash.

The safe was found two lots away across Burnside in Qu'Appelle Park with the bottom smashed out and drugs scattered on the ground.

BEST B.C.-PRODUCED FIGHTER LIKES PATTERSON

McLarnin Practises Footwork In Canadian Oil Investments

The best boxer-fighter ever produced in B.C. is a visitor to Victoria today.

Jimmy McLarnin, former world's welterweight titleholder, is visiting his sister, Mrs. W. I. Hillier, Normandy Road. With him are his wife, Lilian, and four children — Ellen, Jean, Nancy and Jimmy, Jr.

At 50, Jimmy is a successful businessman with a home in Glendale, Calif., and investments in Canada and the United States. The manager who guided him to ring eminence, "Pop" Foster, also gave him wise counsel on husbanding his money.

Among McLarnin's investments are substantial holdings in a Canadian oil-development company, of which he is a director.

But the businessman McLarnin gives way to the ex-fighter when professional boxing is mentioned.

"I love to watch a good fight," he said today. "A good, evenly matched fight, not a slaughter."

He saw the Patterson-Jackson heavyweight title bout on TV, and by way of comment, shook his head sadly.

"Jackson is a good, strong boy, but doesn't know how to fight with his head," he commented. "When I first saw him, I thought he had the makings — strong body, long reach. But he didn't learn to box."

As a fighter, Jimmy was an expert on boxing and footwork, as well as a deadly puncher. That he was able to defend himself is shown by his unmarked face—a slightly flattened nose is the only hallmark of his trade.

Of the coming Patterson-Rademacher fight, which McLarnin intends to watch from ringside, he commented:

"A good pro can beat a good amateur. I have to pick Patterson."

He calls Patterson a "good young fighter. He's too young yet to see whether he can be classed with Louis or Dempsey."

McLarnin, who also visited his hometown of Vancouver on the way here, will return to the mainland for a bit of fishing and additional relaxing after spending three or four days on the Island.

Extra Big Paper Doll Fun For Little Girl to Dress

By PENNY SAVER

I'm sure I've found the biggest paper doll in town! She stands a full 20 inches tall (I measured her), and is as pretty as can be. The doll is of a very heavy cardboard and has a support so that she can stand up.

She has a complete paper wardrobe—even a ski outfit. The doll and her clothes come in a neat cellophane package for 85 cents, and would provide a little girl with many hours of fun.

A child would enjoy a flower paintbook on a rainy day. The pictures of roses, hyacinths and many others have guides giving the correct colors. The book is 25 cents.

LETTERING TOOL

Lettering posters and signs with a paintbrush is difficult for an amateur. Unless the brush is shaped to the correct wedge, it tends to splutter and make it hard to get clean outlines to the letters.

There's a steel - headed "brush" on the market that makes the job much easier. The serrated and hinged steel head gives a tidy outline to even elaborate letters and is easily cleaned.

The complete brush is $1.50, with three widths to choose from, and separate heads in different sizes can be bought for $1.35.

The brush can be used with its own special ink, which comes in blue, red, yellow and brown at 50 cents a bottle, or with ordinary India ink in a wide variety of colors at 45 cents.

It'll soon be time to start buying school supplies. Boxes of regulation school water colors (eight to a box) are on sale at one store — they're reduced from 75 cents to 48 cents.

NO LAUNDRY

Colorful paper tablecloths and serviettes will add a gay note to a child's party, and you won't have a laundry problem afterwards.

I found them in white with wide checked borders in yellow, green, pink or blue. The tablecloth is 55 cents, the serviettes 35 cents a package.

Matching waxed paper cups are 29 cents for half dozen.

The "Blue Willow" china pattern is used for pretty paper cocktail napkins and coasters. A package of both is 49 cents, and you can also buy tea-size napkins at 29 cents.

I'll tell you where I found these items if you call me at 2-3131.

Don't throw out faded fibre porch rugs. They can be perked up with a coat of regular house paint which has been considerably thinned. Be sure to use a thinner recommended by the manufacturer on the label of the paint can. You can do the painting on a flat area of the lawn or right on the porch. But when painting on the porch be sure to protect the floor by laying newspapers under the rug.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today I am printing letters from men who read "Why Grow Old?" These comment on feminine attitudes and actions. I think you will find them interesting. The letters certainly have a legitimate place in a column with this title because it is my belief that there is no greater youthifier and beautifier than love.

The following are excerpts from a long and philosophic letter:

"Dear Mrs. Lowman: Untold numbers of articles are being published in current literature, directed to men, telling them of the importance of showing their love and appreciation for their wives. It is evident in our changing society that the trend is away from the paternalistic family. Today it is expected to be a 50-50 proposition. Together the husband and wife decide the problems of child rearing, discuss family matters and financial concerns."

Up to here my reader seems to approve of this, but there is one fly in the ointment. He continues: "However, it seems to me that there is one large discrepancy. Man is supposed to be the only continual lover. Do we assume then that men do not expect and long for some show of natural affection from their wives—something that is spontaneous and quite independent of their own show of affection?

"Most articles seem to be written by women who express the female attitude—that men should keep up the pre-marital show of affection. When we do, can't we expect the same from our wives—an unexpected kiss, a 'thank you.' a handclasp or a worded glance? Do not ALL of the human race desire to be loved?"

"Mutual warmth, appreciation and awareness are absolutely essential to any happy and satisfactory reltionship between a man and a woman. It does seem to me that the majority of such articles are written to men, and certainly there are many men who need to read them.

"However, there are many fine women who consider themselves wonderful wives (who are in many ways), who fail in the romantic attitude. This may be due to strains or a rut they have fallen into, just as it may be true of a man. However, I myself always have had a sneaking suspicion that, as a whole, men may be more sentimental and more romantic than women, if given a chance.

"I believe it was Dorothy Dix who wrote that every happy marriage is an admiration society—or words to that effect."

One more short letter from a man:

"Will you write an article about helping a woman who has passed youth accept the reality of her years and make the most of them rather than try to hide them?

"It is a terrible strain to lie about age constantly. One is always forgetting and giving the secret away. When you tell the truth you can be completely relaxed."—An Annoyed Husband.

Personally, I think it is foolish for a woman to lie about her age, because she seldom will get away with it. There is always someone who "Knew You When." Anyway, the very fact that she feels it is necessary to lie reflects an old age attitude. When life is humming about your ears, and you are humming with it, the thought of years never occurs to the mind.

Wives, as well as husbands, should keep up the pre-marital show of affection with an unexpected kiss, a "thank you", a handclasp or worded glance.

Should Groom Wear War Medals?

My fiancee, who lives in England is coming to Montreal where she has an uncle and aunt. We will be married there next month and there will be about 20 guests present. I am an American veteran of the Second World War and received a Congressional Medal of Honor, which my bride-to-be wants me to wear. I would like to please her, but something tells me that it would be incorrect and I would like your advice. I do, of course, accept the fact that such a day is the bride's day of days, but I can't see that wearing the medal is important. The wedding will be at noon. What should I wear?

Louise Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

It would be all right for you to wear your decoration, but only as a lapel button, and as miniature as they make them! But I'll say this — that it is rarely done. So if you prefer not to wear one, and I think that's the way you feel, I advise you to put it away until some other time in the future when it might be more appropriate. I am on your side, for I think that war decorations are irrelevant on such an occasion as a wedding, especially in peace time. I know that your fiancee is proud of you, but surely she can forego that on this all-important day. For a wedding at noon and as small as yours, I suggest a conservative business suit. But first I would ask your fiancee to confer with her uncle and aunt in Montreal, as they are probably "sponsoring" the wedding by proxy and may have their own ideas as to what they want to do about dress. Then conform to their plan.

A CAC Fact

Did you know that work is still being done on the packaging of bacon? It used to be that the complaints the Canadian Association of Consumers received about bacon most often deplored the misleading red stripes on the transparent packaging. They said they couldn't tell what was fat and what was lean. In 1955 the stripes were banned. But thinking consumers realize that bacon simply grows with a great deal of fat content and that it's almost impossible to package it in such a way that you can see all of every strip in order to judge its leanness perfectly. Perhaps bacon should be graded for leanness. This is being done now on an experimental basis and test-marketed in the Toronto area. The outcome may mean more changes for bacon. Members of the Canadian Association of Consumers are kept up to date on matters like this through their own Bulletin.

Car Colors Reflect the Woman's Touch

It was a man who invented the automobile. But women are sharing the laurels for the modern version—long, low and light in color.

Credit goes to the female side for the pastel shades which are so popular today. When the woman of the house took over the responsibility of choosing the color for the family car, she demanded something gayer than the usual black, dark blues and greens.

With this new interest in color she has helped the designers to obtain the long, low effects in the styling of today's car. For clever placement of color creates illusions of length and width. Two and three-tones and sometimes even four colors in the lighter shades give dramatic effect to these modern lines.

The feminine point of view has become so important to car manufacturers that women are now employed as fashion coordinators on most of the styling staffs. Their influence is apparent in the color trends of cars which are following closely those in ladies' and men's fashions, and in home furnishings. It looks as though the dark colors will occupy a back seat permanently.

But working behind the scenes to bring more color to the highways is the paint industry. To meet the demand for more exciting automobile colors, paint technicians have been busy developing new colors in automotive enamels.

ASSUMES MANTLE OF STALIN

Lavish Praise for Khrushchev Hints at 'Cult' Development

BERLIN (AP) — Westerners noted that the East German Communists are referring to Nikita S. Khrushchev in terms reminiscent of the days of Stalin worship.

Students of Communism in this island inside the Soviet-ruled section of Germany say they see hints of a new cult arising in the Communist world —the cult of Khrushchev.

This speculation is based not only upon Khrushchev's tendency during his whirlwind visit here to dominate the stage, but upon the awed respect paid him by East German Communist leaders. Walter Ulbricht, who for years has ruled East Germany in the manner of Stalin, gave striking evidence of this in his speech at Leipzig in honor of the visiting Russian Communist party chief.

The Communist newspaper Neues Deutschland quoted Ulbricht as saying Communism will win in the world "under the leadership of the Communist party of the Soviet Union and under the central committee headed by Comrade Khrushchev."

This sounds much like the old days, when the Communist movement invariably was described as being under the leadship of the Soviet central committee "and Comrade Stalin."

There has been little talk lately from Khrushchev about collective leadership since he ousted his opposition in the Kremlin last month. Nor has he inveighed against the so-called cult of personality for which he condemned Stalin.

In the first six days of his current East German tour, Khrushchev has kept the rest of his Soviet delegation in the back seat.

Khrushchev spent Monday in talks with Ulbricht.

PRINCE DENIES STORK VISIT

MONACO (Reuters) — A spokesman for Prince Rainier of Monaco today categorically denied reports that Princess Grace is expecting a second child this winter.

The royal couple left Monaco in June with their seven-month-old daughter, Princess Caroline, for a holiday in Switzerland. They are due back in the first week of September.

Queen Cables Her Sympathy In Air Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — The Queen Monday expressed her sympathy to next-of-kin of the crash victims.

In a cable from Balmoral Castle, Scotland, to Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux, deputy administrator of the government in the absence of Governor-General Massey, the Queen said:

"I am shocked to learn of the accident to the aircraft in eastern Canada last night in which so many lost their lives. Please convey my sincere sympathy to the next of kin."

The message was conveyed to C. F. Burke, president of Maritime Central, to be conveyed to the next of kin, Government House announced.

Man, Wife Rescued From Burning Boat

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Historian and author Prof. A. R. M. Lower of Queen's University here and his wife were rescued Sunday from their burning boat in Lake Ontario just before the gasoline tanks exploded.

Prof. Lower said the 24-foot inboard cruiser caught fire about 300 yards off shore. Two men in a passing fishing boat took the couple off.

The professor has won two Governor-General's literary awards for books on Canadian history.

Suicide Sequel To Mexican Quake

MEXICO CITY (UP) — A building inspector who had failed to detect any flaws in an apartment before it collapsed in last month's earthquake, killing 33 persons, committed suicide in a jail cell here Monday night, police announced today.

Teodoro Vega Garriga, the inspector, and other persons connected with the construction of the building have been arrested pending investigation of charges of negligence.

The building collapse is believed by authorities to have been caused by defective construction and inferior materials.

Private Pool Drowning 'Accidental'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A pathologist Monday excluded alcohol impairment as a factor in the private pool drowning in West Vancouver last Friday.

City pathologist Dr. T. R. Harmon told an inquest jury that Philippe J. Delesalle, a Vancouver lumber executive, had an alcoholic content of .16 per cent in his blood shortly after the accident.

Dr. Harmon said: "This does not indicate a very high degree of impairment. This young man was quite capable of looking after himself in the pool."

Delesalle, 28, purchasing agent for L & K Lumber Mill in North Vancouver, was drowned in the pool at the home of J. Gordon Gibson, former Liberal MLA, where the annual get-together of the Hoo Hoo Club, a lumbermen's charity fraternity, was being held.

Dr. Harmon said he believed a blow in the region of the deceased's right loin could have been sufficient to knock his wind out.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning and recommended that a life guard be required at parties of more than 30 people where there is a swimming pool.

SEOUL FLOOD TOLL 198

SEOUL (AP)—The ministry of social affairs today said the latest official count of flood victims in the Naktong River basin area shows 198 persons dead and 49 missing. Another 243 persons were listed as injured. Floods swept through the area north of the southern port city of Pusan last weekend.

Portland Movie Ban Charged to Pressure

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Movie producer Lindsley Parsons Monday asked Sen. John McClellan's senate investigating committee to look into circumstances surrounding cancellation of a movie—suggested by the committee's activities — by Pacific Northwest theatre operators.

The producer charged that "pressure groups" were responsible for exerting influence on theatre operators in Washington and Oregon to cancel engagements for the film, "Portland Expose."

"It is obvious that some pressure groups or powerful, interested individuals influenced theatre operators to cancel the showing of the picture after it had been booked for world premieres on Aug. 14 in Portland, Ore., and Seattle and in other situations throughout the Pacific Northwest," Parsons wrote Sen. McClellan.

The producer claimed it went "beyond coincidence" that nearly 20 theatres would agree to play the picture and then cancel the bookings.

"Reasons advanced by theatre owners for cancellation have been evasive," Parsons said.

"We feel we have sufficient reason to suspect that concerted pressure was placed on these theatres but that only a congressional inquiry can determine the facts."

U.S. Envoys Warn Youths Of China Trip

WASHINGTON (UP) — The State Department has asked the American Embassy in Moscow to make last-minute efforts to warn American youths they may be in trouble if they travel to Red China.

Officials at the same time said the department is considering possible administrative and legal action if the group of Americans ignore government warnings and goes to Peiping from the Moscow youth festival.

Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson has warned a few of the more than 40 Americans planning the trip of possible consequences. He has said fines and legal action may follow and passports of those making the trip may not be renewed when they expire.

Drivers Swim As Heavy Rains Flood Britain

LONDON (AP)—More heavy rain fell on Britain today after a wild night of storms which flooded railways, roads and cellars and caused motorists to swim to safety from abandoned cars.

Heavy rainfall Monday caused the country's worst flooding this year. Three railway stations in the London area were closed this morning because of water on the tracks. Road traffic had to be diverted at many points.

At suburban East Sheen, fish floated down the main street, but they weren't from the river—the flood waters had washed them off a fishmonger's slab.

At West Ham, in London's east end, women took off their shoes and paddled into shops.

From many parts of the south came reports of motorists abandoning their cars and fire engines pumping water from homes.

Three feet of water flooded parts of Oxford, and the main road to the west leading out of the city was cut off.

Norwegians meanwhile were counting the cost of flood damage in Oslo, which Monday had the heaviest rainfall ever recorded in a single day.

Altogether 7½ inches fell, including three inches in an hour.

The streets of the Norwegian capital became rivers, stopping traffic and keeping thousands indoors. Fire engines were still trying to pump the city dry this morning.

The Young Men's Christian Association was founded in England on June 6, 1844.

Ladies Turn Trick In BCE Net Victory

Ladies carried the weight of the B.C. Electric Tennis Club's Sunday win over Port Alberni in a match held in the canal-town.

They swarmed through their five matches without a loss for the club's winning margin of 14-7.

B.C. Electric's men split their matches with the Up-Islanders, 3-3, while the mixed doubles went in Victoria's favor 6-4

SMASHED SPY RING

Cloak-Dagger Drama Becomes Real Life

NEW YORK (UP) — Boris Morros, who helped the U.S. smash a major Red spy ring, bowed out Monday as a cloak-and-dagger agent with the charge that Soviet espionage has made considerable inroads in the United States.

The 62-year-old movie director-composer, who spent 12 years posing as a "millionaire" Russian spy while actually serving as an American agent, said the Soviet have recruited many "important" people to steal U.S. secrets for them.

SOME SPIES RICH

"I know from personal information and experience," he said, "that Soviet espionage has made considerable infiltration in this country.

'Many of the Soviets' most active workers in this country don't come from the rank and file, nor the underprivileged. They are the people who have the kind of contacts which will be useful to the Soviets and they are being paid to do their job of treason to the U.S."

Morros said many of Russia's American agents are financially independent and some are held in high esteem. One, he said, is a "prominent American woman" who almost gave him away once as a counter-spy.

TO RESUME CAREER

Hours of detailed testimony by Morros before a federal grand jury brought the arrest of Jack and Myra Soble and their co-spy Jacob Albam and George and Jane Foster Zlatovski, another husband-and-wife team of alleged spies.

Now he hopes to resume his Hollywood movie career, which he left at considerable financial sacrifice in 1947.

Acting U.S. Attorney Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr. attended the news conference and interrupted several times to rule out questions asked by newsmen. He would not allow Morros to disclose the identity of the "prominent American woman" nor discuss his financial arrangement with the government.

WORKED WITH FBI

Morros, who speaks Russian and eight other languages fluently, said he was approached by the Reds in 1945 and asked to be a spy. He immediately went to the government and two years later disappeared from his Hollywood haunts to pass on to the Russians "secret documents" approved by the FBI.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort
Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

STARCHING MAKES SUCH A DIFFERENCE...

"And GLIDE makes exactly-right starching so easy"

As easy as this! You simply add Glide to water (that's all!) and your starch is instantly ready to use . . . light, medium or heavy, exactly as you want it every time.

Glide contains blue for whitening, and a special ingredient to make your ironing very much smoother

MARKET SUMMARIES

Price Dips Continue On Toronto Exchange

The Toronto stock market continued its downward trend today in moderate trading. Price changes in most cases were narrow but there were a few exceptions.

McColl lost five points at 67½ among industrials and Union Gas and Industrial Acceptance were each off 1½ points. Lower-priced mines levelled off in a wide front.

The New York market was a little higher in trading today. Gains ranged from fractions to a little more than a point. Losses were mostly in fractions.

AT TORONTO senior base metals were fractionally lower despite a ⅞-point advance by Noranda to 42⅞.

McIntyre dipped two points to 92½ among senior golds and Preston East Dome lost 15 cents at $7.05 in lower-priced golds. Stanrock was up 19 cents to $2.25 among Uraniums. Cayzor, Bicroft and Stanleigh were easier.

Fargo led western oils down with a 45-cent decline to $6.45. General Pete was off 30 cents to $5 and Canadian Export Gas 25 cents to $7.85. Gains were limited to 10 cents or less.

AT NEW YORK Canadian gainers included Aluminum Ltd., up 1; Canadian Pacific, ⅛; and Distillers - Seagrams, ⅛. Losers were McIntyre Porcupine, 1¼; International Nickel, 1; Walker-Gooderman, ⅝; and Hudson Bay Mining, 1.

Canadian issues were quiet on the American exchange, except for oils which were fractionally lower. Fargo Oil lost ¼; Scurry-Rainbow ⅛; and Jupiter Oils and Sapphire Petrolums 1/16 each. In the mines, Molybdenite added 1/16.

AT LONDON the partial devaluation of the French franc caused some nervousness on the stock exchange today.

The feature was the sharp setback in gilt-edged securities which at one time showed losses of nearly a point. However, there was little selling and prices closed well above the lowest.

Rails were dull, Canadian Pacific was easier in company with other Canadian and United States dollar stocks, reflecting Monday's fresh decline on Wall Street. International Nickel was particularly depressed.

AT MONTREAL industrial prices today ranged irregularly lower in moderate trading on the stock exchange here.

In newsprints, Powell River at 35¾ and Howard Smith at 28¾ each dropped 1¼ while Price Brothers was up ⅞ to 49⅞. Dominion Steel was down ⅞ at 28⅝ while Steel of Canada at 65¾ and Dominion Foundries at 31½ each slipped ¾. In beverages, Walker lost a point at 74, and in carriers Canada Steamships was down an equal amount at 42.

AT VANCOUVER there was little change in prices on a dull market. Canadian Collieries (prf.) sold 10,000 at 70. Peace River Pete moved 5,600 between $1.25 and $1.40. Vantor 7,200 at $1.95. Trojan sold 13,000 at 46.

International Revaluation Of Currency W. German Plan

BONN (AP) — West Germany's economic chief says the German mark is worth more than its official rate but the Bonn government will not boost its value without a massive international currency revaluation.

He called for the United States to take "the moral leadership" in revamping the world's rates of exchange.

Economic Minister Ludwig Erhard, generally acknowledged as the driving force in Germany's spectacular post-war economic rise, outlined his views in an interview.

What the world needs, he said, is a limited period during which all currencies of the world would be free to peg themselves at their natural level.

Financial publications in Britain and the Continent have been hammering away for months at the idea that the mark is worth more than its official rate and should be increased in value. Erhard conceded this point for the first time today, blaming "rigid rates of exchange" in other countries.

BONN WON'T ACT

But even though the mark is under-valued, Erhard declared, the Bonn government has no intention of uprating it on its own. The mark now is officially worth 23.9 cents U.S. A more realistic rate, it has been suggested, would be about 26.3 cents.

Erhard said German financial policy has succeeded in keeping prices stable in the Bonn republic.

"Seen in this light, it can hardly be expected that Germany should try to eliminate through a unilateral measure the mistakes and tensions existing elsewhere in Europe."

That statement was an obvious swipe at France, where the government has just announced a partial devaluation of the franc.

Erhard made clear that he does not approve of such partial steps.

Home Building Shows Decline

OTTAWA (BUP) — The bureau of statistics reported today there were "substantial declines" in the construction of new dwelling units during the first half of 1957, from the levels of a year ago.

Starts were made on 48,478 housing units in the first half of this year, down 19.5 per cent from a year ago. The drop affected all provinces except Saskatchewan.

The number of units completed in the first half of the year was 50,435, down 13.1 per cent from a year ago. There were increases in Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, but these were more than offset by decreases in the other provinces.

New Oil Field Tapped In North Dakota Area

DENVER (AP) — Tapping a new North Dakota field, Northwest Oil Drilling completed its No. 1 Bunting well in Burke County for 225 barrels of oil a day, Petroleum Information says in its weekly summary of western drilling. Production came from the Midale formation at 6,107-14 and 6,117-27 feet.

The same operator also recovered oil on a drill stem test of the Midale at its No. 1 Holte well in the same area. The field is 10 miles southeast of the Columbus field.

In the Beaver Lodge field of North Dakota's Williams County, Amerada Petroleum reported a flow of 409 barrels a day from 10,145-460 feet in its No. 1 Iverson-Nelson.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Grain prices showed a little irregularity in moderately active trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

This was particularly apparent in flax trade, where more liberal offerings appeared. Hedging sales were in large volume in this commodity, and other offerings were from United States sources. Support in flax was credited to processors and commission houses.

Oats and barley prices moved within a narrow range and commercial demand was mainly of a domestic shipping nature. A few buying orders in oats were credited to American houses.

Rye trade was light, with U.S. interests on both sides of the market. Prices moved within relatively narrow limits.

There were no reports of overseas business in Canadian coarse grains.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures, which made a strong advance in the previous session, staggered a bit in early board of trade dealings today and then moved upward again.

Soybeans, which had gained three to six cents Monday, started with losses of around two cents, then gained somewhat because of the strength in wheat. Early losses were due partly to profit taking.

New crop wheat futures hit new highs in the buying, which was due to flour business and indications of light hedging sales despite movement of the new spring wheat crop.

Corn faltered somewhat after Monday's advance, and oats turned slightly weak with corn at times.

CHANNEL CONQUEROR BEATEN BY STRAIT

'Water Too Cold' Says Quebec Star; Won't Try Again

Juan de Fuca Strait is at least twice as tough as the English Channel, 32-year-old Quebec swimmer Jacques Amyot decided today after a brief but chilly attempt from Ediz Hook, Port Angeles.

He plunged in at 8 a.m., climbed out, shivering, at 9.50 a.m.

It will be his last attempt.

Interviewed at McKay-Cormack dock, where the escort boat landed him, Amyot said:

"I would rather swim the English channel twice than the Strait once. It was too cold."

And he added "I won't try it again."

His trainer, Raymond Roy, said water temperature was 49. "He started out at 52 strokes to the minute, and after an hour said 'I'm going to make it.'"

At which pointed Aymot, grinning, interrupted. "And after two hours, I said 'I quit.'"

Distance covered before the attempt was abandoned was about three miles.

JACQUES AMYOT
. . . he's had enough

TRAINER CRIES

Mr. Roy cried when Amyot decided to give up and climbed aboard the 75-foot yacht Lady Marjory, but Amyot was cheerful despite a blue tinge to his complexion.

"I'm not tired at all," he said as he bounded into a cabin for an interview. "I think I could have beaten the currents but not the cold.

"That was the toughest swim I ever tried and I can believe people now when they say it's the Mount Everest of swims," he said.

"It must be the toughest swim in the whole world."

Amyot's face turned serious when he said he was sorry for the people of Quebec City, who financed the attempt through a public subscription.

RUSS FLATLY REJECT WEST ARMS PROPOSALS

LONDON (UP)—The Soviet delegate flatly rejected a Western offer for manpower cuts linked to settlement of East-West issues and ignored the West's new plan for open skies inspection at today's five-power disarmament conference meeting.

The unexpected stand by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin was the first major Russian policy statement since Secretary of State John Foster Dulles appealed two weeks ago for a break-through in the current stalemate of the arms parley.

FINAL ★★★★ BULLETINS

U.S. Denies Plot Against Syria Regime

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria today accused the United States of plotting to overthrow President Shukri Kuwatly's government.

The U.S. Embassy here quickly labelled the charge a "complete fabrication."

Trail Man Named Track Coach

TRAIL (CP) — Joe Haley, Trail Athletic Association track and field coach, was told today he has been selected as head coach of the British Columbia track and field team competing in the Canadian Olympic training school at Toronto.

Prisoner Recaptured by RCMP

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—A 21-year-old man who slipped out of police court here minutes after he had been sentenced for stealing his grandmother's life savings was recaptured by RCMP today.

Rae Charles Easson was apprehended aboard a CNR train when it stopped at Hazelton at 3 a.m.

Aconic Head Files Bankruptcy Papers

MONTREAL (CP)—General manager C. J. Butler of Aconic Mining Corporation has filed papers with the bankruptcy court, it was announced today.

His assets were reported at 1,040,005 shares of Aconic Mining Corporation at $2.20 a share and valued at $2,288,055. His liabilities were declared at $2,612,415.

His action follows last Tuesday's dive in Aconic stock from $11.38 to $1 on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

More Russ Arms Unloaded at Yemen

ADEN (Reuters)—An official communique issued today said another Russian ship has unloaded arms at the Yemen port of Salif—the seventh shipload to be received there from Soviet bloc countries.

It said about 50 technicians and advisers, including a number of pilots, went with the arms.

St. Laurent, Aides Plan New Strategy

OTTAWA (CP) — Former Prime Minister St. Laurent today began confidential talks with members of his defeated cabinet.

It was understood he mapped out new strategy and programs that may be used by the Liberals in attempts to regain power in the next general election.

The meeting, expected to continue for two days, opened in National Liberal Federation headquarters. Only those who had been cabinet members were admitted. But federation officers were told to stand by, possibly to be called into discussions later in the day.

The talks were shrouded in secrecy but those close to the Liberal hierarchy said that, by the way the 75-year-old party leader spoke, Mr. St. Laurent appeared to have no intention of planning any early retirement. He may disclose some of his plans at a press conference likely to be held Wednesday at the close of the meetings.

Eleven former cabinet ministers — some successful and others defeated in the June 10 vote—were reported to have attended the meeting. Included were Lester Pearson, former external affairs minister, who likely would be a strong contender for the leadership if Mr. St. Laurent should step down.

Others attending and their former portfolios: James Gardiner, agriculture; J. W. Pickersgill, immigration; Lionel Chevrier, privy council president; Walter Harris, finance; Paul Martin, health; George Marler, transport; Stuart Garson, justice; Paul Hellyer, associate defence; Jean Lesage, northern affairs; Hugues Lapointe, veterans affairs.

Four of these, Mr. Harris, Mr. Garson, Mr. Hellyer and Mr. Lapointe, lost their seats June 10.

Swamp Buries Clues

ISSOUDUN, Que. (CP)—The muddy soil of a swamp today still concealed the bodies of 78 of the 79 victims of Canada's worst air disaster — the crash of a Maritime Central Airways DC-4 near here Sunday.

It appears the fuselage and many bodies are beneath a layer of muddy soil in a crater created by the crash.

Lieut. Martin Healey of provincial police said today all the water has been pumped out of the crater and that digging into the muddy soil would start this afternoon.

"The pumps installed at the crater worked all night and it has been emptied, but there is no sign of any of the 78 bodies or of any plane debris."

The body of a baby—one of three aboard the plane—was recovered Sunday night.

Deputy Attorney-General Cantin of Quebec arrived on the scene this morning and said the provincial government has decided to assume temporarily all expenses involved in the operation.

The plane, bound for Toronto from London when it crashed, carried 73 passengers and a crew of six.

Crews of provincial policemen plodded through ankle-deep mud in the swamp collecting bits of clothing and personal effects. One of the articles turned up was the passport of Anne-Marie Harvey of Moncton, N.B., one of two stewardesses aboard the plane.

Police maintained a tight cor-

Oman Rebels Threaten to Call Russ

BAHREIN, Persian Gulf (UP) — A thousand Bedouins from nine tribes loyal to the Sultan of Muscat and Oman moved in from the hills today like conquerors to take over territory wrested from rebel forces in the nearly ended war.

In Cairo, meanwhile, Shiek al Hartthy, spokesman for the Imam said the Oman rebels would ally themselves with Russia if the United Nations fails them. Monday, the Arab League political committee decided to ask for a UN Security Council meeting on "British aggression in Oman."

The Sultan's troops were reported advancing from the east and west into the heart of rebel territory where only two forts are still flying the flag of the rebel Iman of Oman. They were Tanuf and Jabrin, some 20 miles west of Nizwa.

BLOOD DRIVE UNDER WAY WITH RUSH

The "Mayor's Drive" for blood donations to the district Red Cross got under way with a flurry at 1.30 p.m. today.

First to register, even before doors were officially opened, was Saanich Reeve Arthur Ash. He had earlier called Saanich residents to support the drive.

Mayor Percy Scurrah, who sponsors the two-day clinic to bolster dwindling hospital blood banks, has challenged Vancouver and New Westminster residents in a contest to see which city will give most blood per 1,000 citizens.

Tags will be issued to all donors who attend the clinic today and Wednesday between 1.30 and 4.30 p.m. and 7 and 9.30 p.m.

Sales Tax Cut Main Plank For Liberals in By-Election

Accepting nomination in Burnaby, provincial Liberal Leader Arthur Laing Monday night laid down a 16-point party platform for the three by-elections Sept. 9.

Highlight of the platform is a demand for an immediate reduction of the provincial sales tax from 5 to 4 per cent.

Mr. Laing also said the sales tax should be further reduced to 3 per cent when federal health insurance becomes effective within the next year or two.

Backing his tax-cut demand, Mr. Laing said:

"For the year ending March 31, 1957, the premier announced an operating surplus of $38,000,000, or almost 15 per cent overtaxation.

"This extra purchasing power should be returned to the individual now. Most people need it."

The federal health insurance scheme will save B.C. $16,000,000 annually, but will require additional federal taxation, Mr. Laing said.

Without a reduction in the provincial tax "we would be charged twice for the same service," Mr. Laing said.

These are the other platform planks listed by Mr. Laing:

Removal of all tolls from bridges and ferries.

Exemption of home building materials, meals and essential clothing from the sales tax.

Reduction of the passenger car licence to $10.

Removal of the tax on fuel oil.

Repeal of the Mineral Tax Act.

Payment of the full provincial bonus of $20 to all qualified old age pensioners.

Extension of hospital insurance to cover diagnostic outpatient and chronic care, and construction of chronic hospitals.

Full arbitration rights for civil servants.

Provision of an appeal board under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Payment of full municipal taxes on provincial government property.

Revision of the new Municipal Act in accordance with recommendation of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

Protection of prospectors by re-establishing Crown-granted mineral claims.

Implementing of provincial

Rioting Poles Defy Gov't Forces

LODZ, Poland (UP)—The government rushed police reinforcements today from Warsaw to Lodz, Poland's second largest city, where a sitdown streetcar strike threatened to touch off a new wave of "bread and freedom" riots.

After dangerous clashes Monday, striking street car workers had barricaded themselves in the city's two biggest trolley terminals. They vowed they would not come out until their wage demands are met.

The situation was tense and ugly.

Militiamen (police) armed with pistols and clubs surrounded the two depots, and police radio cars swarmed in the streets. The licence plates of the prowl cars showed that many of them had moved in from the capital.

Street car traffic halted completely. Army trucks shuttled along the main trolley routes providing substitute transportation for stranded wayfarers.

The truck drivers were the only troops in evidence in the city early today.

(Rumors circulating in Warsaw said Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka has assigned Gen. Komar, chief of internal security, and Gen. Jan Frey-Bielicki, commander of the air force, to deal with "any emergency.")

The 600 strikers holding out in the vast Dambrowski depot sent word that they would not bulge from their stronghold, but were willing to have a delegation of 50 men meet with local government minister Stanislaw Sroka. Monday, the strikers refused to send a delegation because they feared its members would be arrested. But they

IDOLS DRAWN INTO LIBEL TRIAL

Gable, O'Hara Had 'Affairs' Ex-Editor, Call Girl Testify

(From Times News Services)

LOS ANGELES — Actress Francesca de Scaffa once said she had an affair with Clark Gable in order to get information for an article, says a witness at the Confidential magazine libel trial, but Gable denies even knowing the actress.

On the Hawaiian island of Maui, Gable said Monday night about testimony concerning the purported affair: "I think I would remember that, but to my knowledge I never met the lady in my life."

Howard Rushmore, former Confidential editor, testified Monday that Miss de Scaffa, former wife of actor Bruce Cabot, told him she had the affair with Gable. At the time, Rushmore said, she was gathering information for a story on Josephine Dillion, a drama coach to whom Gable was married from 1924 to 1930.

Rushmore had testified earlier that Miss de Scaffa, whom he identified as Confidential's chief source of information in Hollywood, had told him she would be willing to have affairs with movie stars to get material for stories. Rushmore said he had no knowledge of her purported affair with Gable other than what she had told him.

Miss de Scaffa, who is under indictment in this case, is in Mexico.

Names prominent not only in movie circles but international affairs dropped like leaves at the trial Monday, and indications were this was only the start.

Russmore said he had wanted to write a story about Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, but was overruled by publisher Robert Harrison because it wouldn't be "politically wise" to publish it.

Rushmore said he and Harrison had many discussions about whether their stories would hurt Hollywood personalities.

"Harrison said the main object was to sell magazines," Rushmore said, "and it wasn't within our province to deter-

Tighter Knot Joins Germany With Soviets

BERLIN (UP) — Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev signed an agreement with East German leaders today to tighten Soviet-East German economic and political ties.

The East German radio said the agreement covered "further co-operation" between the two nations, "problems of the international workers movement," and other economic and political problems.

The broadcast said the agreement provided for "friendship, mutual aid, the strengthening of peace in Europe, and the welfare of the German people."

It was signed by Khrushchev, Soviet deputy premier Anastas Mikoyan, East German Premier Otto Grotewohl and East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht.

The agreement was believed to promise Soviet political, military and economic support for East Germany, and to rule out any hopes of unification in the foreseeable future.

Khrushchev has made it plain since he arrived in East Berlin last Wednesday that Germany can be reunited only on Communist terms.

He rejected Western proposals for unity through free elections and said a unified Germany cannot be a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It was considered certain the agreement indorsed the Stalinist leaders of East Germany and promised them Soviet aid if East Germans revolt against Red rule.

It was expected to blame the West for the split of Germany and to charge West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer with aggressive aims.

The Communists cracked the whip over reluctant workers to give Khrushchev a rousing send-off before he left for home.

They drafted workers to gather at a mass rally in East Berlin's Marx-Engels Platz at 4 p.m. in hopes of marshalling a crowd of 250,000 to hear Khrushchev address a mass meeting.

Party underlings were ordered to attend. Special trains were sent to haul in crowds from suburbs for miles around the Communist capital.

As an extra added attraction, spectators who wait out the Soviet leader's exposition of his new "guns AND butter" line were promised a fireworks display.

Khrushchev may also give a preview of the "important agreements" he and local Communist leaders are scheduled to sign Wednesday.

Current indications are that the agreements will be no more than a reaffirmation of the Kremlin policy on Germany, rejecting free elections in the divided country and assuring the Red regime that Soviet soldiers will crush any new attempt at a Hungary-style revolt in East Germany.

Mrs. Johnson Rites Set Wednesday

Funeral service for Mrs. Marion Johnson, who was the wife of Oak Bay Coun. John V. Johnson, will be held at St. John's Church Wednesday at 3.15 p.m.

A well-known city clubwoman, Mrs. Johnson was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Penketh, a pioneer family of Victoria. She had belonged to the Rotary Annes, the women's auxiliary of the YMCA and of the United Commercial Travellers.

Surviving are the widower, John, and a son, John Penketh, of 3118 Henderson.

Funeral procession will leave Hayward's Funeral Home at 3 p.m. for St. John's Church, where Canon George Biddle will officiate. Mrs. Johnson was associated with the church for 63 years.

Cremation will follow the service.

WEATHER HALTS NUCLEAR TEST

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission lost a battle with the weather early today and was forced to call the 15th postponement in the firing of its "Shasta" nuclear device.

The test was set for 5 a.m. PDT but less than an hour before the device was to be triggered atop a 500-foot tower scientists decided that wind conditions could carry fallout over populated areas near the Nevada proving grounds. The AEC will try again at the same time Wednesday.

British Warn Mid-East Red Testing Ground

LONDON (UP) — Diplomatic officials warned today that Soviet Russia is fast turning the strategic Middle East into a new "testing centre" in the great power conflict.

This conclusion stemmed from the disquieting Red arms buildup in the area, which is currently being stepped up anew by Moscow under agreements with Arab nations.

Coinciding with the arms buildup is a stepped-up anti-Israel campaign in which members of the Supreme Soviet now are reported to have joined.

Latest reports reaching London claim that Red arms thus far delivered to Egypt and Syria by far exceed the present needs of their respective armies.

A further disquieting factor is that the arms are not only of a defense nature.

Further arms deliveries were believed to have been negotiated between Syria and Russia in last week's Moscow arrangements.

An impending review of the Cairo-Prague "trade accord" also was expected to provide for more weapons for Egypt in the near future.

Moreover, Russia has begun to increase the flow of naval units to Arab nations, including torpedo foat flotillas and long-range submarines which experts feared would adversely affect the naval balance in the Eastern Mediterranean.

FERRIES KEPT BUSY

KELOWNA — Ferries carried 27,907 passengers and 19,405 vehicles in 535 trips across Okanagan Lake during the four days of the annual regatta here last week, highways department officials said Monday.

Militia as CD Force Feared by Officers

OTTAWA (CP)—Some militia commanders contend the defence department is trying to convert the 40,000-man reserve army into a civil defence organization.

They say a conversion is being attempted in an "undercover" manner to prevent a furore in the militia and political repercussions.

Defence department officials say the only directive on the matter instructs militia units to pay attention to civil defence.

This in itself, some militia commanders argue, is the handwriting on the wall for the reserve army in its present form. They are strenuously opposed to the militia giving up its present role though willing to take on some civil defence tasks.

They say the militia, if it ever becomes a full-fledged civil defence organization, will lose members right and left. The reserve already is down to 40,845, nearly 7,000 less than its postwar peak in 1953 and smaller than in 1950, first year of the Korean War.

One senior militia commander put it this way:

No one knows whether another war would be fought with atomic or conventional weapons.

If it were fought with atomic weapons there would be little point in having a regular army, let alone a reserve, because there would be no time to reinforce the infantry brigade in West Germany.

However, if the war were of the conventional type the militia could again play its traditional role by forming the backbone of the citizen army with the regulars and training it.

There would not be as much time to train an army as there was in 1939 but with proper planning the wheels could be put in motion rapidly.

The commander said if the defence department works on the premise that Canada needs a regular army, then it should accept the projection of that policy—the need for a reserve army as well.

EGYPTOLOGIST HEAVILY FINED FOR SMUGGLING

CAIRO (UP) — American archaeologist Charles A. Muses was found guilty today of trying to smuggle antiquities out of Egypt and of illegal money dealings.

He received a suspended sentence of 13 months and was fined 19,000 pounds (about $58,539).

He pleaded innocent to both charges on grounds he was completely ignorant of Egyptian law. The prosecution asked 7 to 10 years' imprisonment and a fine.

Muses also faces trial before the Cairo Criminal Court on charges of possessing unlicensed firearms.

Police Map Secret Plans To Combat Winter Crime

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — Officials of the city police force met Monday night to discuss secret plans they will use next winter to combat crime here.

The meeting was held in the home of Police Commissioner C. C. Merritt, V.C., and was attended by Chief Constable George Archer, Deputy Chief Ambrose, their executive officers and division commanders.

More meetings are planned by the group.

Deputy Chief Ambrose said: "Our plans are based on last year's experience. We had nearly 100 holdups then, and we had to put emergency plans into operation. This time we're not going to take any chances."

The plans were not announced, "for obvious reasons."

SHOT KILLS GIRL

POWELL RIVER—A 12-year-old girl, accidentally shot in the throat while playing with a number of other children at Westview, died in hospital here.

The victim was Barbara Lock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lock of Westview, a suburb of Powell River.

She was playing with friends Sunday afternoon when a five-year-old boy went into his home and brought out a .22 calibre rifle. The weapon was passed around as the children examined it, when it suddenly went off, the bullet striking Barbara in the throat.

WOMAN DRIVER CHARGED

VANCOUVER—Criminal negligence charge against a woman who allegedly tried to run down two police constables will be heard in police court next Monday.

Anne McCormack, 34, was remanded for one week by Magistrate Oscar Orr. She did not plead to the charge.

She was arrested by traffic officers Ed Leask and Derek Trehearne late Saturday after a four-block stop-and-go chase.

INQUESTS ADJOURNED

KELOWNA — Inquests into the deaths of two men killed in separate automobile accidents Saturday were adjourned for two weeks after a coroner's jury viewed the bodies Monday.

Enquiry into the death of R. M. Warren, of Vancouver, killed at Westbank, will reopen Aug. 28. Inquest into the death of Mike Arecow, of Grand Forks, will be conducted Aug. 21.

STRIKE HALTS PROJECTS

VANCOUVER—Work on 16 construction projects came to a standstill Monday when 160 floorlayers went on strike over the date on which an agreed pay increase should become effective.

Work on the projects, which involve contracts estimated to be worth $5,000,000 and include additions to schools and an army housing scheme, was stopped by refusal of 600 other construction workers to cross picket lines set up by the floorlayers union.

Head-On Smash-Up Takes Father of Two

Widow and Children Receive $10,000 on $5,000 Policy

On his way to spend the week with his family, a young businessman was the victim of a highway smash-up.

His death came only a few months after he took out a Confederation Life Policy for $5,000, with an Accidental Death & Dismemberment clause. He chose this policy because of its low cost Double Indemnity guarantee in case of accidental death.

It was a wise choice because Confederation Life promptly paid his widow twice the face value of the policy, $10,000 instead of $5,000. This substantial sum of money was a godsend to the bereaved family.

A $5,000 policy with Confederation's Accidental Death and Dismemberment Benefit pays:

- Liberal cash payments for non-fatal dismemberment accidents and
- $5,000 if you die from natural causes.
- $10,000 if you die by accident.
- $15,000 if you die by accident while a passenger in a commercial bus, taxi, street car, train, ship or commercial aircraft, or in a fire in a public building.

CONFESSION WITHDRAWN

Kidnapped, Tortured Says Egypt Suspect

CAIRO (CP)—A defendant in Egypt's trial of 13 men accused of plotting against President Nasser's government testified today that Egyptian army intelligence kidnapped him. He withdrew a confession he said he was forced to make.

The defendant is Abdel Hamid Islambouli, employee in the ministry of national guidance and one of five civilians on trial. He said the confession introduced by the prosecution in the indictment was made under "severe oppression and threats." Islambouli told the court:

"I was not arrested. I was kidnapped by Egyptian army intelligence."

Islambouli's confession had been one of the main bases for the prosecution's case against the 13 accused of conspiring to assassinate Nasser and his cabinet and overthrow the regime.

The defendants include two former cabinet ministers—Mohamed Salah el Din and Abdel Fattah Hassan—and retired Brig. Amhed Atef Nasser.

Islambouli almost broke down as he testified that he had been tortured by intelligence officers and prison authorities since he was interned April 22.

At one point the presiding judge of the six-man military tribunal, Maj.-Gen. Mohamed Fuad el Digwy, tried to prevent Islambouli from saying more about torture.

Islambouli said a glass of water was put before him but he was told he could not drink until he had confessed. Then he was told his wife had been arrested. He said he agreed to sign a confession on condition that his wife would not be touched and would be paid £20 ($57) a month.

The prosecutor read a letter which he said Islambouli wrote to his wife from jail, asking her to tell another defendant to deny his confession and say it had been made under torture.

False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!

Soak your plates in Polident daily to avoid "Denture Breath"

Polident is the specially designed cleanser that keeps false teeth—and breath—clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules.

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.
2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."
3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident is the denture cleanser recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odorfree. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

Reduce your INCOME TAX while you save for RETIREMENT

Recent changes in the Income Tax Act now make it possible for many Canadians to obtain retirement pension annuities on much more favourable terms than before.

Within prescribed limits, contributions to a retirement savings plan are now deductible from your taxable income. Imperial Bank of Canada offers you a convenient method of making your annuity premium payments. Open a Savings Account at any branch of Imperial, and deposit regularly. On your direction, we will make the necessary premium payments to your Insurance Company, Trust Company, or other institution through which you have arranged your retirement plan.

Remember too . . . the money you deposit at Imperial will earn you interest while you save.

Centuries Old Swiss Home; Farm Where Stove Glows

By STELLA GUMMOW

Geneva, Switzerland.

Our flight here was another of the pleasant trips we have had all the way. We flew over the Alps, breathtaking in splendor, and then down over the rolling farms that surround Geneva.

"At our hotel, right on Lake Geneva, it is green and lovely. We sat out tonight at the sidewalk cafe to have our after-dinner cafe au lait. The high mountain was sending its whirling spray into the water below us.

Stella

"Our Cook's guide here, a charming woman has shown us the League of Nations building which now has ECOSAC (the Economic and Social Council).

"We went through in groups. The French speaking group was just ahead of us.

"Then we saw the beautiful gardens and parks; the headquarters of the International Red Cross and the simple but perfect Church of John Calvin. (There are many memorials to John Calvin in this Protestant city).

"Yesterday afternoon we were guests of the Swiss Countrywomen's group—their English was away better than my French. But, with "oui, oui" and "merci, beaucoup" and, what we could remember of our French, we had a wonderful time waving hands and smiling and laughing.

"They took us first to the horticultural school where we were shown around by the director. His French was translated by our Quebec member, so we managed to get the drift of everything he was saying about the fruit and flowers. (The names of many of them were English).

"Then we went on to see an old chateau, held in the family since 1082 and our gracious hostess showed us the room where her relative Josephine lived after her divorce from Napoleon.

"Next, we visited a farm set in a countryside of prosperous wheat fields, heavy with grain. The farm house has been in the family since the 12th century and, as the day was rainy and cool the big kitchen stove was glowing with a welcome warmth. (There was a time in Colombo when we thought we'd never need heat again).

"Our hosts specialized in vineyards, cattle and grain. The cows were in the barn and we saw that they are much heavier than ours; even heavier than the Guernseys which they most nearly resemble. There was an enormous bull with sharp horns. He seemed rather unfriendly.

Final Lap of Exciting Tour

London, England.

"This will be my last letter for I shall be back in good old British Columbia before August 15.

"Paris was at its best in bright sunshine. Some of us went to the Casino; some to the Folies Bergere; some to the Louvre, a treasured morning; some took the boat trip on the Seine.

"We all went to Versailles and we all toured the city with Cooks.

"We visited the new eight million and a half dollar UNESCO building, which will be finished in a year's time. We climbed 146 steps to the seventh floor (elevators are not yet installed) and then, on our return to the ground, we went to the room that will be the conference room.

"Here there was an open air section with three flags flying—United States, United Nations and French. We were told that a group of American architects were being entertained that morning and, if they had known the Canadians were coming, they would have flown a Canadian flag, too.

"At Paris, as in Rome, we were confronted with an airport tax and, as we had all tried to use up our French money, we were taken aback. However, after a little scrambling, we managed to raise it and flew off across the Channel.

"There was a glorious view of London from the air and we dropped down to the same gorgeous weather (blue skies and bright sun) that we have experienced around the world.

"Today is the trip to Denman College; tomorrow we meet our Canadian representative on the executive committee of the Associated Countrywomen of the World.

"Then I go to Ireland. My Irish hostess has just arrived home from Ceylon and I know I will enjoy that visit to the home of my ancestors.

"Will see you soon. It will be wonderful to be home!"

RETIREMENT BRINGS FAMILY BACK TO CITY

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bigford, left, have accompanied Mrs. Bigford's parents, Major and Mrs. E. P. Roberts, right, here from Ottawa for a few weeks' visit. Major Roberts has retired after 34 years service with the Royal Canadian Engineers and the senior couple will make their home here. They are living temporarily at 1554 Athlone Drive. The children are, left, Terrie, 2½, and 9-month-old Barry Bigford, with their young uncle, Wayne Roberts, 8, at the right.

TOURS RADAR LINE

Woman Travels 2,700-Mile Defence Line; Checks Menus for Male Staffs

MONTREAL (CP) — Nancy Skinner of Montreal invades the masculine world of the Mid-Canada radar line to check up on menus. As a dietitian for the Bell Telephone Company, she tours the main and intermediate stations of the 2,700-mile defence network by plane, train, helicopter, jeep and sled. Bell maintains the radar line running from the Atlantic coast into British Columbia, through often-rugged terrain. Miss Skinner also reports to the RCAF which operates the radar sites.

Meals for men are familiar to her. As a messing officer in the RCAF for four years she knows her steaks and chops.

BRIGHT KITCHENS

Fresh and frozen meats, vegetables, fruits and other staples arrive by sea or rail and are flown by helicopter to the isolated sites. She says she has been impressed by the brightly-lit, smartly-decorated compactness of kitchens hidden in the north, kitchens complete with deep-freeze and storage space.

The only request she's had so far from Mid-Canada personnel for extra supplies, she says, came from one chef who wanted an angel-food cake tin.

Miss Skinner has learned the fine points about travelling in a no-woman's land. Often the only woman in a large camp, she packs her own shoe-polishing kit, detergent for laundering and washable plastic overshoes. She has shaped her hair-styling for simple self-setting. And she has abandoned nail-polish and other feminine fripperies that are a little awkward in her style of northern travel.

When winter comes, she abandons her fur coat and smart tweed suits in favor of the shapeless but warmer bulk of RCAF slacks and parka.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Birthday Celebration

Miss Barbara Underwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Underwood on Woodley Road, celebrated her 21st birthday at the home of her parents on Friday evening. Nearly 20 guests, all friends and relatives of Miss Underwood, attended the buffet supper and party.

Home Again

Mrs. Stella Gummow has returned to Victoria after a two-month journey around the world. Mrs. Gummow, superintendent of women's institutes in British Columbia, was one of a group of Canadian women who attended meetings of the Associated Countrywomen of the World in Colombo in the course of the world tour.

Play Reading

Resumes of "Twelfth Night" and "The Turn of the Screw" were read recently at the home of Mrs. J. Hobson on Argyle Street. At the close of the evening, refreshments were served to the guests, who included Mrs. A. H. F. Stelck and Miss Stelck, Mr. and Mrs. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Curtis, Mrs. M. Allingham, Misses Sara Spencer, K. Youdall, E. Wallace, M. Patterson, F. McConnell, Mildred Barker, Muriel Gould, F. Turner, N. Wyles, G. Scott and N. Burridge.

IN HONOR OF THE BRIDE

The Scolton Road home of Mrs. D. McColl was the setting for a shower held in honor of Miss Patricia Turner, August bride-elect. Corsages of gladioli were presented to Miss Turner, her mother, Mrs. E. Turner, and to Mrs. James Guest, mother of the groom-elect. Gifts were arranged in a brightly decorated umbrella. Invited guests included Mrs. G. Bunch, Mrs. G. Bennett, Mrs. M. Clark, Mrs. G. Bradley, Mrs. W. Dabinett, Mrs. J. Hayes and Misses Marie Dabinett, Anne Pearson, Norah Larson and S. McGill.

Miss Katharine Riddle, August bride-elect, was honored at a recent shower given by Mrs. S. C. Hawkins and her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Roberts, Jr., at the summer home of Mrs. P. Riddle, Deep Cove. A corsage of pale pink carnations was presented to the guest of honor, while her mother, Mrs. P. Riddle, received a bouquet of pink gladioli. Gifts were arranged in a decorated telephone, and buffet supper was served. Guests included Mrs. J. J. Riddle, Mrs. W. Riddle, Mrs. J. Berryman, Mrs. G. Hanford, Mrs. R. Riddle, Mrs. J. Noble, Mrs. D. Gardler, Mrs. A. Noble, Mrs. V. Sanford, Mrs. J. Ormond, Mrs. T. Sturgess and Mrs. A. Marshall. Also present at the shower were Misses C. Graham, C. Gardler, A. Beaumont, S. Noble, J. Ormond and B. Berryman.

Miss Christina Boyd, a popular member of Victoria basketball and softball teams, was honored recently at a shower given by Mrs. Walter Yeamans at her home on Quadra Street. Miss Boyd was presented with a corsage of white gladioli, while her mother, Mrs. W. M. Boyd, and Mrs. R. Leach, mother of the groom-elect, received pink and peach gladioli corsages. Refreshments were served from a lace covered table centered with a cleverly decorated shower cake. Invited guests included Mrs. Cash Douglas, Mrs. Helen Young, Mrs. Pat Metcalfe, Mrs. S. Lewis, Mrs. L. Mustard, Mrs. E. Donaldson, Mrs. P. Beastal, Mrs. F. Dadds and Mrs. P. Nash. Other guests were Miss Patti Wright of Toronto, and Misses Nita Woods, Jackie Aplin, Lorraine Sheilds, Jerry Hodge, Gale Lajeunesse, Barbara Peterson and Marlene Mitchell.

Mrs. Dave Donaldson, former Miss Marian Stokes, was honored recently at a shower given by her sister, Mrs. Gloria Lintaman, at her home on Maddison Street. Corsages were presented to Mrs. G. Stokes, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. D. P. Donaldson, mother of the groom-elect. A decorated wagon held gifts. Guests at the shower were Mrs. Mae Rabey, Mrs. Edith Schroeder, Mrs. Grace Wilkinson, Mrs. Viola Loughney, Mrs. Billie Maloney, Mrs. Joy Marshall, Mrs. Sally Stewart, Mrs. Margaret Judson, Mrs. Phyllis Fatt, Mrs. Dorothy Jasper, Mrs. Dorie Bridges, Mrs. Hazel Haut, Mrs. Elaine Dunn, Mrs. Doris Moore, Mrs. Molly Wilmot and Miss Dorcas Bridges.

Mrs. Eric Wilman entertained at her home on Shamrock Street recently at an evening shower in honor of Miss Marilyn Baxter, who will be married this month. Gifts were arranged in the fireplace, decorated with gay streamers and a large bell. Mrs. Wilman pinned a corsage of pink gladioli on the bride-elect, while Miss Doris Baxter presented one of yellow gladioli to her mother, Mrs. R. Baxter.

Miss Marion McLean, bride-elect of this month, was honored at a linen shower given by Mrs. H. Hibbert and Mrs. D. Taylor at the home of Mrs. W. Hodge, 163 Wildwood Avenue. Corsages of yellow gladioli for the honor guest and pink gladioli for her mother, Mrs. C. A. McLean, were presented. A turquoise decorated laundry basket held the gifts. Guests were Mrs. L. McLean, Mrs. J. McLean, Mrs. D. Jenkins, Mrs. W. Logie, Mrs. H. Barber, Mrs. A. Stott, Mrs. H. Jobbins, Mrs. W. Hodge, Mrs. M. Hodge, Mrs. J. Rowe, Mrs. C. McLeod, Mrs. H. Sommer, Misses Joan Barber, Pat Barber, Lynne McLeod. Buffet supper was served at t lace-covered table centred with pinks and snapdragons flanked by pink candles.

Mrs. P. R. Noel and Mrs. R. M. Lochhead were hostesses at a shower held at the home Road, in honor of Miss Maureen Bromley. A corsage of yellow rosebuds and white gladioli was presented to the bride-elect, while her mother, Mrs. W. J. Bromley, and Mrs. A. Thackray, mother of the groom-elect, received pink and white gladioli. Miss Gladwyn Hodge assisted in opening gifts, arranged under a pink and white decorated parasol. A lace-covered refreshment table was centred with a crystal bowl of roses and sweetpeas, flanked by pink candles and a miniature bridal party. Other guests included Mrs. W. Burnett, Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. R. Young, Mrs. F. Ivings, Mrs. I. Catterall, Mrs. R. Endean, Mrs. W. L. Ford, Mrs. K. Gunther, Mrs. E. Scott, Mrs. E. Paver, Mrs. T. Kay, Jr., Mrs. J. Gillam, Mrs. H. Milburn, Mrs. J. Pipes, Mrs. R. Noel, Misses Marilyn Kay and Win Lochhead.

Home Ceremony Unites Couple

Baskets of pink and white gladioli and white stocks were placed before the fireplace at the home of Mrs. A. E. Clyde, Reynolds Road, to form a background for the wedding of Mrs. Lillian Foote, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Moss of Victoria, and James G. Furniss, Hobart, Tasmania.

Rev. G. R. Easter performed the ceremony, and Miss E. Middleton played wedding music.

The bride wore an attractive floor-length gown of rose crepe with lace yoke and sleeves and a tiny matching hat covered with sequins. Her colonial bouquet was of pink rosebuds and white feathered carnations.

Mrs. Arthur Jackman attended the bride, wearing a floor-length gown of turquoise nylon net over taffeta. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations. Arthur Jackman was best man, and also proposed the toast to the bride at the reception which followed.

A three-tier wedding cake centred the table, which was covered with a handmade lace cloth.

For a honeymoon in Oregon, Mrs. Furniss donned a mauve crepe suit with beige topcoat.

Marian Stokes Married In First United Church

Pink and white gladioli decorated First United Church, Saturday evening, for the wedding of Marian Hannah, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stokes, Elliston Avenue, and David James, only son of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Donaldson, Vancouver Street. Rev. L. Streight officiated at the ceremony, and Stan Honeychurch sang "Through the Years".

The bride, a 1955 graduate of St. Joseph's School of Nursing, was given in marriage by her father, and wore a white floor-length gown, an original from New York. The bodice of chantilly lace featured a sweetheart neckline and lily point sleeves, and layers of lace created the hooped skirt. A heart-shaped crown sprinkled with rhinestones fastened a fingertip veil, and the bride wore a string of pearls and matching earrings, gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and white stephanotis.

Miss Stokes chose her sister, Mrs. Gloria Lintaman, as matron of honor. She wore a waltz-length gown of pale yellow taffeta over nylon and net. Miss Dorcas Bridges, niece of the groom, was bridesmaid in a waltz-length gown of pale blue taffeta and net. Both attendants carried bouquets of feathered white carnations and pink rosebuds, with matching floral headbands. Tom Wilkinson acted as best man and Rod Loughney and Dennis Stokes were ushers.

Mrs. G. Stokes, mother of the bride, chose a pale turquoise suit with white accessories, while Mrs. D. P. Donaldson, mother of the groom, wore a pink lace dress with matching pink floral hat and gloves.

A reception was held in the Flamingo Room at the Crystal Garden. Esther Reid daisies and pink carnations centred the bride's table. Dr. Gordon Clay proposed a toast to her happiness.

Travelling on honeymoon to Kelowna, Penticton and San Francisco, the new Mrs. Donaldson wore a blue suit of lightweight wool with pink accessories and a corsage of a gardenia and feathered carnations.

9 IN MEMORIAM

DELL—In loving memory of my dear Dad and Mom, Edmund Bolton Dell, who passed away July 22, 1954, and Martha Ellen Dell, who passed away August 13, 1954.

The loneliness without you,
The ache deep in our hearts;
We've nothing left but memories
With them we'll never part.

—Always remembered by their daughter Dorothy and grandson Barrie.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

The false-card is a play of an unnecessarily high card in an effort to confuse your opponents.

Larceny Lou is most adept at this play and here is one of his best.

West opened the five of diamonds against Lou's optimistic three no-trump contract. Lou won the trick with the 10 spot and wisely decided to attack his own spade suit. He led the deuce of spades and when West ducked he went right up with dummy's king. It held and he returned the 10. West won with the queen and decided to attack the club suit.

He held the deuce of clubs. East played the ace and Lou dropped the king. This false-card gave him his only chance to make the contract. If Lou had played the 10 spot East would have led a second club and East and West would have made three club tricks in addition to their two spades.

East should not have fallen for Lou's false-card. If Lou really held the queen of clubs he was going to make his contract in any event, but that king play had been mighty convincing. East decided that maybe Lou held nothing at all in hearts and East led the five of hearts.

Lou went right up with the king. He did not know that East held both the queen and jack and cared less. Another spade lead cleared the suit. West led a low club in desperation and Lou made the rest of the tricks.
